Twenty-Two Lines from the Sophomores Aeneid

I sing of the conquerors, the Sophomores,
 Who first to old Ouachita
 Come as Freshies or preps;
 To Ouachita river shore.
 Those Sophs much harrowed in contest and feud
 By the Junior and Senior
 And the continual envy of triumphful Freshmen.
 Much in college they endured,
 While attempting to gain the privileges
 So near, yet so far, from whence
 Come so many advantages, and the crown of success.
 Oh! Muses relate to me the causes
 In which their strivings and desire, flourished;
 Or what caused them to take as their motto
 "To strive to be what you wish to seem."
 Can the hopes of such heart, dare to remain unfulfilled?
 There were two lovely colors, the striving Sophomore held
 Crimson and gold, the royal colors of kings,
 Rich in hue, and gloriously flaunting in peace
 And the poppy was their flower.
 In these their aspiration, here their loyal hearts.
 One thing they desire and cherished,
 If the Fates were willing—
 That whatever they sought after, should be theirs!
 For they had heard that many obstacles
 Must be encountered, ere they took possession
 Of those longed for Senior Citadels.
 And their strivings shall not be in vain
 For before long these proud and noble Sophomores
 Will reach the Junior Fields,
 So near to the Senior citadels
 They resolve the Fates.

Dedication

The Staff of 1912-'13 affectionately dedicate this volume of the Ouachitonian to our beloved President
DR. ROBERT GRAVES BOWERS

He, who came forth so nobly two years ago to assume the burdens of our institution, and who has put forth daily almost superhuman efforts, striving to lift Ouachita to a higher plane in the educational world; he, who has won a place in the heart of every member of the student body on account of his firm yet ever loving discipline, his noble upright character, always bearing a beautiful relation to both God and man, and using in all things his practical wisdom.

The one man who we all feel secure in taking as an example out into the battles of life; the man upon whom it seems even God has set his seal; an Alumnus of whom Ouachita is justly proud.

PRESIDENT ROBERT GRAVES BOWERS, D. D., President Ouachita College

FINLEY F. GIBSON, D. D., President Board of Trustees.

Greeting

A record of the happenings and achievements of the year is herein written and photographed. A typical specimen of all the various activities incident to real college life has been portrayed, or at least this has been the serious intent of the authors.

In the preparation of this book we have endeavored to make it a souvenir, not altogether for the students of this year but for those of the past years, and for those that are yet to come. We have been seriously handicapped by being necessitated, by unusual circumstances, to await the beginning of the work of editing the annual until late in the year, tho we make no apology for that. While it has been a laborious task to compile the book, it has indeed been a pleasant task, and it is the earnest hope of the editors that those who read it may have imbibed again into their very being the spirit of the dear old Alma Mater.

We trust that to the Alumni this little book will be a pleasant reminder of the bygone college days; to the Senior class we hope that it will preserve the memories and incidents of their last year in dear old Ouachita; to the members of the large Ouachita family that still remain we hope that this chronicle of the year's events may be heartily welcomed; and to our friends whoever you are, and wherever you may be, we give to you this fifth volume of the Ouachitonian and extend to you the heartiest greetings of the year. May you read it and enjoy it; enjoy it so much that you will have left a lingering desire in your hearts to read it over and over again and so live over once more the days of college life.

Ode to Ouachita

Thou brown ivied wall,
Again 'tis thy call
That brings us from woodland and plain;
With autumn night,
And asters bright
With their necklace of golden fringe,
When the golden-rod
Springs up from the sod,
Spreads its feathery boughs to the sun,
We come—for 'tis home—
No longer we'll roam,
From the mountain and valley, we come.

Thou stately old wall
Art dear to us all;
We return from the hearthstones so dear,
When the cricket's wee fiddle
Plays his wierd "deedie diddle"
In the twilight that's chilly and clear,
Our ships we'll steer back
With our sails all intact,
And we know thou wilt keep us from harm,
As the year's growing old,
We return to thy fold,
Just as swallows fly home to their barn.

—T. H. B.

Ouachita, we sing thy praises,
Thy beauty, thy power, thy fame;
Each loyal heart upraises,
A cheer to thy glorious name.

O—
Here
May
Raise
A loy
O—

Ouachita, thy sons and daughters,
Will carry thy flag unfurled,
For none can e'er surpass thee,
The Queen of the college world.

I—T—A.
Ouachita,
gay,
ouachita,
o-ray,
I—T—A.

PREPS

THE PREPARATORY STUDENTS

The Preparatory Students comprise what might be termed "Ouachita's Reserve Corps." They are the upper classmen of the future. They are the ones depended upon to uphold the high standards which College students of the past have raised so high in Ouachita. The course arranged for Preparatory students is much better than any High School can offer, for those who teach them are Specialists in the departments in which they teach.

Furthermore, the Preparatory Students in College, while making themselves thorough in their text book work, also have the opportunity of associating with those who have received the refinement and culture which a college-course gives. They learn to cope with the most brilliant students of the State and, hence, are given training which no High School can offer.

The Preparatory Students of 1912-13 are providing themselves with extraordinary power, both in their books and in other college activities. Though hampered by the lack of prestige, they are holding their own, both in literary and social affairs, with those higher up than themselves. The literary Societies have bestowed upon the Preparatory Students many honors, where they have proven themselves to be untiring in their efforts to improve themselves and help their friends.

Their glories lie not in the ruined castles of the past, nor are they content with the pleasures of the present. But, by the beam of yonder Eastern Star they are guided to glories where life is sweet and duty a pleasure; where, after the completion of their rugged task they find themselves rewarded by the treasures which their minds contain; and from a firm conviction that their lives have told for the most, when they lay aside their fleshly burden, they will know that their influence will mark the footpaths of good and great men and women who are to follow.

FRESHMAN

The Freshman

Of all the bands of Freshies,
That have trod the campus green,
The noblest is the present one,
Of the lucky year '13.

We've been busy all the time,
Conquered "math" and read King Lear,
And though beset by countless foes,
Not one has ever seemed to fear.

The "Sophs," the Juniors, Seniors all,
Are in their proud array,
But they don't make a show at all.
Compared to us, our Senior day.

Doctors, lawyers, teachers and cooks
Ahead of any e'er yet seen,
Will be found among this band,
The Freshmen of the year '13.

The far-famed old "Parnassus Height"
Will be no longer in the way,
For we will mash him flat on top.
When we reach our Senior day.

And when we stand up there on top,
Rules and schools all out of reach
Our President will then rise up,
And the world will listen to his speech

Our beloved Woodrow may get his hat-
Joe T. also wave good bye,
For those little politicians
Will be sure to have to fly.

And in high places, all over the land,
Familiar faces will be seen,
For every honored seat must hold
A Freshman of the year '13

—LOLA SEARCY.

Motto—Find a goal, then make a touchdown.

Colors—Canary yellow and turquoise blue.

Another year with its joys and sorrows, defeats and victories, has passed, and the class of '14 has almost reached the goal.

In the fall of 1910 we entered Ouachita, a band composed of forty members, typical Freshmen we will admit, yet one of the most energetic and enthusiastic bands in Old Ouachita's history. To say we didn't make mistakes would be as unnatural as to say Professor McAlister didn't make Ouachitonian Speeches. But we feel that just as these speeches make a better Ouachitonian so our mistakes made better Sophomores.

Our number has decreased to thirty. Some have dropped out to become business men, others have fallen by the way side and although we miss their presence and their suggestions we are just as full of energy and enthusiasm as we were as Freshmen.

It is true that we have experienced all the greenness of Freshmen. We acknowledge that as Sophomores we possessed the "high and haughty mien." These are characteristics that no normal Freshman and Sophomore can avoid. Indeed they are essential and only pave the way for the hard working, truly noble, Juniors.

As Juniors, we are proud of our achievements. Most of our members have an excellent record in the literary department. The winner of the Inter-Society Oratorical Contest this year was a Junior, while one of the Editors-In-Chief of our College Magazine is a member of our class.

In the conservatory too the Juniors are in the lead—in piano, expression and art.

When we come to athletics we are again ready to say that the Juniors are prominent. The Captain of the Girls' Basket Ball Team is a Junior, while several of our members are "heroes of the grid-iron," star players on the team. In baseball, basket ball and tennis, the Juniors hold important places.

We do not say these things in a boasting way but merely to remind the readers that the Class of '14 is a wide awake, noted class. What we have done as Juniors we hope is only a beginning of the things we intend to do as Seniors. We have another year to work in Old Ouachita. Let us make it the best, the most successful of the four. May the faculty say of us at the end "well done my good and faithful servant." And may Old Ouachita long remember her class of 1914.

LOUISE CROW, M. A.

Arkadelphia, Arkansas

"Gadder"

Once in a great while Ouachita College is permitted to entertain an "Angel" unawares, but rarely has that good fortune ever continued for so long before. "Verily she shall have her reward." She has been teacher, but the future is "Past" us.

BERTHA MARTIN, M. A.

Arkadelphia, Arkansas

To persevere unto the end is to acquire merit. What then comes to those who having found the end must needs prolong the agony yet a little longer? Remains, however, a B. M., yet to take, and we confidently expect her back for eight more years. Her many graduations have always brought hope to her friends, but now hope has departed, and "we who have waited so long, well may wait a little while" longer, until the statute of limitations takes effect on Miss Martin and further graduations will be impossible.

WM. C. WARE, M. A.

Arkadelphia, Arkansas

"In peace," saith the Prophet, "there's nothing so becoming a man as modest stillness and humility." That's Willie Ware, Not! "Born in the objective case," he has consistently persevered therein ever since. The business manager will rejoice when his term as laboratory assistant expires, for then, perchance, the alcohol bill will again sink to normal. Ware is preparing to conclude his preparations by a course in the Theological Seminary, then, "God be merciful to me, a sinner."

FACULTY

Dean Heber Lowrey McAlister

Arkansas has given to Ouachita several men who have been strengthening factors on the faculty, but we have in our midst now a mighty man who came to us from Mississippi. It was in Pontotoc County of that State on September 18, 1882 that Prof. H. L. McAlister was born. He received his early training in the country schools of this and an adjoining County. He attended Mississippi College and in 1906 took the B. S. Degree from that institution with special honors in Mathematics. Following his graduation he was Principal of the Neshoba, Mississippi High School and after one year's stay there he was called to the Chair of Mathematics in Ouachita in 1907. During the summers of '06 and '07 he was Professor of Mathematics in his Alma Mater, while in the summers of '08 and '09 he held a like position in the Mississippi State Normal. In the fall of '09 he was elected Dean of the Ouachita faculty, which position he now holds in addition to being head of the Department of Mathematics.

Born a good mixer and a leader of men, "Prof. Mc," as the boys delight to call him, has gained an enviable reputation with the student body, as well as with the citizens of the town, and with the Denomination throughout the State. In fact Ouachita without him would not be Ouachita. Being reared on the farm he has the bearing of a plain, straight-forward, Southern gentleman, and having been connected with school work since his early manhood, he has at heart the sympathies of the students in every phase of College life.

As Dean the boys have learned to love him and obey him without question. He is cordial, agreeable, complaisant, and always greets you with a smile. Of stature he is a thin and tall, but is dominated by a masterful mind, which is peculiarly susceptible to the intricacies and perplexities of Mathematics and is constantly in sympathy with the struggling College student. Optimistic and cheerful ever, and is known by the whole school as one who does things; things that count, not only for the individual student, but for the interests of the school, and for the good of Ouachita in general. Polished, polite tactful, well-bred, the type of man that we are all delighted to be associated with. He is a man of convictions and has the courage to stand by what he thinks is right, regardless of the consequences. A man of strong mentality, who makes his mind his mentor and not his master. He is judicious, prudent, discreet in whatever capacity he may be acting in, and is ever self-confident and self-contained.

Since the advent of Professor McAlister in Ouachita, rapid strides have been made forward in the strengthening of the curriculum and in the general advancement of the different phases of the College work, and we sincerely hope that in the after years we may look back to our Alma Mater and see "Prof. Mc," one of the Ouachita "Sages," with long white flowing beard, still counselling, still advising, still a friend of the boys.

MISS ANNIE R. STORTS, Dean of Women, A. B. Baylor College; Instructor in Mathematics and English, Baylor College; Presiding Teacher, Mary Nash College; Presiding Teacher, Ouachita College; Lady Principal, Baylor College, Dean of Women Ouachita College, '12.

The entire student body, friends and patrons of Ouachita were delighted to learn last commencement that Miss Storts had again been secured as Dean of Women.

Miss Storts was with us five years ago and consequently needed no introduction.

We recognized in her, from her past record here, a woman of noble ideals, sound judgment and a firm conviction of truth. One who walks daily in the path of the Master.

The girls opened their hearts freely to Miss Storts and have learned to love her more dearly day by day. They feel that, in a woman with such character, they have a true friend and counselor; desirous of their welfare in all things and capable of deciding what is best for them always. From her life they have learned many valuable things for the future.

In going away in June the best possible wish the girls of 1912-13 could have for the girls of 1913-14 is that they may be so fortunate as to have Miss Storts as their Dean of Women.

CONSERVATORY

Director Livingston Harvey Mitchell

A tree is known by its fruits and so Ouachita's conservatory of Fine Arts is judged by the quality of work it does and by the success of its students in all parts of the country. That it is no longer an experiment, but a proven success goes without saying and we have only to direct your attention to the large host of graduates who have gone out from its walls and to the successful careers they have established and are establishing for themselves.

The man to whom much credit is due for the progress made in this department is the Director L. H. Mitchell who has had charge of the Department for the past four years. That Prof. Mitchell is particularly adapted to his work is evidenced by the care with which he has chosen his training and the degree of earnestness he has manifested in taking advantage of every available opportunity by which he may become more efficiently prepared for his work. Being naturally gifted with musical talent, after finishing his college course, he became a pupil of Mabel Bradburg Mann, at Thbor Conservatory in piano. He next was a special pupil of Howard E. Goodsell in harmony and voice; E. E. Free, in piano; J. H. Simmons in Pipe Organ; Frederick Grant in Harmony; Adolph Koelling in Technique; Emil Liebling in piano. The crowning feature of his musical training came in 1910 when he received special instruction from the celebrated Moskowski in Paris, France.

Aside from having a most thorough knowledge of music and a very successful method of teaching Prof. Mitchell is a likable man; and one whom the whole school admires. His congenial disposition and attractive personality are felt by everyone and one feels as tho' life is more worth living for having come in contact with him, and having shared with him his ever abundant supply of optimism.

Conservatory

THE Ouachita Conservatory is such an essential part of the college that in thinking of the college life we find something associated with the Conservatory in any day's happenings. A song, a strain of a familiar violin or piano selection, a beautiful scene or some long known reading transports the old alumnus through the years, back to the dear old college home.

If such be true of the alumnus of past years, how much more truly will it be the case with the 1913 graduates, those who have had the advantages of the Conservatory this year in all its glory.

Truly 1912-13 has been a banner year for this department of Ouachita in every respect, better graduates are going out, better work being done by undergraduates, Conservatory better equipped and above all a better faculty. We are so fortunate as to have with us again the Director of the past three years, Mr. Livingston H. Mitchell and with him, a corps of hard-working men and women, cheerful and lovable, congenial and unsurpassed in efficiency by any in the state.

With such a faculty it is not at all surprising that the conservatory has the wide-spread reputation it has, that of being the best in the state, this it truly is in all its many phases of Piano, Voice, Violin, Art and Expression.

Dramatic Club

One day, an artistic little lady thought, in order to put before the public, true art, and in that way to elevate their minds, that she would ask fourteen girls to form a dramatic club.

As most girls are actresses at one time or another, at least in their imaginations, the fourteen were delighted beyond "expression," and gleeful little shouts showed nothing but enthusiasm. A buzzing noise ensued, and any one listening would have been able to hear such remarks as: "I'll play the kid parts," "I want to be the character woman," "Oh! let me be the young lady, with a mystery attached to her." "I'll be the tom-boy girl." "Let me play cook," "I want to be the flirt," "I'll be the villain," and "I'll be a heroine who bears her troubles with a smiling face."

Knowing that the reputation of the expression department rested upon their shoulders, these big, little and medium sized girls, set to work with a determination to do or die, on the charming little three act play, "Breezy Point."

To relate the success of this play would be a difficult task, but the notices in the Gazette, and Arkadelphia papers caused a glow of pride to remain upon the faces of the amateur company, for at least two days.

The Club is now at work upon the beautiful story of Tennyson told in "The Princess." The proceeds of this play are to go for a worthy cause. Future dramatics of Ouachita will always look upon the improved stage and the beautiful scenes left by the first Dramatic Club, as a blessing to their efforts.

“Bulbul”

AN OPERETTA IN TWO PARTS

By Maude Elizabeth Inch and W. Rhys-Herbert.

Given at Ouachita Auditorium, March 10, 1913.

Iamit, a fussy but good natured little Eastern Monarch, worries over many things pertaining to his kingdom. His beautiful daughter, Bulbul, is to be betrothed to Prince Caspian from another country. The prince and princess have never met for their engagement has been arranged by court officials. Prince Caspian is not satisfied to win his bride through diplomacy nor on any other basis than that of love. With Alain and other friends, he sets out for Iamit's castle in the guise of a peddler. In this way Captain obtains a conference with Bulbul. He woos her as a peddler and wins her love. At the same time Alain and the other friends of Caspian, have been smitten with maidens of the court.

The evening arrives in which Iamit expects to celebrate the betrothal between his daughter and Prince Caspian. The hour comes but neither the Prince nor the princess can be found. Alain announces that the prince is missing; the court chaperon announces that Bulbul has eloped with the peddler. The court is thrown into confusion. Finally the princess enters and claims the fulfillment of a former promise from her father, the king, that any woman of the court might request in a joke any man in his kingdom to marry her and he would require that man to say yes. The court chaperon requests the effect of the same promise, asking for the king himself. Caught in his own trap the king has to consent to everything. The prince comes forward and reveals his identity and explains his purpose. The operetta closes with the fixing of the day of marriage of all the happy couples.

Art Department

Ouachita College is especially proud of her Art Department and we are trying to stimulate an interest in the study of Art, and to arouse in the pupil a desire to pursue this study in connection with other departments of school.

Many a girl loves form, color and nature, but hesitates to cultivate that love because she thinks she has no talent. Talent is largely a matter of awakened emotion; the ability to feel must come before the ability to do.

She should have artistic culture for it trains the head, the hand, the heart. It develops observation, trains the eye and hand, cultivates a love of the beautiful and develops the imagination. It is practical, gives culture and education is incomplete without it.

The course of study begins with free-hand drawing, and we offer instruction in all branches of painting.

- The character of Professor Dutch is best attested by the esteem in which he is held by the students in his department. He is an optimist in every sense of the word. The work in the "B. D." never becomes a drag. The discouraged look of the pupil, when the accounts will not balance, is always met by the ready wit and humor of the teacher.

The character of Mr. Dutch as a teacher may be best expressed in the words of a former President of this Institution in his definition of a great teacher. "This is best accomplished by disclosing the beauty of the subject, being ever ready to explain in the difficult places." He is the students' friend. Yet he does not allow this close friendship to interfere with the discipline in his department. If the student, through hard luck, gets behind he is always ready to boost. On the other hand if there is a spirit of laxness or carelessness shown the reprimand is always given in that original, "get at you" kind of way.

In short Mr. Dutch has combined in his character the elements that are necessary in the makeup of a true friend and an ideal teacher.

The Underwood Club

The Underwood Club of Ouachita College was organized by the students having work in the Business Department. The purpose of the organization is to further the mutual work and interests of its members and to maintain the standards established in former years.

The Business Department of Ouachita College is a thoroughly representative commercial training institution, and as such ranks second to none. The school has grown rapidly and has a state-wide reputation.

This Department was not established for the purpose of making money, but to train the students so that they can go right into an office from the school room and do general office work acceptably. Our course includes all the necessary studies for any kind of office work, and we consider it an ideal course, qualifying young men and young women for a business career.

Our Business Department is designed to prepare men and women to fill worthily the best positions. Its graduates are eagerly sought by the largest and best houses, because of the high standard which the school is known to represent. The great business concerns of this country require annually the services of thousands of young men and young women in their offices, and this institution always has competent young men and young women to fill these places. The Department has been very successful because of its distinctive methods of instruction. The greatest testimonial to this is the interest that the students show in their work.

STARKEY Y. BRITT
COMMANDANT AND PROFESSOR OF MILITARY SCIENCE AND TACTICS

Twelve years' active service. Lieutenant and Staff Spanish War and Philippine Insurrection, 1898-1901. One and one-half years' active field service; Congressional medal for service in Philippines. Graduate and Post Graduate Officers' Garrison School; Fort Terry, N. Y., 1904-05; Retired for disability incurred in line of duty, 1907; Law two and one-half years, National University, Washington, D. C.; Civics and Psychology, Harvard University, 1907; University of California, 1908; Law, University of Michigan, 1909; Detailed by War Department for duty at Ouachita College, 1911.

THE REGIMENT

The Commissioned Officers

It has been the policy of the Commandant this year to have every officer in the Military Department take charge of the Battalion and command it in the field drills. This has proven very successful and tends to familiarize the officers with tactics in a much more practical way. Captain Britt's aim is to have every officer who graduates from this school to be able to efficiently maneuver troops in the regular service if needs be. That his purpose is being accomplished is shown by the force and ease with which this year's officers handle the battalion, and by prominent positions given Ouachita graduates in the Arkansas National Guard.

THE OUACHITA BAND.

Non-Commissioned Officers

The above cut shows the list of men from which the officers of the battalion will be chosen next year. During the four years that the college student spends in the Military Department, he has the chance of serving in most every office from the ranks to the commissioned officers which admirably fits him with a general knowledge of Military matters and which will be of supreme worth and importance to him in the event the National Government should need his services. To be a skillful general one must know the duties of every officer below him in rank, and to acquaint the future defenders of Old Glory with these fundamental military principles is one of the prime objects of the Ouachita Military Department.

THE NON-COMMISSIONED OFFICERS OF 1912-13.

The Charge of Company "A"

Fought on the forty-third day of April, 1913.
Company 'A' Within its Fortifications.
Apologies to Lord Tennyson.

I.

"Steady you," "Steady there,"
His lip curled upward
All with the air of disgust
Capt'n of one hundred.
"Forward, Company C!
Charge the 'Cadets,'" he said:
And with the air of disgust
Strode the one hundred.

II.

'Forward, Company C!'
Was there a man so scared?
Yes, so the Cadets knew
Someone had blunder'd:
Theirs not to turn and fly,
Theirs not to say good-bye,
Theirs but to do or die;
All with the air of disgust
Strode the one hundred.

III.

Cadets to right of them,
Cadets to left of them,
Cadets in front of them,
Hurrahed and thunder'd;
Hooted with jeer and yell,
Primly they strode and well,
Into the jaws of Death,
Into the Mouth of Hell
Strode the one hundred.

IV.

Flash'd all their sabres bare,
Flash'd as they turn'd in air
Saberling the Cadets there,
Charging a hated smile—
All the folks wonder'd!
Pell-mell and battle-smoke!
Into a run they broke,
Guards and Cadets.
Ran from the battle-stake
Scatter'd and plunder'd.
Then they strode back, all not
Only one hundred.

V.

Cadets to left of them,
Cadets behind them
Hurrah'd and thunder'd;
Hooted with jeer and yell,
While Guard and Cadet fell,
They that had strode so well
Came thro' the jaws of Death,
Back from the mouth of Hell,
All that was left of them,
Left of one hundred.

VI.

When can their glory fade?
O what a charge they made!
All the folks wonder'd.
Honor the Cadets and Guard
Noble two hundred!

THE ARKADELPHIA BAPTIST CHURCH

DR. H. L. WINBURNE

The past ten years have witnessed a wonderful advancement in the cause of the Baptists of Arkadelphia. When Dr. Winburne came to Arkadelphia in 1903, the old edifice now used by the Christians was the home of the Baptists and the contributions each year for missions and for the furtherance of the Lord's cause in general were very meagre as compared with that of the present time. The beautiful new $40,000 home of the Arkadelphia Baptist, the large annual contributions for missions, for Christian Education, etc., are a few of the many evidences of the progress that is being made.

The natural progressive trend of the times has had its effect upon the above mentioned improvements, but the spirit of our kindhearted, zealously devoted pastor has wrought great changes in the hearts of his fellow townspeople and the students have learned to love him and to trust his advice with the deepest sincerity.

His Chapel talks are always received with the keenest appreciation and interest. His deep and logical thinking, and his impressive and earnest way of saying things has permeated the life blood of every student, and one of the phases of College life that the students, when we go out into life, are going to miss most and yearn for again with the fondest remembrance is the companionship and fellowship of our lovable, our affable, our devoted, pastor—Dr. Winburne.

The Ministerial Association

The Ministerial Association is one of the most valuable of all assets to the young preachers connected with Ouachita College.

It is designed to cultivate public speaking; to bring the young preachers in closer relationship with each other; to become acquainted with parliamentary law; and most of all to inspire and keep burning the fires of spirituality. It is a foregone conclusion with those who are acquainted with school life that it is hard on spirituality. Earnest work in the association will meet this depressing spiritual condition, for in the association meetings are held some of the warmest spiritual sessions that it is possible for one to attend.

The membership of the association is numerically larger than ever before. Out of about fifty ministerial students enrolled about forty have been actively engaged in the work of the association.

It is a noticeable fact that those engaged in the work are the leading spirits of the College spiritual life. It is also outstanding that in the out-of-town pastorates they are the most successful.

As the school year nears the close, we reflect over our year's work with regrets because of failures and lost opportunities in many instances; but with gladdened hearts because of success in other instances. We expect to get a lesson from our failures, and we ostentatiously enjoy our successes.

We, therefore, expect greater work in the future, and cordially invite thoughtful consideration from every one, and court an investigation from all who are interested in our work.

Wallis Baraca Class

This has been a good year for the Ouachita student in many ways. Both the literary and Christian organizations of the College have been abundantly productive in blessings to all who have taken part in them. One of the most helpful and spiritual movements that the college boy has the privilege of participating in is the Baraca work for the young man.

At the beginning of the fall term, the class met in the regular room at the Church, with great interest and joy, because of the many new members that the new college year had brought among us. After one or two meetings of the class it was soon evident that seating capacity of the room was not sufficient to accommodate the class and at once a movement was set on foot to either divide the class into two sections or find a larger place of abode for the class. After much prayerful and earnest thinking it was decided to divide the class and now we have two thriving classes either of which is practically as large as the one formerly was.

For social development, each year the class arranges for a number of joint meetings and programmes with the Philatheas and other organizations of the Church. The Baraca picnic each year is looked forward to by the boys with much anticipation and pleasure. Each young man invites a young lady friend from the Home and to the Big Bluff we go for a day's picnicking and merry-making, where a day of real college life is enjoyed.

Our teacher, Dr. J. C. Wallis, out of his great and prayerful heart never fails to bring us helpful and profitable instruction, and his genial disposition and consecrated devotion are felt by all who come in contact with him.

Bower's Baraca Class

On account of the increased enrollment this year of the Baraca Class, taught by Dr. Wallis, it was found necessary to organize another class. Consequently the Bowers Baraca Class, deriving its name from the President, whose interest and co-operation have aided materially in the progress of the class, was organized with a membership of forty boys.

The class was exceedingly fortunate in securing as the teacher of the class, Miss Storts, whose tactful leadership and instruction have made the meetings both interesting and helpful to all. The attendance has always been good and with the interest and enthusiasm, which is now being shown among the boys, there is no reason why the Bowers Baraca Class should not be a powerful force in uplifting and shaping the lives and creating nobler ideals in the minds of the students.

Ouachita Christian Association

Ouachita girls this year decided to sever their connection with the National Y. W. C. A. Believing that by forming a centralized organization, the centre being in our own college, more girls could be reached, and brought to realize that they must follow the Lord Jesus.

Acting upon this plan, after careful consideration and discussion, we decided to change our organization into its present form, giving it the name of "Ouachita Christian Association."

In order to make the change less confusing, the same officers were retained, and a constitution similar to the old one was adopted, and work continued. So slight was the change, that not a jarring note was struck and the unbroken chords sent forth only a sweeter harmony, because of the intensified interest.

In January, new officers were elected, a new cabinet appointed and with great earnestness they assumed their duties. The one great thing before them at that time being the coming meeting. Which meeting was led by Dr. Forrest Smith of Sherman, Texas. During this meeting, every Christian girl did personal work and the group prayer meetings strengthened many of our weary ones.

It is the determination of all to make the rest of this year a glorious one for the Lord, and to show by wholesome entertainments that religion need not cause one to be sad.

Next year is being planned for already, by the cabinet and if these plans mature, Ouachita Christian Association will be one of the most alive organizations of Ouachita.

The Volunteer Band

MOTTO: "The evangelization of the world in this generation."

Declaration of Membership: "It is my purpose, if God permit, to become a Foreign Missionary."

This band was organized at Ouachita College in November, 1906. Its purposes are to prepare student volunteers for their work in foreign lands, pray for missionaries who are at work, and make personal efforts to enlist others in the cause of missions. Throughout these years it has maintained the weekly meetings for prayer, praise, and mission study. Even though the membership has been small and the work quietly carried on, the value and extent of its influence in Ouachita College cannot be estimated. It has been as an oasis in the desert to some of the hard pressed workers at the front of the battle. Memory lingers very tenderly around the happy meetings and spiritual refreshment of volunteer band meetings.

This year's work has been good. There have been an unusual number of honorary members; those who have had actual experience in the Foreign Mission work. The membership has had a valuable addition in Miss Ida Lemos, a native Brazilian preparing to be a missionary to her own people of Brazil.

During the year Missionaries Rev. R. T. Bryan, Shanghai, China; Miss Genevieve Voorheis, Permanbucu, Brazil; and Rev. S. L. Ginsburg, Bohia, Brazil, visited the College and thrilled us with a greater determination to press forward in this conflict with evil in which the right shall triumph as surely as God's Word never fails.

Nil Cedendum

When the sages say, 'It can't be done at all,
It will only prove a failure and a mess."
Comes a fellow with a quiet sort of gall,
Just remarking, "We can put it through, I guess."
There's a look of determination on his face,
And in his eyes you read "never say die"
The prophecy of a strongly run life race,—
Nil Cedendum's his battle cry!

He will push through brush and muck,
This brawny fellow with a coat of tan,
He has firmness, strength and pluck,
If you want a sticker—he's your man;

In the fevered tropics with their deadly damp,
So steady tho under the torrid sun's glare
In the farthest north, too, he pitches camp,
If you show a Hermesian the 'job—he's there!

Westward he goes, turns dreams into steel,
He's efficient—with ever a way,
Treads fear and ruin under heel.
If you're seeking the man of to-day;
You'll find him in one with the call
Unknown to idlers, or weaklings, or drones
But proclaimed by Hermesians all,
As successfully they cross Life's stones,—
Nil Cedendum!

W. R. BROOKSHER, Jr.

Hermesian

Hermesianism, Nil Cedendum and Success are three qualities running in the same channel. A society taking the rough gem and working it up to a standard of excellence is one to be boasted of and one to which the eyes of the public will naturally turn. So it is with the Hermesian Society.

The Society is not only honored by being the athletic field upon which to search for material for Football, Baseball, Basket Ball, Track and Tennis Teams, but this phase of Society life is balanced by our representation in the Ministerial Association.

Looking into the archives for records of the past, we find Hermesians most prominent in every phase of college activity.

Class presidents are looked for in the chambers of the Hermesian Society. Athletic captains also are to be found upon the roll of the society. As Hermesians captains our winning teams in college, so will they captain the ship of success as it is tossed on the high seas of Life.

Of Scholarships offered, Hermesians have had their number. Hermesian graduates are holding departments in most prominent high schools of the State.

In every winning debate Ouachita has had in recent years, Hermesians have had a representative. Upon the Campus, who leads in all things? Hermesians, can be the only answer. In the Military Department Hermesian officers instruct and develop the company to which the honor of winning the flag goes.

In the annual oratorical contests, Hermesians have won three of the last six.

The Baseball Coach, Hiram Crow, is a graduate of Ouachita and old Hermesian, and with the spirit of Nil Cedendum stamped upon him will put out as good a team as the college has ever boasted. With the exception of two or three, all men in Ouachita's "O" Association are Hermesians.

Some of the Hermesian graduates holding prominent places in the state are Joe Hardage, Speaker of House of Representatives, last session; Dr. R. G. Bowers, President of Ouachita and pastor elect of First Baptist Church of Little Rock, Ark.

As we look upon the past history of the Society with its honors, we of the present year have only to close our eyes to see through the thin mist of the future, the importance of its works. We can see Dame Fortune yield, to the sign of Nil Cedendum, bounteous success and we have only to work and maintain our high standard and moral integrity.

PURITY AND WOMANLINESS

ERLINGS

Time—Afternoon. Season—May. Place—The abode of Corinneans.

Corinne at the table. Fame at the door.

Fame: Ah, this is the place. I've been here oft before. It may well be called the entrance to my realm, for fair Corinne, thou hast led each year, like a fairy god-mother, your daughters as pure as Easter lilies, to my portal and when the gates were flung open they with the grace and bearing which only the pure and womanly can possess have taken their places—the topmost in my kingdom.

Corinne: Welcome, Noble one. Yes, we have given you our best each year. Eighteen Seniors, tried and true, launched forth last year and we are proud to know that upon their heads have been placed garlands which will be worn until the last great day when, to them, shall be added something greater, something nobler and to them shall be answered—Well done.

But for 1913, Fifteen striving ones I present this time.

Fame: 'Tis for them that I come.

I sing not as the great masters,
Who relate in verse sublime
The deeds done by Corinneans,
Which echo through the corridors of Time.

To speak of all would grow tiresome
So, in order to be discreet
Of the Seniors I'll sing, who're standing
Where the brook and river meet.

There's Lillian, Dove and Ruth Cowling,
Whose C. L. S. love was so great
That back to their Alma Mater
For a post, did you say?—We don't think.

Alma, a genius with the bow,
Wasn't ready to accept yet her—doom
So with Hazel and Ruby Rae,
You'll be reading of them pretty soon.

Over some, there's cause for anxiety,
(But nothing has been done yet)
Why Etta, Arlene and Ruth Smith
May all turn suffragette.

If the way of a teacher be hard,
Then there is a sad plight
For Annie and Agnes and Bert
Will be soon in the college lime-light.

There's Minton, Hailey and Hughes
If they follow the pace that's been set
Liebling and Mary Hallock
Will be overtaken yet.

But alas, like the illustrious others,
These, when they've had their day,
Will fold their tents, like the Arabs
And, as silently steal away.

But not like the desert flow'r
Which blooms and blushes unseen
This old world will be better
Because of Corinneans.

"I APPEAL FROM THE DECISION OF THE CHAIR"

The Philomathean Literary Society

We have come to a point in the civilization of the world, where men are no longer judged and given places of prominence and responsibility because of their royal birth, but because of their manhood and efficiency. Individuality and democracy are the slogans in the present age of development. The world today is calling for men of character and ability to occupy places of responsibility; and in response to this call, colleges and universities have been established and their doors thrown open to every one who seeks training by which he can live usefully.

Ouachita College is one of the leading institutions of this character in our state.

But the text books are not alone responsible for the positions of trust held by Ouachita Graduates, for there are within the College various organizations which are conducive to this efficient preparation. Of these organizations, the Philomathean Literary Society is without a peer.

The spirit of the society is good morals and hard work without selfishness. It is an axiomatic fact that the immoral man is as much a failure in life as the illiterate man. Seeing this, and, in accordance with the motto of our society, we have included within our constitution certain provisions by which a member would be expelled for immoral conduct as quickly as the College Authorities would expel him from school work for the same offence.

The idea of selfishness is repudiated by philomatheanism. Men who seek and obtain success simply to satisfy personal ambition are not to be lauded for greatness; but rather those who realize "unless what they do is useful, the glory is vain." The latter idea is inculcated into the life of everyone who learns to be a real Philomathean. Many such have left Ouachita and their lives are a benefaction to everyone with whom they come in touch.

In oratorical and forensic contests it can be said without misrepresentation the Philomatheans are the acknowledged leaders of Ouachita. When the College wants representatives for inter-state debates it turns to the Philomatheans; when it wants a representative for an inter-collegiate oratorical contest they ask a Philomathean to go bring back the trophy.

In inter-society contests of the College, only a few times has the Philomathean Society been defeated. We were rejoiced but not at all surprised when, on the night of November 24th last, at the close of the oratorical contest, the victor was announced to be Roy Tompkins of the Philomathean Society.

We do not profess to be leaders in Athletics but we have men on every team who have won their places by hardwork.

We expect to maintain our standard of morality and efficiency, and continue our assistance in opening new fields of opportunity.

Extracts from Nancy's Letters While at Ouachita

Sept. 12, 1909.

I've told you all about Miss Storts (that is, all I know now) and now I'll tell you about "society," that's all I've heard since I've been here—and some time before I got here. When I got on the train at Little Rock there were several girls on there who looked like college girls to me. They were laughing and talking and I just couldn't understand how they could be so gay leaving home and going away to school, but I'm beginning to understand.

Pretty soon, two of the girls came up to me and asked me if I was going to Ouachita. I said yes, very shyly. The next question "what society are you going to join?" of course, I hadn't decided then and I told them so. They were awfully nice and talked to me a good long while. Then they left with an urgent invitation to visit their society the next Saturday. Soon after they left several other girls came up to me and asked the same questions. I gave them about the same answer and they left with an invitation to visit their society the same Saturday. Well, I didn't know what to do, for how could I visit both when they had them on the same day and at the same time?

Sept. 26, 1909.

I have joined the Alpha Kappa's. I visited both and decided I'd rather be an Alpha Kappa.

Please excuse scratchy writing, I'm in a hurry.

Your sister,

NANCY.

Nov. 28, 1909.

A "perfectly wonderful thing" (don't that sound nice) (I heard a Senior say that) has happened. You know I told you about the oratorical contest "we" always have Thanksgiving. "We" didn't have it, it was between our brother societies, the Hermesians and the Philomatheans, but it was part "us."

I was flower girl and carried the flowers up to Mr. Holloway. I felt awfully big but just couldn't help feeling that way, could you?

There's no use telling you "all" about it. We won, is the main point. After it was over, we went up into the hall to rejoice some more and I never did feel so funny. I just felt like I wanted to hug everybody there—boys and girls and everybody else seemed to feel the same way. We were awfully proud of Bill, of course, he did lots b—

April 10, 1911.

My Dear Sister:—Wouldn't you love to see me sitting up in the Secretary's chair calling the roll? The first Saturday, I was so scared I didn't give the girls time enough to say their quotations, and there wasn't a thing to be scared of.

Oct. 1, 1912.

The next time I get up in society and make a perfectly legitimate excuse (in my own estimation) for being about two minutes late and then get fined I'll just—

Some of them didn't want to fine me though. I just wish I could be President a while, but I guess I'd do just like the rest do.

May 15, 1913.

This graduating business is not so much fun when you really think about it. I don't mean the studying and the thesis but it's the thought of leaving school and all the girls. Next year I won't go to school at all, won't that seem queer?

The other day, while we were sitting up there in the society hall the Secretary was reading the minutes and the sunlight on the girls' white dresses was soft and splotchy and that spring languor seemed to be on everybody, they were so still and everybody seemed so contented. It just came to me all at once what all this society had meant to me all these four years I have been here. I understand why they all cry at the last meeting of the year and how the old girls feel when they come back and say "the dear old society hall is sweeter to them than any other place about the college" and look like they are about to cry. The self-important bunch of young ones, (I know just how important they feel, too) trying to run things, always smile and cheer politely.

But it is sad to me when I think about not being up here next year to fuss about the curtains not hanging right and the need of a new carpet, when there isn't anything else to wrangle over.

There is some consolation in knowing that I may be back to visit next year, however, and the first place I will want to see will be the hall and I know I will make a tearful speech if called on.

The Inter-Society Contest

The annual Inter-Society Oratorical contest between the Hermesian and Philomathean Literary Societies occurred on the night of November 29, last. The occasion was one of high enthusiasm, keen anxiety, and wild hilarity. Each society with its spirits keyed to the highest tension was seated about the arena eagerly awaiting the battle of oratory.

To the person who has never witnessed a similar occasion it would be impossible to give any conception of the occasion, while to those who were present any description that might be given would seem but an inadequate representation of that eventful night. At eight o'clock the two contestants, Mr. L. W. Amis, Hermesian, and Mr. R. R. Tompkins, Philomathean, came before the audience and took their seats in the forum. Instantly the society sections sprang into a tumultuous uproar. The kinetic enthusiasm that had lain dormant during the past few months, but enlivened by the preceding weeks of yell practice, now burst into an unlimited potentiality. The yell leaders finally succeeded in quieting the pandemonium and gained control over the audience. Mr. Tompkins, being the first speaker of the evening, the Philos were first to respond and raised that historic war cry of "Hokie Pokie." Scarcely were they seated when with colors and pennants wildly flying the Hermesians sprang to the floor and threw down the gauntlet by yelling "Nil Cidendum," the battle slogan of many a conflict. Five minutes were given the two societies for their songs and yells, and an ante-contest of vociferating made the welkin ring with shouts of anticipated victory.

The meeting was then called to order and the throng of people was calmed to attention by a vocal solo from Miss Ella Anderson, Alpha Kappa. Mr. Tompkins, with that characteristic and significant smile of his, stepped forward and after his introduction to the audience delivered his oration on "The Call of the Twentieth Century." Calm, serene, free upon the floor, he was master of the situation. He dealt with his subject in a most able manner, eloquently heralding the voice of the dawning era. As he concluded, again the Philos were upon the floor—they thought the victory theirs.

Once more the swelling surge must needs be calmed. Miss Ruth Cowling, Corinthian, at the piano rendered an unexcelled solo and the din of confusion quietly settled to serenity as did the nymphs before the lyre of Orpheus. While the strains of music were fading away Mr. Amis, the defender of the Hermesian cause, came forward to receive his introduction and challenge the record of his retiring opponent. In his smooth, rotund rythmical address he adroitly placed before his hearers in convincing argumentation "The Carnage of Commerce." He, too, was master of the occasion. Acquitting himself with distinction and reflecting honor upon his society, he closed the contest. This also occasioned a jubilant response from the Hermesian section—they knew the reward was theirs.

But now came the moments of unbearable suspense, the anxious moments of rising and waning confidence of the coveted glory. Intenser still was this concern when the spokesman of the judges appeared before the audience and stood for a hearing. No heart was in its place, nerves were wired in tension, half seated, half standing, was each society enthusiast. Minutes were as ages, then the decision was announced—the Philomatheans had won.

The Young Ladies' Home

The above picture is a group of the boarding girls of Ouachita, taken on the front steps of the Home.

The dormitory for these young ladies consists of two separate buildings, the Home and the Conservatory, which are joined by a large bridge way.

The Home is a large brick, three stories in height, with a roomy porch all around the front.

The first floor here, consists of the dining room, parlors, office and room of Dean of Women besides several girls' rooms.

On the second floor is a large corridor on either side of which are the girls' apartments. Then a well-equipped gymnasium occupies the entire third story.

The Conservatory also affords three floors, the first of which are music rooms and the Directors' studio, the second is occupied by the girls while the third forms a large practice hall.

The environments of the home are elevating and helpful, life there always being jolly, home-like and altogether ideal, making this crowd of over one hundred girls feel as though they were one large, congenial family.

After this year the college will have no U. F. A., for the last two members of the order leave "the ivy covered walls of Ouachita" in June by graduation. Few of those connected with the college, either as members of the faculty or student body, realize as keenly as do the members of this order how great a loss the college will sustain by this breaking up of one of the college's most consistent institutions. The chances are that few besides the members themselves, and the Dean, really know what a powerful influence this body has had over the destinies of the college. Sure, it is, that not even the Dean himself knows how tenacious has been our devotion to the great principle on which the order is founded.

In that one phrase, "devotion to principle," is to be found the cardinal virtue of the order as an organization; in that phrase the one most perfect description of our parliamentary practice; in that phrase the secret of the attraction which brings back the "absent member" to the old time stamping ground to participate in the annual banquet; in that phrase the secret of our past worldly happiness and success, present prosperity, and hopes for future fame. When this order was first organized and consecrated to its purpose, each member fixed firmly in his heart the resolution to maintain the doctrines, advocate the theories, and proclaim the principles upon which the organization was founded. Our lives, lived before our fellows here in college, and our daily actions are witnesses to the unswerving exactitude with which we have carried out our pristine intentions; our success in the undertaking, the standard by which we desire to be measured; our prospects, the brightest star in the brilliant diadem of Ouachita's fair fame.

Stand on the portals of the college so dear to all of us and whisper the question, "O Ouachita, who loves you most, who stands most ready to give for you the best of service, the strongest devotion, the dearest love of all thy hundreds of sons?" In the hoarse tones of the echo you have the answer, for the sound which comes back to you in answer to your question is not really an echo, but the whispered pass word of the U. F. A. Look in the records of the college and having looked withdraw into thy puny self to meditate upon the deeds of greatness therein inscribed which bear the brand of this order. On the athletic fields whose blood has been shed more freely? On the rostrum who has cast more pearls? O man or woman coming after, bewail your fate, for the glory of the presence of this organization is gone, now, from among you, (and alas! it may not be equalled!)

1913 bids farewell to the last representatives of a body which has furnished the presidents of two graduating classes, the captains of two victorious baseball teams, four wearers of the football "O," four commissioned officers in the battalion, one class orator, three members of Ouachita's track team, a baseball coach, an Editor-in-Chief of the "Ripples," and two Editors-in-Chief of the college annual.

In years to come, when other steps than ours shall tread the way which we have trod; when other hands grope blindly for the light, not knowing it burned out; when other buildings, other faces, other scenes shall take the place of those so dear to us, and all is gone from college save the memories of the past to binds us to her with that tie that stretches not nor breaks; still, when we come back to her, will Ouachita be dear to the sons whom she has nourished through the years now past and gone? Dear because of the associations which will cluster round the sacred ground on which we too have walked and worked.

The days of Ouachita's prosperity will come, and with them the forgetting of the past. Then let us raise this question, "In that day when everything is running smoothly as it should, when the name of Ouachita means victory and success to a nation instead of just a state, think you that Ouachita will have another body of her sons banded together as one who will outdo the work of the one to which she now bids adieu?"

O Juniors, Sophs., and that part of the earth beyond, who may not be mentioned on the same page with the U. F. A., nightly, as you meditate, on the great and good things which have been given you for your enlightenment and edification, let your minds hold ever upmost the fortune you enjoy in being day by day with the teachers and expounders of an art, soon to be lost to Ouachita as an art. Let your minds improve the opportunity given you, and your hearts give thanks that it has been given you to sit, a chela, at the feet of the masters, with chance to hear the sources of all wisdom in a dying art speak deathless words, and pour into your listening, reverent, ears the wisdom of ten thousand years, the thoughts that have guided the most favored faithful through the snares and pitfalls of the college course.

The proof that the doctrine is sound is here for you to read: NEVER HAS A MEMBER OF THIS ORDER SUFFERED A VISITATION FROM THE DISCIPLINE COMMITTEE!!

And so we part, Old Ouachita, thou and I, for the end is here and the Professors are kind to "The Faithful." You may get along without us but I doubt it.

Lemos Club

South America sent her first student to Ouachita College this year when she sent us Ida Lemos. A sweet, lovable, dark-haired, dark-eyed maiden.

Because of her inability to speak English plainly, Ida asked that her first teachers might be girls instead of the "Serious professors."

As her faculty she selected Mrs. Ward, Ruth Cowling, Esther Autrey, Arlene Tidwell, Miss Mattie White, Miss Singleton, Valla Dean Hanagan, Otela Gillispie. In three more years, Ida hopes to leave us, speaking English and thinking in English as readily as any Arkansan, and her teachers say that if the "serious professors" are —oh, well, as good—as they are, she will accomplish her desire.

THE OUACHITA MASCOT

Football

Pre-season football prospects looked rather gloomy for Ouachita this year, and even the faithful were beginning to be discouraged. Coach Miller resigned September 1st, and the local College authorities were for a long time unable to come to terms with a coach suited to the situation. Just a few days before the close of the holidays, however, a contract was made with Mr. Morley Jennings of Mississippi, A. and M. College and Mr. Jennings reported in Arkadelphia on Tuesday, September, 17th.

Football practice started soon after Mr. Jennings arrived and a squad of about thirty-five or forty huskies were soon reporting each afternoon on the A. U. William's field. Never has a football team at Ouachita been developed so rapidly as was this year's team.

The first big game with Ruston was played early in October and for the first time in history the "Tigers" held Ruston scoreless, neither team being able to cross the other's goal line.

Christian Brothers' College of St. Louis was our next big game, and only a very opportune fumble on the part of the big Catholic's half-back allowed them to get past our defense for their lone touchdown.

Maintaining the record of never losing to Hendrix in Arkadelphia, the "Tigers" administered a decisive drubbing to the "Bulldogs" on November 11th, notwithstanding the fact that the team was crippled by the loss of quarter-back Wallis.

Our annual game with Henderson on Thanksgiving closed the year's schedule with a score of 13 to 6 in favor of Henderson. Although Ouachita was not victorious, everyone concedes the fact that the "Tigers" played decidedly the better football.

The Team possessed some fine material and made on the whole a successful record. Honorable mention should be made of the Scrubs, who worked with untiring energy and give to us a most promising outlook for 1913.

COACH MORLEY JENNINGS

VOLLMAR "SMUTT" TOBEY—Tackle—2 stripes.
All hail to our captain for 1913.

CAPTAIN JACK STELL—Tackle—5 stripes.
An antagonistic, able bodied tackle, and an energetic, sincere, zealous and sarcastic captain. 'He did what he could.'

WALTER "BUTTHEAD" SMITH—Half-back and Quarter-back—4 stripes.

A strategic, plunging backfield man. Without doubt the best half back in the state this year, and furthermore, the second of Ouachita's Tigers who has crossed Henderson-Brown's goal line.

CHAS. WALLIS—Quarterback—4 stripes.
Despite the rule, Chas. "came back" this year, and he came with a vengeance. Adjectively—Polite, Particular, Peremptory, Tantalizing, Clear-headed, Manly, Fleet footed and a modest lover of all the girls.

HENRY "SKINNY" COX—Center—2 stripes.

A tall elongated specimen overshadowing by a foot any other member of the team. Adjectively Conspicuous, Gay, Querulous, Blissful, Elongated, and noisy.

"SUNNY" CULBREATH—Guard—2 stripes.

With the look of an innocent babe on his face, but inwardly refractory, riotous and restless.

JOHN G. LEWIS—End—1 stripe.

"Johnnie" played an extraordinarily good game at end this year, outclassing anyone else. Adjectively, Affectionate, Sarcastic, Skylarky, Unattentive and Boisterous.

J. FLETCHER. "BULL" MOOSE—Halfback—1 stripe.

"Bull" came to us unknown but his natural good nature soon won him a place in our hearts. An arrogant, copious, punctilious, loquacious wind-jammer.

BRUCE JACKSON—Fullback—1 stripe.

A graduate from last year's scrubs. A man built for the place, sturdy, hardy and obdurate. Adjectively—Singular, Drowsy and Boisterous.

BROWN WIGGINGTON—Guard—2 stripes.

Who, with 'Sunny' compose the best pair of guards in the state working ever together and in conjunction with the center.

JAY TOLAND—Halfback—1 stripe.

A reckless, brazen, audacious jaw-worker. Hero of the novel "From Scrub to Regular in two weeks."

C. C. "RUNT" TOBEY—Tackle—4 stripes.

A man who has been variously shifted during his years on Ouachita teams, but whose suitable place seems to have been found at tackle.

JESSE McCLURE—End—1 stripe.

An efficient, adroit and agile end, to whom, with Jackson, belongs the credit for the Hendrix Victory. He received Bruce's perfect pass over the goal line and held it, thus defeating the Bulldogs. A variable contrary, jocosely, happy-go-lucky sort of a fellow.

WILD BILL ROBBINS—Guard and Center—1 stripe.

The first of Rosebud's sons who was fortunate enough although deserving to earn his 'O' in his Senior year. Would rather possess that 'O' than the governor's chair. Most of us are accustomed to 'Bill,' but he is a puzzle indeed to the new student. Adjectively—Pompous, Ostentatious, Magnanimous, Voluminous, Imperious, Blustering Tyrannous, Generous, Meritorious, Various, Hilarious and so on ad infinitum.

THE BOYS' TENNIS ASSOCIATION

THE GIRLS' TENNIS ASSOCIATION

Boys' Basket Ball

The Ouachita Basket ball Team of the year 1912-13 cannot be considered as a successful one. The reasons for their unsuccessfulness are many. In the first place Ouachita has no Gymnasium and therefore no place in which to train a team that can successfully hold its own against opponents that have the advantage of an indoor court and owing to this the Coach did not for a long time assist the team in its work. The fact that we did not have an indoor court kept the best of the Basket Ball men in Ouachita from appearing on the field and so we had to do the best we could under the circumstances. Only one of the Initial men of last year reported for practice, the rest of the squad was of necessity composed of new men most of whom were new at the game or had not played for several years.

There has, for a year or two, been considerable talk of a Gymnasium that is soon to be erected on the site of the old Gridiron but up to the present date this fanciful dream has existed only in the imaginative minds of its originators and has assumed proportions no more stable than the properties of a mirage.

We look forward to the coming year with fond hopes that these 'Gymnasium Dreams' will be realized and with a Gym. we will be able to turn out men that have all three sides of the "Triangle of Life" fully developed.

Jno. Lewis, Capt., Gannaway, A., Mgr. Forwards—Jno. Shifflet, Wofford.

Center—Tom Toland, Joe Toland, Fish.

Guards—E. D. Rivers, E. A. Hinton, A. Wofford, G. C. McClain, W. W. Smith.

Girls' Basket Ball

Clean athletics in any institution of learning is one of its greatest assets. The body is the home of the mind, and must therefore be kept perfect, if we would have a strong, active mind. This phase of college life among girls has been neglected in the past, but is now coming to be recognized the same as among the boys.

The material for the girls' basket ball team this year has been exceedingly good. When Miss Cargile resigned it was feared that the team would have to disband, but S. R. Doyle was chosen as Coach and has developed a snappy little team. Because of a college regulation the girls have never played away from home, but have made a most excellent record against the high schools of the state.

Those who took an active part in this phase of athletics this year are:

Hazel Going, Manager.

Annie Loe McAlister, Assistant Manager

Winnifred Lewis, Captain.

Gertrude Bradsher
Pauline Edwards
Lula Goddard

Lela Courson
Jimmie Norman
Celeba Wheeler

Amy Sims
Clyta Daniels
Elizabeth Autrey

Ruth Curl
Barbara Negley
Addie Mae Scruggs

Base Ball

The outlook for baseball at Ouachita was not very flattering at the opening of the season. Several places made vacant by the absence of members of last year's team were to be filled by new candidates. The places constituted first and second bases, catcher, shortstop, and the entire outfield. To make this seem all the worse, just at the opening of the practice season, Coach Jennings bade the boys a 'fond farewell.'

But all this ill luck was not to be a sample of the entire season, for when Coach Louis Crow assumed leadership with Mgr. Vernon Sammons and Capt. Chas. Wallis assisting, things soon began to have an entirely different aspect.

Capt. Wallis is now seen at the third pillow and is master of the situation. Mgr. Sammons, the veteran slab artist, is now a utility man and is "Monarch of all he surveys." H. Muse, "brought in" from the outfield, now lurks around the first cushion and fills this place even better than the outfield. Gannaway, a last year's substitute, alternates as pitcher and shortstop. These comprise the aggregation 'kept over' from last year's team.

Among the new members are Catcher Toland, Bailey at second and short, Wofford, Armstrong, and Jackson, each loafing in the outfield.

Those who warm the bench are Toland, Shifflett and Tisdale.

In the game versus Centenary, Ouachita lost by sheer hard luck—simply a case of two outfielders being too anxious and each trying to occupy the "same precise spot" at the "same precise moment." This and a few other 'misconducts' gave Coach Crow just the hints he was anxious to have in order to bring out the kinks. In the game versus Henderson-Brown, Ouachita presented a battle-front that no enemy could withstand as was shown when they forged ahead of a big lead and won in the ninth inning. They "knocked apples" when the right time came.

At this writing only two games have been played, those mentioned above, and in them our team played consistently and makes us believe that a winning season is on.

The Tiger Tribe

It hath been said by men of old
"There's one black fleece in every fold;"
But this, when told by College fellow,
Is: "'Mongst them all, there's one that's yellow."

I prithee listen, while I describe
The Royal Bengal Ouachita tribe
I vouchsafe all and know 'tis true,
This Tiger tale that I tell to you.

They're every one as "true to type"
As stars that peep from night to night,
As innocent, too, as Jesse James,
Who "shot up" stages and other things.

There's Jennings, Coach, who bossed the work,
And Speedy "Chas." who'd never lurk;
And "Baby Doll," our Captain, brave,
And "Butt Head" Smith, tough as a Knave.

'Twas he who crossed the Reddies' line!
And then, ah me! "Sun-ny" did not shine!
And Smut was white! "Wild Bill" was tame!
And Skinnie to the sidelines came! ! !

And "Wig" he'd wiggle! And "Mack" he'd smack!
And "Johnnie" hugged our dear "Miss Jack!"
And "Jip" he chuckled, grunted like,
And strutted 'round as "big as Ike."

The "Bull Moose" gored the little "Runt,"
And thought it was an awful stunt—
A Tiger should be the first to find
And go on 'cross the "Reddies'" line!

Miss Wood wore a troubled look on her face after searching for the cause, we heard that 'Butsy" had gone to Gurdon."

Prof. Mitchell, despairing of Herpicide, tries "Electrical Massage" as last resort.

When everybody else was singing Christmas Carols, Mr. White was softly crooning—"My Old Kentucky Home."

Coach sent out announcement to the effect that he did not care to be annoyed any longer by the flirtations of the girls.

Prof. Compere in chapel: "The Young Preachers' wives will please meet at my home at 4 o'clock." Miss McD. "I guess that means me, too."

Wanted—A good tennis partner—Signed: Prof. Dutch.

Mr. Mc. "You Seniors may be exempt from room regulations, but don't get back to the primitive state."

A new department has been added to the curriculum this year. Snipe Hunting. The head of this department is Mr. Rollins, who has just finished the course and has it fresh on his mind.

While on the trip to Ruston, Jay Toland missed his dinner at one of the fashionable hotels. When he was asked why he did not come down, he said: "I was waiting for the bell to ring."

Jack Smith—Julia, how high are you?

Julia—I can't help it. I just grew that way.

Miss Timmons: "Miss McNutt why is plume—pen—feminine and porte plume—pen-holder masculine?"

Dorothy—"I—er—don't know unless it's because the feminine likes to have the masculine hold them."

Upon being asked if he was going to take any part in athletics Mr. Carter replied: "Yes, I'm going to take athletic drill."

Ruth Smith's quotation in society: "Some love coffee, some love tea, I love Billy, and Billy loves me."

Oscar Robbins in society: "In my speech, I am going to embrace women as well as men."

Billy: "Have you got anything to eat at your house?"

Annie Lou: "Of course, you goose, do you think we're going to starve to death?"

Billy: "May I come over to-night?"

Prof. Mc.—"I'm going to step on your 'Surveying' grade."

Si M.—"Well, you won't need a step-ladder."

Janet:—in Economics Class—If he calls on me I'll die.

Lillian: "Oh, he won't call on you. He's married."

Billy's Pipe Dream

Did you ever sit at evening
When your pipe begins to burn,
And a fairy of the twilight
Grants you everything you yearn?

And the visions of tobacco
Part you from your lesser birth,
So in the twinkling of an eyelash
You become a "Lord of the Earth."

And in the curling of a smoke wreath
You reach honor, glory, fame.
While the hearthstones of a nation
Are ringing with your name.

And you win the girl you've dreamt of,
Attain the Land of Heart's Desire,
And the glory of your being
Turns your very blood to fire.

You are worth a hundred million,
Of your greatness there's not a doubt,
When a voice within calls "Bed-time,"
And your Pipe goes out.
