Assistant professor of music at OBU, Ryan Lewis teaches music history courses, applied percussion and percussion techniques and directs the steel drum ensemble, percussion ensemble and the marching band drum line. He holds a Doctor of Musical Arts degree in percussion performance from the University of South Carolina, a Master of Music degree in percussion performance from Florida State University and a Bachelor of Instrumental Music Education degree from Furman University.

Lewis previously served on the music faculties of Claflin University, the University of South Carolina and Florida State University, where he directed the steel drum ensemble. He is a member of the Percussive Arts Society, the College Music Society and is an artist-educator for Innovative Percussion sticks and mallets.

Lewis performs frequently as a timpanist-percussionist and has performed under the direction of maestros Keith Lockhart, Leonard Slatkin and David Zinman and with the symphonic and opera orchestras of the Aspen Music Festival, the Rome Festival of Italy, the Arkansas Symphony Orchestra, the South Carolina Philharmonic Orchestra and many other professional orchestras. As a soloist, Lewis has presented performances at the Percussive Arts Society International Convention and College Music Society National Convention.

Also an assistant professor of music at Ouachita, Kristin Grant teaches music theory, applied flute lessons and directs the Ouachita Flute Choir. She received her Master of Music degree in flute performance from the University of North Texas and a Bachelor of Music degree in flute performance from the University of Arizona. Before coming to Ouachita, she taught flute and music theory at East Central University in Ada, Okla., where she served as a member of the music faculty.

Grant is a member of the Pine Bluff Symphony Orchestra, the National Flute Society, the Arkansas School Band and Orchestra Association, Mid-South Flute Society, Texas Flute Society and the College Music Society. She often performs as a soloist and chamber musician, and as a featured artist for “Classical Arkansas,” her performances have aired on radio station KUAR 91.5.

Grant is the conductor of the Hot Springs Flute Ensemble, and will serve as conductor of the adult honor flute choir at the Flute Festival Mid South in March of 2013.
