A session designed to give direction to the wise choice of a vocation is the final event before adjournment on Aug. 14.

A number of entertainment events, including the trading post and swap shop, promise to make any RA's visit to the congress one that will be filled with excitement.

Arkansan, Pastoring In Las Vegas, Hits Gambling

PASTOR CHARLES Ashcraft, 1st Southern Baptist Church, Las Vegas, Nev., a native Arkansan and a graduate of Ouachita College and Southern Seminary, was back in the state recently for a visit with relatives. He supplied the pulpit at Central, Pine Bluff, on Sunday, July 6. Many will remember that Mr. Ashcraft led in establishing his present church in June, 1955, "as a commanding voice for the evangelical faith in the heart of 'the gambling capital of the world.'"

The church is located only two blocks from "the fabulous strip," where the plush casinos and hotels are located.

Stating his position on gambling, Mr. Ashcraft said: "There can be no congenial, compatible co-existence of right and wrong. One eventually must overcome the other."

Encouraged by the 1st Church, five other Southern Baptist churches have been organized in the city in the past three years.

Mr. Ashcraft's church now has an average of 150 in Sunday School and an annual budget of $22,000. A new building, with 7,000 square feet of floor space and an auditorium to accommodate 475, was completed recently and is to be dedicated July 30.

Referring to the great mission challenge in Las Vegas, Ashcraft pointed out that the city has been built on gambling, divorce, and tourist trade. In 1957, he reports, a divorce proceeding was filed in the city every 30 minutes.

Pointing out that marriage is a racket in that area, he said that the office of a Justice of the Peace can net $100,000 a year in weddings alone.

In many instances, he said, "Marrying Sams," discredited ministers, lease chapels for the performing of marriage ceremonies.

That Pastor Ashcraft himself is not motivated by the marriage fee attraction is seen in the fact that he has performed only four marriage ceremonies in the three and one-half years he has been in the city.

Time for Announcements

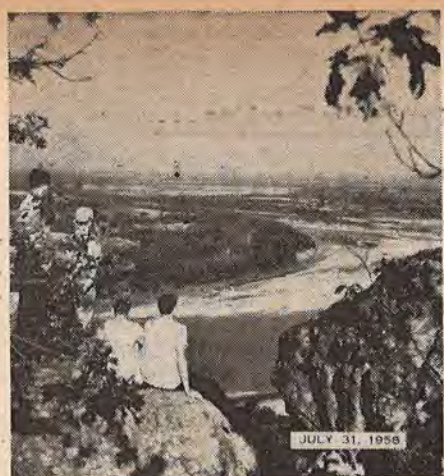

"NOW the time has come for the announcements. I think most of the announcements are printed in your bulletin. I assume everyone has a bulletin. Did the ushers miss anyone? Raise your hand; come on, raise your hand if you didn't get one. Don't be timid; we're just home folks. There, on the back seat, is a fellow without a bulletin. Here, brother usher, see that he gets one. No, not on that side — the back seat on the south side. That's right. Thank you, thank you for your wonderful spirit of co-operation. My, what would we do without our splendid group of ushers? I do believe they are the finest group of men I've ever worked with. Now you have your bulletin before you, and the announcements are printed there. If there are any announcements that came in after Thursday, they are not listed. Our secretary's uncle by marriage was buried over at Lotsville Friday, and so she cut the stencils on Thursday. But the announcements are before you. By the way, if you have any announcements for the bulletin, call them in by Wednesday. That way we can make sure they are listed.

"No, I'm not going to take a long time reading the announcements. We can all read, and besides that's why we started a bulletin so we wouldn't have to take time to read the an-ouncements. Why, I can remember a few years back when I never went into the pulpit without a whole handful of notes asking me to — but wait, the time's getting away from us and we should use it wisely.

"Now where were we? Oh, yes, the announcements. I believe I will take time to read them briefly, without comment, just for emphasis. You know we can't emphasize the Lord's work too much. No sir, it's all important, and I'm for the whole program. The king's business requireth haste. If we gave as much time to our church as we do our social and club work, there is no way of saying how much we could do. Yes, we need to do more and go more and say more and reach more. Now you notice there — in your bulletin, that is — on Monday afternoon at . . ." — Robert J. Hastings (From The Baptist Message, La.)

● PASTOR ROY B. HILTON celebrated his third anniversary June 29 as pastor of 1st Church, North Little Rock. During these years the church has progressed in many ways. There has been an average increase in Sunday School of 125; preaching attendance more than tripled; over 300 new members have been added. The auditorium has been air-conditioned.

Petit Jean Scenery

ENDLESS MILES of Arkansas River Valley can be seen from "Stout's Point" in Petit Jean State Park. This is one of Arkansas' finest state parks and has more natural attractions than any other.

Hardison Hall, in the park, can accommodate 150 people and many church groups take advantage of it. There are also permanent summer encampment installations of other churches atop Petit Jean Mountain.

● CHIEF JUSTICE Carleton Harris will be the speaker at Trinity Association Brotherhood's fish fry in Harrisburg, at 6:30 p. m., Aug. 5. (CB)

● GOODWIN CHURCH, organized July 7, 1957, with 18 charter members, now has 102 members, an increase of 84 in one year. Recognized at the recent 1st anniversary service for having a perfect attendance record were Mrs. O. H. Bates, Mrs. Carl Patterson and Johnny Fuqua.

● HIGHLAND PARK, Texarkana, has invited former members to a homecoming celebration on Aug. 17 to celebrate the 50th anniversary. Three former pastors, W. P. Young of Mississippi, Dr. Arthur DeLoach of Lufkin, Tex., and L. E. Holt, Texarkana, are expected to be present for the three services of the day.

● ENROLLMENT FOR the entire 1957-58 session at the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary reached an all-time high of 1,142 students, Associate Registrar George C. Herndon has announced.

● PASTOR C. Gordon Bayless, of Central Church, North Little Rock, is recuperating from a gall bladder-appendix operation recently at Baptist Hospital. The editor of the Arkansas Baptist, a member of Central Church, served the church as supply pastor during Dr. Bayless' absence.

5 Million Alcoholics

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Two researchers have come up with a sobering conclusion: the nation's alcoholics now number five million.

Mark Keller and Vera Efron of the Yale University Center of Alcohol Studies report that this figure was reached in 1956 (latest year for which statistics are available).

This total is sub-divided into two main classifications: "alcoholics with complications" (both physical and mental defects caused by drinking) and "alcoholics without complications" (those who cannot control their drinking but who are not otherwise seriously physically or mentally ill). Those "with complications" total about a million and a quarter.

● SIX PROFESSIONS of faith were reported in the Bible School conducted in the Hackett Church. Jay W. C. and Mrs. Moore directed the school. There were 93 enrolled with an average attendance of 80. Three were received for baptism. Jack Mick is the pastor of the church.

Methodist State's Rural Minister of Year

A. N. STOREY, Conway, is 1958 Rural Minister of the Year from Arkansas. He is one of 14 in the South named in the August issue of The Progressive Farmer.

Mr. Storey is executive secretary of the Town and Country Commission, North Arkansas Conference of the Methodist Church. He has served in this capacity for four years.

E. A. Ingram Resigns Siloam Springs Church

"E. A. "Happy" Ingram, pastor 1st Church, Siloam Springs, has resigned effective Sept. 1.

Dr. Ingram, former Pulaski superintendent of missions, said, "My coming to Siloam Springs was on a temporary basis and I feel that the Lord's will has been accomplished. The church is ready for God's man to come and lead them in an aggressive challenging program."

He suggested that anyone desiring to correspond with the pulpit committee could address them at P. O. Box 348, in care of 1st Church, Siloam Springs.

The congregation was described as "one of the most mission-minded groups I've ever known."

Dr. Ingram said his plans are indefinite, but "I hope to supply where needed, whether in Arkansas or Texas."

By Wm. E. Woodson

Dardanelle-Russellville

RA and GA Camp, at Camp Caudle, Scottsville, for the Dardanelle-Russellville Baptist Association, July 7-11, had 120 enrolled with 23 professions of faith and 26 coming on rededication or for special service.

Donald Moon, pastor of the Ola Church, was camp director. He and his church were commended very highly for unselfish service. Low camp cost per person ($2.50) was accomplished by enlisting churches to furnish, prepare, and serve the meals. Response by churches was very good.

● EMMET CHURCH, Red River Association, is now receiving the Arkansas Baptist under the club plan. Ray Lawrence is pastor. Rowes Chapel, Mt. Zion Association, Frank Lowe, pastor, is receiving the paper on a one month trial offer.

North Little Rock Church Adopts Five-Year Program

DEBT FREE in '63 and increased gifts to the Cooperative Program are two goals recently adopted by 1st Church, North Little Rock, in a five-year program of advance.

Other aims are: increased mission gifts; redecorating the building including air condition; establishment of eight new Sunday School departments and three new Training Union departments; every officer and teacher to earn the worker's diploma; establishment of an audio-visual education program and the remodeling of the educational building to accommodate the enlarged organization.

Pastor Roy Hilton said, "For the first time in many years 1st Church, North Little Rock, is in a position to do a great work for the Lord, and the members have shown their interest in advancement and accomplishment by adopting this aggressive program of work."

"As in the Days of Noah"

THE MIDDLE EAST—cradle of civilization, bridge of the nations and battleground of the centuries—is again in history's spotlight as a trouble spot of the world.

A generation or two ago we might have described such crisis as now exists in the Bible lands in terms of nations "sitting on a powder keg." But this figure is long since obsolete and far from adequate to describe the perils we now face. Our world is at the crossroads of civilization and nations walk as in a no-man's-land mined with H-bombs. A static spark of partisan diplomacy or power politics could easily set off a total war of such catastrophic proportions as to blight the face of the earth.

With the Machiavellian hand of Soviet Russia so clearly revealed in the fomenting of Middle East strife, few would question the wisdom of President Eisenhower in sending troops to sustain the independence of Lebanon. But all must see, as the President realized in taking this action, that Communists may be willing to plunge the world into war rather than to be stopped at this point in their world conquest. The expressed willingness of the United States to withdraw as soon as the United Nations can move to guarantee the security of Lebanon seems to be of no avail, as Russia continues to use her veto power to frustrate. The question continues to be not so much whether we will have war, as when. And the answer still appears to rest with the warped minds of Krushchev and his associates.

Many students of the Scriptures see in the turn of events the fulfilling of prophecy relating to the end of the ages and the second coming of Jesus Christ. We do not feel qualified to spell this out, but one thing is certain. American Christians and church members, along with others, are going about their business as usual, "... eating and drinking, marrying and giving in marriage, until the day..."

You would think that in times of great world crisis, as now, that there would be a great moving of Christians into their churches to repent of their sins and rededicate their lives to the Lord, and that this would make a great difference in the morality of our people. But such is not the case. Our churches are largely deserted and there is all too little evidence of regeneration in the walk of the average church member. Will Godless Russia be used of the Lord to bring us to our knees?

What's the Matter with Mrs. Craig?

THE FOLLOWING news item appeared in the Nashville Banner, June 19, 1956:

"Porter, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Ella Craig, age 81, hasn't missed Sunday School attendance in 1,040 Sundays—a perfect record for 20 years."

1. Doesn't Mrs. Craig ever have company on Sunday to keep her away from church?
2. Doesn't she ever go anywhere on Saturday night and get up tired on Sunday morning?
3. Doesn't she ever have headaches, cold, nervous spells, tired feelings, poor breakfast, sudden call out of town, business trips, Sunday picnics, or any trouble of any kind?
4. Doesn't she have any friends at all—friends who invite her to a week-end to the sea shore or mountains?
5. Doesn't she ever sleep late on Sunday mornings?
7. Doesn't she ever get her feelings hurt by somebody in the church?
8. Doesn't she ever get mad at the preacher or Sunday School teacher?
9. Doesn't she have a radio or television so that she can listen to "some mighty good sermons from out of town"?

What's the matter with Mrs. Craig? —Bulletin, 1st Baptist Church, Lovington, N. M.

Personally Speaking . . .

"... ye serve the Lord . . ."

THOSE OF us who had lots of thumb-twiddling time during the depression may have the edge on youngsters who have grown up and entered their vocations since that time, when it comes to appreciating employment.

As much as I like to read and write and fish, I also like to eat. And I found during the depression that even the things I "rather do than eat" are just not too much fun when a fellow has a family to support and is out of a job.

Some of us know what the comedian was talking about when he said that he did not feel any pinch in the recession — he was pinched before the recession came. What boy or girl would have the nerve today to walk two or three miles to a store — if anybody could get that far away from a store today — let alone carry a hen to sell for spending money?

One of the tragedies of my young life was to learn, at the tender age of ten, that the "biddie" I had carried three miles from down on Bunker to Shrigg Eggleston's store, at London, had expired in transit. The weather had been too hot and the hen's head had been down too long! And there just wasn't much demand for hens that expired on the way to market.

Mr. Eggleston didn't buy the dead hen, but he gave me a nickel's worth of chocolate drops for two eggs without shaking the eggs to determine how long they had been in the nest. So the trip was not a total loss.

The one who has a job he likes and for which he is qualified or can become qualified is greatly blessed of the Lord. To have such a job and to be paid for doing it is a double blessing.

So, if you will permit a bit of preaching, we should be mighty thankful for our jobs. And we ought to turn every peg to make the best possible use of our jobs. After all, as long as we hold them, nobody else can have our jobs. So we ought to try to do them as well as the people will do them who finally succeed us. Every honorable and useful job is of the Lord. Therefore:

"... whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men; Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ" (Col. 3:23-24).

THE PEOPLE SPEAK

We Stand Corrected

Dear Friend McDonald:

Thanks for your timely and discerning editorial, "In Earthen Vessels" . . .

In your column on the Toronto Youth Congress, you say: "Never before had so many Baptists representing so much of the world come together." I take for granted that you meant "young" Baptists. The Atlanta Congress in 1939, and even the 1955 London Congress would certainly exceed in every way the number of Baptists and the territory represented.

You are doing a grand job, and I read your paper every week with a sense of deep satisfaction.—Louie D. Newton, pastor, Druid Hill Baptist Church, Atlanta, Ga.

Friendliness Paid Off

Gentlemen:

When I was just a young fellow (7 to 10) I attended Sunday School. Then I was prejudiced, hateful, spiteful and inwardly mean. There was a family group I just disliked and hated. All these hatreds were parked within me and I was perfectly silent. At that particular time they seemed to me bold, forward, commanding and dictatorial. Toward Christmas all Sunday School members on the Christmas program were invited for rehearsal to the home of this particular family. Being that I had a small part on the program I went along with the sleighing party. Every one was greeted with a grand welcome. The nice, personal atmosphere on that particular night caused me to change my hatred, spite, prejudice to real admiration. After that all members of that family were my friends.

To conduct a good Sunday School requires leadership.—Irvin W. Dietrich, Rt. 3, Fayetteville.

Michigan Sunshine

Dear Sir:

Please renew our subscription to the Arkansas Baptist. It is like a letter from home every week and is the best way we have to learn of Baptist progress in our home state . . . We appreciate very much your fine editorials and the many other excellent features . . . Virginia Webster Gardner (Mrs. Ray Gardner), 15741 Richmond, Wyandotte, Mich.

Orchids from Texas

Dear Brother McDonald:

. . . I should like to bear testimony that I am greatly benefited and helped by reading your paper, particularly your editorials. I have come to the definite conclusion that we have the best group of editors, clear across our denomination, that I have ever known in my lifetime. The handling, for instance, of the Louisville controversy has been done

Switzerland. It is carved in a stone cliff in memory of Swiss guards who died defending a French king. The carving reminds us that suffering borne for someone else is a call to the higher levels of living.

Baptists believe that this is supremely so in the case of Jesus Christ, our Saviour.

Centuries before Christ, it was prophesied that Christ should be a "man of sorrows" and be "wounded for our transgressions" (Isaiah 53:5).

When he finally came to earth men put him to death on a cruel wooden cross. Besides the cross there were searing nails that tore his flesh, a heavy lashing whip and a crown of thorns from those who mocked him. In agony on his cross when he felt separated from God he cried out, "My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" (Mark 15:34). He endured this agony that man might not be separated from God. God took his cross—man's worst deed against God—and turned it to God's best deed for man. All this suffering had a purpose. It was to save man from his heaviest weight he has to bear—his unforgiven sin. "The wages of sin is death," (Romans 6:23).

We can have the weight lifted because Jesus, the Son of God, bore our sins for us. In him the love of God for lost men was fulfilled.

Being sinners we are separated from God now and forever unless we turn to Jesus for forgiveness and cleansing. "He was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him: and with his stripes we are healed," God's prophet, Isaiah, said in predicting Jesus' crucifixion. (Isaiah 53:5).

Because Jesus loved us enough to give himself to die for our sins, we can have hope, forgiveness, and new life from God, or "abundant life" as it is called.

Yes, Baptists believe that only through a personal faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and a confession of him before men can the individual receive forgiveness of sin and become a child of God.

It is a great spiritual mystery, one that cannot be scientifically explained. Yet it is true that when we ask Christ to deliver us from sin these things happen: (1) our guilt vanishes; (2) we have power to overcome wrong; (3) we have the presence of God in our lives, and (4) we know that the truest and most real thing in the world is Jesus Christ. Because he triumphed over death we too who have taken him as our Saviour shall triumph over it.

on such a high plane that one could not have anything but a sense of pride in those of you who are serving as editors of our southwide state papers.—Forrest C. Feezor, Executive Secretary, The Executive Board, Baptist General Convention of Texas, Dallas.

West Virginia Seeks Baptists

Brethren:

We need your help in locating Southern Baptists who have moved to our State. Will you run an article in your paper requesting Baptist pastors in your State to send me the names and addresses of any of their members who have moved to WEST VIRGINIA? Of course what we want is their address here in West Virginia, and we would like to have the name and location of the church where their membership is (or was). This will be a great service for the Baptist cause and our Lord's kingdom work—John I. Snedden, 1106 Village Drive, South Charleston 3, W. Va.

Baptist Crosscurrents

On Calling A Pastor

SO FREQUENTLY the calling of a pastor to a church presents a real crisis in the life of a church. Too frequently it is a time when so many people in the church become upset and do not behave as Christians should. A well planned program of just what procedure your church is going to follow in the calling of a new pastor will solve many of your problems.

In developing such a program, first of all make provision in your constitution and by-laws as to how a pulpit committee is to be set up, and who is to elect or appoint such a committee. The committee should be representative of the total life and program of the church, but still should not be too large. Size of the committee will be affected by the size of the church. Good advice for the pulpit committee is for it to do a lot of praying and listening, but little talking. Remember always you are not seeking your man, but God's man.

The pulpit committee should never consider more than one candidate at a time. One of the things that is so confusing to church members, and often is the means by which churches are divided, is that two or three different men are presented before a final decision is made on any one of them.

The work of a pastor is much more than that of delivering sermons twice a week. He becomes the administrator, the organizer, the promoter, business manager, builder, counselor, etc. Therefore, it is most unfortunate that too many churches consider only a man's preaching ability, and that only for one sermon.

A program that many churches have followed and found to be good is that of inviting a pastor to come to their church field on, say, Monday and spending the week with the church. On Monday night, we'll say, he meets with the Board of Deacons; Tuesday night, with the Finance Committee. On Wednesday night he is asked to conduct the Prayer Service. On another night he meets with some other group or committee of the church. During the daytime he is in and out of some of the homes of the church families. He has ample opportunity to meet the other Baptist pastors, and during this time he understands some of the association of this particular church to the local convention. He has an opportunity to ride over the community to survey its potential, etc.

Then on Sunday he is invited to preach at the morning and evening worship services, and after the evening service a meeting with the pulpit committee can be arranged. He then can ask more intelligent questions about the church; different ones have had numerous chances to discuss with him some of the things that they would like to see the church do. During this period of time he has seen some of the organization of the church and its total work and effectiveness.

After the Sunday night meeting the pastor leaves the church field without the church having acted on anything. The church and the potential pastor have only tried to become acquainted and understand one another during this week's period of visitation and work. The pulpit committee then can either recommend or not recommend on the basis of all the information that they have gained for the whole week. The attitudes and opinions expressed by others as to whether this man is God's man for their church will be of tremendous value to the pulpit committee in their final decision.

The expense of bringing a potential pastor to the community should be borne by the church. In this day when so much talk is centered around unemployment, it should be noted that there is need for approximately 25,000 pastors today. If your church is blessed with a good pastor always keep in mind that it may be very difficult to find another equally as good.—J.O.D., in Capitol Baptist

World Peace Group In First Meeting

NASHVILLE —(BP)— "Our best contribution to world peace will be made by a greater effort by all Christian churches and forces to make known throughout the world the Prince of Peace," members of the Southern Baptist Convention's Committee on World Peace declared here.

The nine-member committee held its first meeting since being created at the 1958 session of the Convention in Houston.

Rep. Brooks Hays (D., Ark.), president of the Convention, has asked for the formation of such a committee. However, he and Sen. Albert Gore (D., Tenn.), another member of the committee, cancelled plans to attend the meeting because of developments in Congress.

Committee Chairman Walter Pope Binns, president of William Jewell College, Liberty, Mo., said that in Hays' absence he was reluctant to "attempt a statement of what Mr. Hays felt would be the purpose and work of the committee."

Binns asked members of the Committee who were present to give their opinions on how the Committee could do the work committed to it by the Convention.

Among the suggestions made were:

"1. We must be clear in defining our terms and objectives. Conflicting views of peace have made its meaning ambiguous and have aroused suspicions of disloyalty toward peace movements.

"2. The Christian task is and must ever be to seek peace among men by proclaiming to all mankind the gospel of personal redemption through Christ which calls him to reconciliation with God and his fellow man.

"3. Since the word 'peace' and peace movements are politically conditioned throughout the world today, we must avoid statements and activities that will lead the people in other lands to identify our missionaries as government agents.

"4. Our best contribution to world peace will be made by a greater effort by all Christian churches and forces to make known throughout the world the Prince of Peace. In this way we will create a climate of spiritual values and motivation in which terms of peace can be made secure among all nations.

"5. A student of world affairs has written: 'He who brings peace to the world must first understand the cause of wars.' Primarily, the cause of wars is rooted in the selfishness of people as expressed in their relationship to the economic values in the world. The Christian view of these economic values is to use them for the growth and development of human life and character and not for power to gain advantage over one's fellow man."

The next meeting of the Committee on World Peace is scheduled in Washington Sept. 15.

THE DEAF will be hearing with their eyes when they see motion pictures in the sign language, produced by the Home Mission Board, which A. J. Roddy, left, and Mrs. Louis A. Beard discuss here. Mr. Roddy, superintendent of the Board's deaf work, brings the sermons in the four pictures produced in the series. The films are available for free booking from the Office of Promotion, Home Mission Board, 161 Spring, N. W., Atlanta 3, Ga. They may be purchased for $20 each, the cost of the print.

BUDGETS ARE BOOMING

By GUS JOHNSON
Director of Promotion,
Florida Convention

SOUTHERN BAPTISTS have been giving an average of more than a million dollars a day for the last two years. More than $70 million of this went to missions and benevolences last year. This was $7 million more than Southern Baptists gave to all causes in 1943. So reports the Research and Statistics Department of the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board.

A major factor in this increase is the renewed emphasis on tithing and the building of church budgets since the close of World War II. This work must be continued.

A second and more astounding contribution has been made through the use of the Forward Program of Church Finance.

From every section of the Convention come the reports. Big city churches; open country churches; churches in towns and villages — size has nothing to do with the success of the program. From churches that have been using the best methods through the years to churches that have never taken pledges or used budgets — past record has nothing to do with it. God led in the development of the program, and God is using the program.

A survey was made in my state of the first 34 churches making reports. Budgets for these churches rose from $1,728,641 last year to $2,338,427 for this year, or a 35 per cent increase in a single year. The amount pledged on these budgets rose by 92 per cent. Tithers increased from 5,118 last year to 10,065 this year, or a 97 per cent increase in a single year. Budgets are booming in Florida.

A detailed study of the budgets of these churches revealed that, of the 34 churches reporting, 5 more than doubled their budget, 21 more than doubled the number of pledges, 10 more than doubled the amount designated through the Cooperative Program, 19 more than doubled the number of pledges received, and 20 more than doubled the number who pledged to tithe. All this in a single year.

Budgets are booming, and properly developed and promoted budgets are deeply spiritual. Doubling the number of tithers in a given church will do much more for the spiritual life of the church than the average revival. Seeing world need and increasing gifts to world missions will have a tremendous spiritual impact. Budgets are booming and Baptists are being bountifully blessed.

GRAND AVENUE Church, Ft. Smith, reported 15 professions of faith in their VBS with 10 of these coming for baptism. There were 440 enrolled with an average attendance of 373. Jim Chatham, minister of education, was the principal of the school. Jim Pleitz is the pastor.

Southern Seminary Reinstates Owens

LOUISVILLE —(BP)— J. J. Owens, one of the 13 professors dismissed from the faculty of Southern Baptist Theological Seminary here, has been reinstated as professor of Old Testament.

The trustee committee said Owens's reinstatement was effective June 12, making it retroactive to the date of his dismissal.

In restoring Owens to his faculty position, the committee said: "Dr. Owens conferred with the reinstatement committee of the board of trustees . . . in response to an invitation issued to all of the group of 13 professors. Dr. Owens was the only one among the group who accepted our invitation to talk about restoration to faculty status."

It was announced at the same time that the remaining 12 former professors, dismissed with Owens on June 12, would receive salaries through next Jan. 31 "to assure that no financial hardship will be suffered by the men or their families during the period in which they seek other employment."

Previously, salaries were to have ended this July 31.

However, the finance committee of the trustees said that salary payments would end before next Jan. 31 for any of the men who obtain employment elsewhere.

Duke K. McCall, seminary president, also announced that Clyde T. Francisco is remaining with the seminary as professor of Old Testament. Francisco, who was not among the 13, had accepted a call to teach at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

McCall said: "Dr. Francisco had previously been invited to head the department of Old Testament at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth and had accepted. However, in reconsidering the matter Dr. Francisco decided that his greatest opportunity of service would be as a member of the faculty of Southern Seminary."

The seminary president also reported "It is expected that announcement will be made within the next week regarding other faculty additions." The trustee committee on reinstatement said that the 12 remaining professors dismissed June 12 "have refused to discuss the subject of restoration with the board of trustees through its authorized committee. We believe that the work of the committee has been com-

Southern Seminary has added new faculty members in the departments of Old Testament and church history.

Joseph Atlee Callaway, Furman University, Greenville, S. C., will teach Old Testament and biblical archaeology. C. Allyn Russell, Attleboro, Mass., will teach church history courses.

President McCall also pointed out that Dale Moody, professor of theology, returns in August from his sabbatical leave in Germany.

Callaway is a graduate of Ouachita College, Arkadelphia, and Southern Seminary. While attending Southern, he was a teaching fellow in archaeology and an instructor in Old Testament Hebrew.

Russell expects to receive a Ph.D. degree in church history from Boston University next January.

Russell has been pastor of the Baptist church at Osbornville, N. J.; First Church, Northampton, Mass., and Fredonia (N. Y.) Church. He has been serving as interim pastor at First Church, Attleboro, and as a teaching fellow in Boston University's school of theology.

He is a graduate of Eastern Seminary, Philadelphia, and University of Buffalo.

THE BOOKSHELF

THE FOLLOWING books have been received from Fleming H. Revell Company:

Anyone for Calvary? by Charles Ray Goff, $1.

Theme is the invitation of Jesus: "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me."

From a trainman's call, "Cal—vary next! Anyone for Calvary?" and a railroad stop at Calvary Cemetery, Mr. Goff carries the reader to Calvary, "the place of a skull."

Tell Us Please, by Charles J. Woodbridge, $2.

"Why am I here? Where am I going? What does it mean to be saved? How can we discover God's will? What happens at death? What about predestination?"

These are some of the many questions the author discusses. Opinions will differ as to how successfully he answers, but this should prove a helpful book, especially for young people and for young Christians.

Who Goes There—What and Where is God? by J. Wallace Hamilton, $2.50.

The primitive, childish approach to God, which many men and women still pursue, is alarmingly inadequate for the atomic age. In this book the pastor of the "Drive-in" Church, Pasadena Community Church, St. Petersburg, Fla., gives his views on the person of God, discussing God's mystery, sovereignty, providence, faithfulness, image, words, silence, love, and power.

"Oh, where is the sea?" the fishes cried,

As they swam the Atlantic waters through;

"We've heard of the seas and the ocean tide,

And we long to gaze on its waters blue."

"All around us are little fishes looking for the sea; people living, moving, having their being in an ocean of God's providence, but who can't see the ocean for the water . . ." (From page 52).

Faith for These Troubled Times, by Denson N. Franklin, $2.

"We feel a sense of unreality in our religious life. Please tell us how to find God real."

This is one of the problems of life dealt with by Dr. Franklin in a chapter titled "Keeping God at the Center of These Days."

This book is designed to help the Christian make the truth of God effective in a practical, down-to-earth way.

Stetson Offers Course In Russian Language

DELAND, Fla. —(BP)— Stetson University here will offer courses in Russian language this fall, President J. Ollie Edmunds announced.

It becomes the second Southern Baptist-related college to offer the language currently. Baylor has a four-year sequence.

Children of Mixed Marriage

QUESTION: My husband is a member of the Church of Christ (Cambel-lite) and I am a Baptist. We have five children and all except one is a member of my church.

DR. HUDSON

This one, my youngest son, nine, is a Christian but my husband is doing everything he can to win him to his church. He gives him money and takes him anywhere he wants to go. It is ruining my son and killing my love for my husband. Should I take my son and leave my husband?

ANSWER: I don't think so. Perhaps there is a better way. I would guess that your problem is much deeper than the trouble over religion. You two are evidently not on the same team.

Too, you must be judging your husband, looking down on him. This will kill love between any husband and wife. Try understanding him. And don't play God to your son. If he is sensible, he will be able to decide about churches as he grows older.

However, yours is the old problem of mixed marriages. It is often very confusing to children, and draws parents apart.

I would teach my child so much of the New Testament that he will know the way of Christ and see that no one church can save him or damn him. Love him and your husband and they will want to follow your Christ.

Christian Named to High Post

NAIROBI KENYA, B. E. Africa — For the first time in Kenya's history an African has been chosen as a cabinet minister. The young man to achieve this honor is Musa Amalemba, a newcomer to Kenya's Legislative Council.

Mr. Amalemba, a staunch Christian, was the first African to announce his intension of standing for a special seat in the Council. Having gained the position and the title "The Hon. Musa S. Amalemba, M.L.C.," he was recognized by the governor as a man of courage. Within a short length of time he was offered a minister's seat in the Government. Because of the rapidity of events Mr. Amalemba took some time to consider the matter but he has now accepted the position "Minister of Housing."

18 New Missionaries Bring Total to 1,251

EIGHTEEN YOUNG people were appointed missionaries by the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board at its July meeting, bringing to 1,251 the total number of active Southern Baptist foreign missionaries, who serve in 38 countries and territories around the world.

The new missionaries are: Thomas S. Adkins, Oklahoma, and Ellen Cobbs Adkins, Texas, appointed for Hong Kong; LeRoy Albright, Kentucky, and Jean Flowers Albright, Georgia, for Central Africa; Charles A. Allen, Jr., and Jean Short Allen, both of North Carolina, for Guatemala; Colon L. Godwin and Carolyn Smith Godwin, both of North Carolina, for Ghana.

Also Francis L. Lewis and Beverly Johnson Lewis, both of Oklahoma, for Indonesia; A. Ray Milligan and Imogene Maxwell Milligan, both of Texas, for East Africa; Robert R. Stewart, Nebraska, and Maxine Ashburn Stewart, Alabama, for Thailand; J. Hartmon Sullivan, Tennessee, and Maurice Pollard Sullivan, Louisiana, for Nigeria; and B. Terry Thorpe, Kentucky, and Wilma Waldin Thorpe, Florida, for Central Africa.

The 18 appointments, the largest number ever made at a July meeting of the Board, make a total of 82 persons named for overseas service so far in 1958.

"The outlook is good for appointing 130 this year," Dr. Baker J. Cauthen, executive secretary, told the Board.

Missionaries Continue Their Work in Near East.

The July meeting of the Board was held just two days after United States troops were sent to Beirut, Lebanon, at the request of the Lebanese president. "No one can measure at this point what will be brought forth in the Near East crisis," Dr. Cauthen told the Board. "It is our hope that the situation may be contained and will not result in widespread disturbances. In any event, it points up the unmistakable fact that mission work in our day must be projected in an atmosphere of crisis and tension.

"While there is no need for alarm with regard to our missionaries in the Near East, we do well to keep them constantly in our prayers that they may be given strength, wisdom, and courage for these days. I have sent a cable to our missionaries in Lebanon and Jordan telling them that they have unlimited backing from the Foreign Mission Board in making whatever emergency decisions are needed."

To indicate the attitude of the missionaries toward the situation in the Near East, Dr. Cauthen read the following excerpt from a recent letter from Mrs. Russell R. Morris, who, with her husband, is in language school in Beirut:

"Russell and I were talking the other day, while explosions and gunfire were going on outside, about some of the things we used to think about before coming overseas to the mission field. One of the things that we had wondered about at home was, 'What do the missionaries do when there is a revolution or a war?' Now we know!

"We just keep on about our regular duties, as much as possible. We hope to take our first Arabic exam soon; so we are continuing our classes and our studying. We have our children all home from school now; so we are playing with them and taking care of them. We have our church work and find it very satisfying. Yes, the Lord is very gracious to us!"

Cable from Near East Reports All Are Safe

On the day following the Board meeting (July 18), Dr. Cauthen received the following cablegram from Rev. William O. Hern, missionary in Jordan, in response to the one he sent from the Board earlier in the week: "All except Roper and Crawford attending Mission meeting. All safe. Turners, Morrises, Summers, Cobb returning to Lebanon Friday. Appreciate your prayers."

There are eight Southern Baptist missionaries now in Lebanon, five in Jordan, and eight in Gaza.

Spots and Stripes

By Jane Haebig

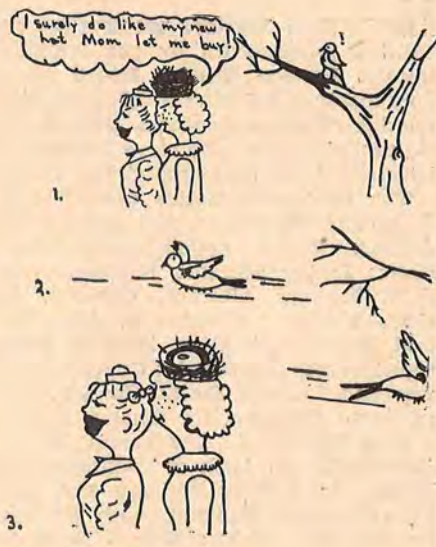

DO YOU ever wonder why God gave so many animals spotted or striped coats while they are young? These spots and stripes help to hide the little ones until they are big enough to protect themselves.

A baby deer is so small and helpless that for a long time he needs his mother to protect him. But Mother Deer leaves her baby alone when she looks for food and water. While she is gone, there is no one to look after him. So when the mother leaves, the baby deer flattens himself on the ground and tucks his long legs under him. He does not look like a deer now. He looks like part of the dried grass and leaves. His spots are like the spots of sunlight on the ground. If he doesn't move, no one will see him.

You need very good eyes indeed to see a raccoon at night. Maybe that is the reason he likes to travel in the dark with his family. His light and dark spots, along with his striped tail, make him look like part of a tree. Baby raccoons have these stripes to help them hide.

Robins and many other young birds

THE TEEN AGE
by Judy McDonald

are marked with spots and stripes. When Mother Bird sees danger, the little ones sit down wherever they happen to be. You hear them peep, but their spots and stripes make it hard to see them on the leaf-covered ground. Baby ducks find it very easy to swim safely in the tall weeds, for their spotted backs conceal them.

Even tadpoles are sometimes spotted. They can swim almost unseen through the water. Tadpoles have so many enemies that they really need these spots to help them hide.

God has given these animals and many others special colors to help them live in our world. In other cases we do not know why God colored certain animals as he did, but it is always fun to watch animals and birds and to find out more about them.

Guarding Our Freedom

By WALTER YELDELL

Pastor, 1st Church, West Memphis

August 3

Amos 7:10-15; John 8:31-35;

Gal. 5:1, 13-18, 25; Col. 4:1, 7-9

OUR HUMAN liberties are supposedly guaranteed by our Constitution. These liberties are:

Freedom of Worship; Freedom of Speech; Freedom of Assembly; Freedom of Petition.

To these freedoms are added certain inalienable rights: The right to jury and counsel; The right to summon witnesses.

MR. YELDELL

Further, the Constitution of the U. S. guarantees against: Illegal loss of liberty; Excessive bail or fine.

And it is also guaranteed that each shall receive compensation for property.

These are the freedoms which are ours to enjoy as Americans!

These are the freedoms which have been guaranteed to each of us, regardless of social standing, of financial worth, of color, of creed or religion, by the Constitution of the United States of America.

These are the freedoms for which our men and women have so gallantly fought and for which many have heroically died in defending.

These are the freedoms which the majority of us accept lightly and give little attention to.

Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovak statesman, once told an American audience: "Raised in liberty, most Americans accept their freedom as a matter of course. Sometimes it seems to me you freed people don't realize what you've got . . . You can wake up in the morning free to do as you choose, to read what you wish, to worship the way you please, and to listen to a lovely piece of music."

Have you ever conversed with one who has come to these United States from another country? The one thing that seems to dominate his every thought is the freedom which he has here in this country.

However, lest we should seem too critical of those who take their freedoms lightly, it needs to be pointed out that no one can truly enjoy something he has never had to do without.

A man with eyes cannot know the real worth of those eyes unless he has lost his sight for a time.

A man with good health cannot know the true value of health unless he has been sickly for a time.

And no man can know the real worth of freedom until he has had to live without it.

Our lesson for Sunday is entitled, "Guarding Our Freedoms," the thought being that these freedoms which we have enumerated may be taken from us, that they may be lost.

These freedoms may be taken from us by a foreign power. Did you know that over half the world today is under the power of godless Communism?

These freedoms can also be lost — lost through negligence, lost through carelessness. Anything that is taken for granted can slip through our fingers unnoticed.

OUR LESSON SELECTIONS FOR SUNDAY MIGHT BE SAID TO COVER AT LEAST THREE ASPECTS OF FREEDOM:

Freedom of speech and worship
Freedom which is ours in Christ
Freedom to believe as you will.

The selection from the book of Amos (7:10-17) records the attempt of Amaziah, the priest, to force King Jereboam II to make Amos leave Israel, or else stop prophesying. Amos' right to freedom of speech and worship was challenged. Amos attacked the evils of his day. He spoke out against corruption in high places. It is interesting to note that it was not the irreligious who wanted him silenced, but the priesthood. Amaziah, the priest, made false accusations and tried to get Amos driven out of Israel. "Amaziah reserved the right to freedom of speech and worship for himself but had no tolerance for the viewpoint of another." One is reminded of the fact that there are still those in religious circles who would silence God's messengers by bringing in governmental powers to do their dirty work for them. Such is the case in Spain, in many South American countries, and in other parts of the world. And if that religious power were in the majority in America, the same would be true for us. Should not this cause us to be more concerned about guarding our freedoms?

The passage of Scripture in John 8:31-38 tells of the freedom which we have in Christ. Jesus came to a people whose greatest longing was for freedom. However, most of them were looking for a Messiah who would free them from the Roman yoke, and not from their bondage of sin. Jesus came to free men from their greatest antagonist, sin, and it is in His death on the Cross that we see Him as the Saviour of the world. Christ came to make men free and when we trust Him as our Saviour and Lord we are free.

A parable by Rabindranath Tagore, Nobel prize poet, reads: "I have on my table a violin string. It is free to move in any direction I like. If I twist one end, it responds; it is free. But it is not free to sing. So I take it and fix it into my violin. I bind it, and, when it is bound, it is free for the first time to sing."

The Scripture selections from Acts and Galatians remind us of the freedom which is ours to believe as we will. In the selections from the book of Acts (4:23-28; 5:27-32) we have the story of Peter and John's arrest resulting from the healing of the lame man. Standing before the high priest and other leaders, Peter makes the statement that has loosed the tongue of every freedom loving man and woman, "We ought to obey God rather than men."

In Paul's words to the Galatians (3:23-28); 5:1-25) he reminds his young converts that freedom in Christ does not give them license to do as they choose. These young Galatian Christians thought that liberty meant freedom from every restraint. Paul reminds them that the freedom which Christ gives is the liberty that comes from falling in love with Him and becoming His slave.

POINTED REMINDERS: The freedoms which we love and cherish can be lost. These freedoms may be lost. America is fast becoming the most lawless, godless, corrupt, nation in the world. How long will God permit us to enjoy these freedoms and at the same time seem so unappreciative and ungrateful for them?

QUESTIONS TO PONDER:

Do you thank God, daily, for these freedoms, and do you pray for the oppressed in other lands?

Are you doing anything to help our nation to preserve its freedoms?

Have you found that freedom which comes in trusting Christ?

WILL THE COLLEGE STUDENTS FROM YOUR CHURCH READ

BAPTIST STUDENT

THIS YEAR?

They may not unless you see to it that your church gives each student leaving for college a subscription to this leading Christian magazine. Just as your church wouldn't think of refusing to order a Sunday school quarterly for him while he is with you in high school, it is the duty of your church to continue its ministry to the member who is on the college campus by ordering THE BAPTIST STUDENT for him while he is away at school.

Is THE BAPTIST STUDENT just another magazine? No. THE BAPTIST STUDENT is the most widely read student religious magazine in the United States.

THE BAPTIST STUDENT is an articulate spokesman for your church, for Christ, and for the kind of living you have tried to teach. THE BAPTIST STUDENT talks the language of the collegian. It counsels with him on the problems he will face in college.

Make it your responsibility, right now, to make sure that none of your college students will miss THE BAPTIST STUDENT. Give each one a gift subscription on OFF TO COLLEGE DAY, AUGUST 31. Make sure your students are among the thousands who will receive THE BAPTIST STUDENT each month as a reminder that the folks back home are still interested.

Special presentation certificates have been sent to your pastor. Show him this advertisement.
