Signal

Covering the events that affected the lives of all the students was the aim of the campus newspaper, the Signal. Beginning in the spring semester, the paper was published weekly. Bobby Stover served as the head of the editorial board.

The staff sought to interpret the news through its policy that was voted upon by the editorial board. The paper worked to report the campus events, sports news, and controversial topics.

Members of the editorial board were Bobby Stover, Rosemary Massey, Marlane McLain, Lamar James, and Tommy Thomason. Others on the staff included Jane McCallum, Mary Johnson, Glen McNeal, Chuck Ward, Kaki Fritts, Larry Chesser, and Robert Wilson. William D. Downs Jr. served as advisor to the Signal.

Lamar James, news director, and Tommy Thomason, sports editor, worked together to insure complete coverage of Ouachita sporting events.

*Marlane McLain and editor Bobby Stover met weekly with other members of the editorial board to discuss the policy of the Signal.*

*Photographer Richard Congdon worked on both the Signal and the Ouachitonian.*

Selling weekly ads was the job of business manager Jane McCallum.

Campus interviews were an important part of the work of assistant editor Rosemary Massey.

Linda Murphee was responsible for the women's social club section.

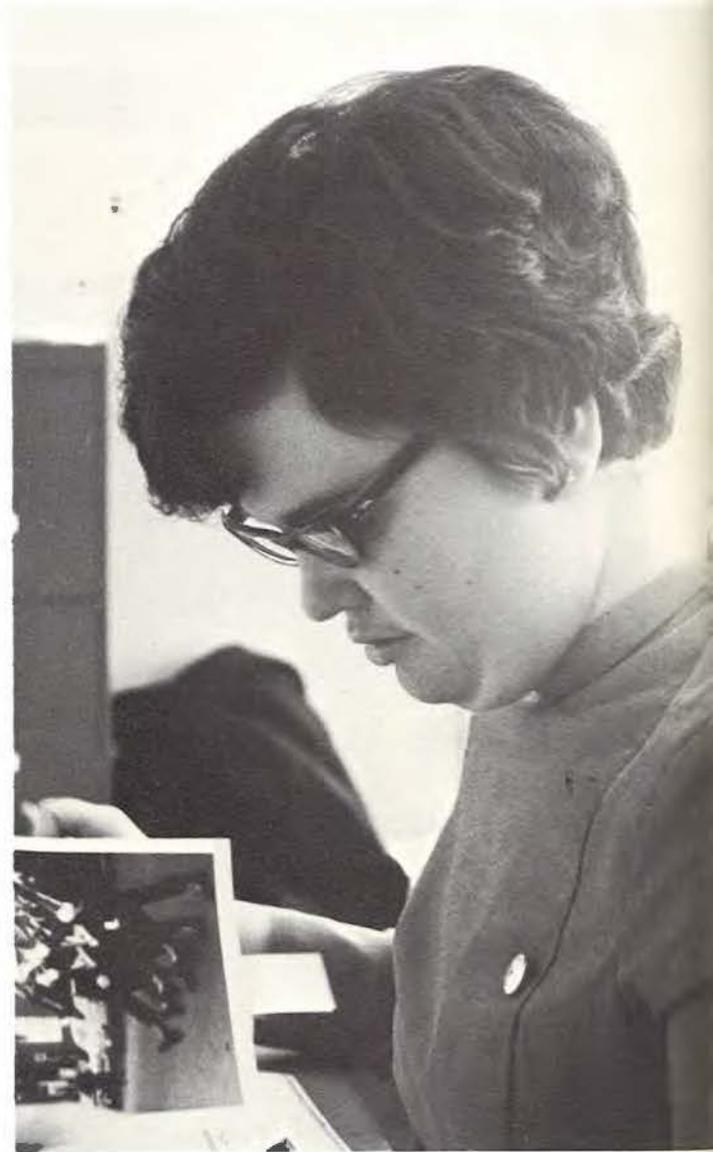

Glen McNeal was business manager, personalities editor and co-director of the Ouachitonian Beauty Pageant.

Ouachitonian

Beginning in the spring, the Ouachitonian staff members began planning the 1968-69 year-book. It takes people and talent to create a year in pictures and words, and Virginia Parker led these people as editor-in-chief.

She was assisted by Paula Brewer, Larry Chesser, Joe Class, Richard Congdon, David Henderson, Bill Kennedy, Melissa Merrick, Linda Murphee, Glen McNeal and Ken Parker.

Royal Dodson, Dr. George Blackmon, Gloster Tisdale, Daniel Sandford, and Robert Dickson were members of the board writing the new Ministerial Alliance Constitution.

Ministerial Alliance

The Ministerial Alliance was re-organized this year. It tried to meet the needs of the ministerial students on campus. Guest speakers were asked to speak to the group on the third Tuesday of each month. They sponsored the Crusade of the Americas on campus and promoted a revival on campus in the spring.

Officers were Daniel Sandford, president, and Robert Dickson, secretary-treasurer. Dr. George Blackmon was faculty advisor.

EEE Social Club

EEE Social Club, the oldest girl's club on campus, sponsored the winning float in the Homecoming activities for the second year in a row. The theme of their float was "Victorycar Named Desire." Their representative was Linda Spargo who was second runner-up to the queen.

Also being held for the second year were the shoeshines. These were held at various times during the year.

At Christmas the EEE's held a campus-wide party, "The Coolside of Yuletide," in the upstairs student center. Christmas was also the time of their banquet at Hank's Dog House in Little Rock.

Presiding over the EEE's this year was Kathy Thrash. She was assisted by Carol Kimbrough, first vice president; Susan DeBoer, second vice president; Judy Halbert, secretary; Connie Stewart, treasurer; Alice Withers, historian; Vicki Bryan, reporter; Jane Thomas, chaplain; Janie Reece and Betty Whaley, pledge mistresses; Nell Dickerson and Cheryl Peterson, co-activities chairmen.

Theta Lambda Tau Social Club

Theta Lambda Tau social club began the year with a "Getting to Know You" party for the freshmen and transfer girls. At this they announced that their beau for the year would be Bob Harris and also that their new sponsors were Dr. and Mrs. Bob Riley.

Their Homecoming candidate was Cynthia Harness and the theme of their float was "Surrey with the Tigers on Top". The Thetas wore their new winter outfits, navy blue skirts and shells and a white blazer, at homecoming for the first time.

The Holiday Inn in Little Rock was the scene of their annual Christmas banquet in December. The members also went caroling and took favors to the Children's Colony and the Riverwood's Nursing Home at Christmas.

The Thetas started the spring semester by having their second "Happening". This consisted of "The Dating Game" and "The Newlywed Game" with faculty and students participating.

Officers for this year were: Brenda Dunn, president; Sharon Currier, vice president; Dee Rollins, recording secretary; Carolyn Baker, corresponding secretary; Linda Murphree, treasurer; Kathy Harness and Rosemary Massey, pledge mistresses; Lynda Church, chaplain; Cynthia Harness, historian; Mary Johnson, reporter; Debi Dyer and Ann Graves, social chairmen; Paula Brewer and Sherry Dollar, publicity chairmen; Judy Gahr, Patricia Robinson, and Sandra Sawyer, activities chairmen.

Nancy Fray and Ken Abbott drive the "Victory on the Midnight Stage" in the Homecoming parade.

Alpha Omega Eta celebrated its fifteenth anniversary as an organization on campus during the fall. The celebration concluded with a drop-in of alumni during the Homecoming activities.

The club along with Flippin-Perrin Dorm co-sponsored the first pep rally. In the pep rally before the Henderson football game, the members performed a skit.

The theme for the Homecoming float was "Victory on the Midnight Stage". Nancy Fray was selected to ride the stage in the Homecoming parade and represent the club in the Homecoming activities.

The fall term was kicked off with a hamburger fry for all members. The week-ends in the fall and spring saw bush parties for members and their dates. In October, the AOE's held a Halloween Party with Theta Lambda Tau members as special guests. In December, a Christmas party was held for the members to bring in the Yule season. In February, the club held a series of rush parties for prospective members followed by pledging. The spring brings the annual outing held in Hot Springs. Officers elected for the fall term were Bob Russell, president; Richard Cox, vice president; Billy Bowen, recording secretary; Ken Parker, corresponding secretary; and Dean Evans, treasurer.

In September, the Beta Beta Social Club hosted a drop-in for all freshmen women. This provided an opportunity for the girls to become acquainted with one another and also to meet the members of the Beta's.

Perhaps the club's largest project was its homecoming float, "The Great Race To Victory." Karr La Miller represented the Beta's in the Homecoming festivities and was chosen first runner-up.

At Christmas, the Beta's held their annual Christmas Party at the home of Mr. Jim Ranchino. Throughout the year, the Beta's engaged in many activities including their traditional serenading, bush parties and concluding with the spring outing.

Rho Sigma Social Club

Members of the Rho Sigma Social Club promoted school spirit by performing two skits at weekly pep rallies held in the fall. They constructed spirit signs for the Student Center each week to show their support for the Tigers. Again they built the hoop that was used in the Tiger Trail. They supported the Tigers in their out-of-town games by attending them in car caravans.

September brought bush parties and intramural football for the members of Rho Sigma. In October, the Red Shirts co-sponsored with the BSU the annual Dad's Day coffee. Late October brought Homecoming and float building to the club. This activity became one of the club's main fall events.

They selected the theme for their float, "Tigers Rule in Camelot", which finished third in the float competition. Chosen to represent the club in the Homecoming festivities was Margie Royston. She was elected Homecoming Queen.

Christmas was ushered in by the annual Christmas party for all the members and their guests. February saw the Shirt's sponsor the second annual faculty-social club Donkey Basketball Game. Rush activities also were carried on during the month of February. March saw the selection of new pledges and the pledging activities to initiate new members into the organization.

Later in the Spring, the Shirt's sponsored their annual Mr-Miss OBU Pageant. Finishing the social year, the Shirt's held their annual Spring outing and banquet during the month of May.

The S's volunteered to sponsor an underprivileged child at the Arkadelphia elementary school. Under their sponsorship, the child will receive her noon meals during the school year.

Homecoming brought the theme of "War Wagon" to the S's float. Donita Austin was chosen to ride atop the tank in the Homecoming Parade and represent the club in the Homecoming activities. Donita was selected third runner-up to the Homecoming Queen.

The S's selected Lana Hampton to represent the club in the Ouachitonian Beauty Pageant. They elected Marijo Kirkland as their candidate in the Miss OBU Beauty Pageant.

Bill Merrill and J. W. Rotton were elected presidents of the organization this year. Selected to assist the president were Mike Garner and Bob Forward, vice-president; Ted Viala and Dave Mizell, recording secretary; Bill Walker and Jim Roberson, corresponding secretary; John Lane and Mike Trull, treasurer.

Linebacker Eddie Chism puts the rush on Red Shirt quarterback Charlie Murphy in the intramural All-Star Football Game. The S's were the league champions.
