Student Director: ROY LAW

CAST: Bob Graham, Sonny Setliff, Janice Shepherd, Gene Dolby, Sharon Harrelson, Roy Law, Lynn Nunnally, Carole Pearson, Dee Birdwell, Joe Dale Amis, Nancy Cook, Martha Gould, Bill Gilbert, Wally Spencer, Gay Campbell, Valinda Whittle, Perrilyn Elkins, Betty Adney.

Bob Graham, as a minister's son, relates from his own pulpit the heartwarming story of the laughter and tears he experienced as a child in this remarkable family.

One of the sources of conflict was the leaky old parsonage—not to mention the time the son gave away the month's salary to a beggar by mistake.

THE UNMUSICAL IMPRESARIO

PRINCIPALS: Mary Beth Taylor as Madame Da Capo, Patsy Vaughn as Isabel, Dennis Keath as Pietro Portamento, Irene Sablan as Nora.

The chorus practices for a scene from the lively operetta given by the choir and the orchestra under the direction of Dr. James T. Luck.

These twenty beautiful girls and handsome men were first nominated from their class, then presented in assembly for the vote of the student body. Forty were in the Beauty Pageant. In the last minutes of the pageant the top ten were revealed to the audience.

Beauty Pageant

The Beauty Pageant was begun as an annual event in 1956 and is produced by the Ouachitonian staff. This year's theme was "Around the World" and presented production numbers from Spain, the Old South, the Far East, Portugal, Holland, and France.

Below: Southern belle Betty Adney is wooed by John Ward as the chorus sings "Make Believe."

The couples were presented two by two; Here—Phillip Nix, Pat Vaughn, Martha Wilson, Earl Jones.

The McClain children assisted in the "Old South" scene.

"Old Man River"

Left: Afterwards a reception was held for participants, families, and staff. The Beta Beta combo furnished entertainment.

Frosh

Senior class officers welcomed us with the latest fad in hats—beanies!

Appropriately titled, the orientation program was named "Frosh Daze." This began a long period of lines, signatures, course numbers, lines, erasures, and lines.

Orientation

TIGER COURT—"But I did have my beanie on"—"Sing? Before all these people? Oh, no . . ."

We shook hands for days. This time at the Student Senate reception.

For the faculty reception we dressed up, made new friends—and shook hands some more.

Big Sister-Little Sister Party

Balloons, bubble gum, stuffed animals, bows—and occasional missing teeth and spots of freckles characterized this annual gala event. Upperclassman girls are assigned to escort a "Little Sister," to make her feel right "at home" in her first few weeks of school.

The Life of a Home Economics Major

Plaque awarded for Superior rating at East Central Forensic Meet.

The 1957-58 Ouachita Debate Team was organized and coached by Mr. Dennis Holt, professor of speech. The team entered various tournaments including the College of the Ozarks Warm-Up Tournament, East Central Forensic meet at Ada, Oklahoma; Mid-South Tournament at Henderson State Teachers College; Savage Debate Tournament at Durant, Oklahoma, and the district Pi Kappa Delta meet at Harding College. Both members of the team won a "superior" rating at the East Central Forensic meet. This was the highest award given in the tournament.

News Bureau

Mr. Joseph Redden, Journalism professor and director of the News Bureau checks another "Signal" which is mailed out to all parts of the state. Joe Downs, student assistant, types a news release.

The Ouachita News Bureau is busy continually keeping Arkansas and neighboring states informed of the activities of Ouachita College students and faculty. Pictures, stories, news releases, publicity—all types of information—are sent to the home towns of Ouachita students for use in the newspaper, and on television and radio. Here, also, brochures of several types are planned.

"Operation at One" was a project of the Mission Band and gave performances throughout the school year in various churches within the state. The story concerns a return foreign student and his attempt to bring Communism into being in his own country. He meets with the opposition of missionaries who eventually convince him that Christianity is the true way.
