For each individual, a myriad of doorways . . .
Doorways to learning, self-understanding,
Maturity and to faith
And for many
College is the first encouragement
To walk through these doorways

Crossing a threshold
Into worlds of meaningful experience--
A difficult task
Which requires help from those Who have entered before.

One enters doorways
Opened by others
Through study of recorded knowledge
And perhaps
Opens some new ones himself.

Forethought and perception
Are constantly needed
To make one's path
To the right doorway.
Frustration and disappointment
Need not become Unwanted companions.

The other side of the doorway
Lies in shadows at first
Bewildering, perhaps frightening.
Courage and determination
Will help you to step out . . .

And keep moving in the right direction.
One cannot forget others as he himself moves.
Even as he moves, he has opportunities
To assist and befriend
Those who walk beside him.

Doorways entered together--
A friendly word at the right time--
A gentle, reassuring response
To another person's problem
Can be a doorway leading
To the richest goal this life has to offer...
Love.

And there is a doorway
At which Christ stands
And offers the supreme gift
Of his love which gives
Ultimate meaning and purpose
To our lives.

Student Life

Fall-spring Registration

Aching feet, confusion, and the magnificent sense of relief accompanied the completion of registration. The library was the site of those two days of lines, schedules, and signs. A "Frustration Center" located about half-way through the procedure was a new and welcome addition. Other improvements included pre-registration packets and the enforcement of registering at one's appointed time. The mass of classes and schedules determined from registration brought the new semesters into being at Ouachita.

Unaware freshmen arrived on campus to be confronted during Orientation Week with the duties of senior "button" rules, dawn meetings at the Tiger, beanie wearing, and other new experiences from every angle.

The seniors, other students and faculty made the freshmen feel especially welcome with their help and attention during the entire week.

Several mixers and a watermelon supper were evening events, and the week's final highlight was the comical Kangaroo Court where sentences were given to freshmen who had been disobedient or unruly during the week.

By experiencing these first few active days, for the new students began to feel welcome and acknowledged Ouachita as their new home.

Dorm Life

Dorm life and all its activities were as diversified as the personalities of the students who experienced them. Every student who lived in a dorm soon realized that while dormitory life was enjoyable, it certainly was not all relaxation.

Dorm life as a whole was an integral part of the student's education. Room checks, resident floor counselors, popcorn poppers, suite-mates, dorm moms and pops, snacks, and occasional studying were characteristics found in dorm living. The important responsibilities learned in the dorms included independence, using one's time effectively, good relationships with others, and cooperation. The greatest facet of dorm life was the life-time friends made.

New trailers replace old married quarters

Married students, if they were lucky, lived in the new trailers which mercifully replaced the old barracks-type buildings on north campus. Those not so lucky "made do," but didn't seem to mind it, in other university or privately owned housing.

If you were single, there was always the Royal Theater or Skyvue Drive In or pool tables at The Cove or the Minuteman. Then there was DeGray Lake and, just a few miles farther on, Hot Springs and Little Rock where students could bowl or skate and do whatever else might catch their fancy.

On off weekends, you probably went home.

"Wayward Saints" is Festival entry

The Ouachita Theatre presented George Herman's "A Company of Wayward Saints" as its first production of the fall semester. The play was directed by Raymond Caldwell and was Ouachita's entry in the American College Theatre Festival.

Mr. Caldwell also directed the first play of the spring semester, Arthur Miller's "The Crucible." Special seating platforms were built on the Versor Drama Center stage so that the play could be presented "in the round" with the audience completely surrounding the actors.

"Rumpelstiltskin," a dramatized version of the famous German fairy tale, was presented by the Children's Theatre, which is separate from the Ouachita Theatre. In addition to the five performances on the Ouachita campus in December, the play was presented in six out-of-town performances during the early part of the spring semester.

Girls ask the boys during 'Twirp Week'

Twirp Week provided a welcomed reverse in the usual "boy asks girl" dating routine.

Activities began Monday night as girls ate supper with the boy of their choice in a campus-wide picnic on the lawn.

The Grand "S" Opry, sponsored by Sigma Alpha Sigma on Wednesday night, was a well-attended country-western variety show.

Sadie Hawkins festivities were Thursday night, sponsored by Gamma Phi. Once inside the traditional Dogpatch setting, the coed found various opportunities to show her date a good time and pick up the tab. Activities ranged from the rare opportunity to throw oatmeal pies into the face of some willing professor or sink one of the 1971 Gamma pledges into the cold water of the popular dunking booth.

Beta Beta sponsored two movies, "Viva La Max" and "Texas Across The River," for a great Friday night twirp date at the movies.

Dad's Day and a 20-7 Tiger victory over the U. of A. at Monticello marked the end of Twirp Week activities.

Homecoming

Students began on Monday of Homecoming week, and in some cases weeks before, planning, building, and decorating their floats to be entered in the parade. Many of the students, with girls getting late permission, spent long hours working on their floats in hopes of bringing home the first place award. On Thursday night, students met at Walton Gym for a pep rally after which they formed a torch light parade. After the parade, everyone went to a pasture adjacent to the football field where they gathered around a large bonfire for the pep rally.

Friday morning, Rho Sigma social club began its non-stop Spirit Bell ring. This continued until the parade on Saturday morning.

The parade was highlighted by the various floats, bands, marching units, and dignitaries. Last year's winner, the EEE's, captured first place again, followed by Chi Delta, and Gamma Phi with special recognition for a non-entered float going to Rho Sigma. Dormitories also participated in a decoration contest with Daniel taking first place and Cone-Bottoms finishing second.

Homecoming

The highlight of the Homecoming weekend was the annual battle of the ravine on Saturday afternoon, when Ouachita and Henderson battled it out on A. U. Williams Field. Ouachita proved to be more powerful for the second straight year by defeating the Reddies 21-14.

Halftime activities introduced the Homecoming Queen and her court. Linda St. John, sponsored by Circle K, was crowned Queen and her court was composed of Holly Hicks, first runner-up; Kathy Vining, second runner-up; Jo Ann Smith, third runner-up; and Anna Faye Waldrum, fourth runner-up.

Throughout the weekend, former students from all parts of the nation met for class reunions. The classes of 1936, 1945, and 1954 were only a few of the groups which returned to Ouachita to relive the halcyon days.

There are dozens of clubs in which they can become involved. Scholastic clubs give them a chance to meet many leaders in their academic fields, get a head start on their career and have a good time, too. Also, freshmen are invited to "rush" the social clubs and get to know the upperclassmen. By joining service organizations, students can devote some of their spare time to work on beneficial school and community service projects, such as those offered by Circle K, Blue Key and others. The BSU and the publication staff, Signal, Ouachitonian, and Ripples, are always eager for new workers.

Throughout the year there are football games, bonfires, and Christmas parties in the fall; rush parties, track meets, and the Mr.-Miss OBU Pageant in the spring, Repertory Week, outings, and intramural games in the summer.

Whether a person actively participated in the organizations and events or simply watched from the sidelines, he had many memories of the year. But if he sat in the dorm, as few did, he missed a lot.

Mr. Sonny Jackson

Yearbook dedicated to Sonny Jackson

There are usually many people on a campus who deserve the distinction of a yearbook dedication. The 1972 OUACHITONIAN, however, saw one person who particularly stood out from among the rest. He is Sonny Jackson.

Mr. Jackson came to Ouachita in 1954, left for a 2-year period in 1964 and, upon his return, was named head of the maintenance department's grounds crew. A native of Arkadelphia, he is the father of 3 children.

It is a joy to be around Sonny. He is enthusiastic and concerned with doing his job well. Sonny has often helped students in distress and will always take time to talk to anyone about anything. For these reasons and many more, the 1972 OUACHITONIAN is respectfully dedicated to Sonny Jackson.

Studies

Dr. Grant reviews his first two years

Having led Ouachita for more than two years since coming here as president from Vanderbilt University in February 1970, Dr. Daniel R. Grant has found time to take stock.

On the plus side, he has succeeded in filling key administrative posts with his first choices "with few turndowns."

Also, he is running ahead of schedule on physical development plans and the mammoth Advancement Campaign.

Other "plus factor" in his first two years include the cooperation of the student body and student leaders who share his objectives of academic and Christian excellence. He is also pleased "with faculty loyalty, patience and dedication to work."

His "regrets" include his inability to manage time in such simple matters as answering his mail. Also, he misses the classroom and hopes to teach a course or two after the campaign closes.

Statewide campaign seeks $4,000,000

A new million-dollar student center, plus a fine arts center, classroom and office building, and endowed chairs, distinguished professorships, visiting professorships, scholarships and campus beautification are included for the University in the $4,000,000 Ouachita-Southern Advancement Campaign.

Approved unanimously by the Arkansas Baptist State Convention in November 1970, the campaign emphasized the Cooperative Program in 1971, focuses on Ouachita in 1972 and on Southern Baptist College in 1973. Of the total amount to be raised, $3,000,000 will go to Ouachita, the remainder to Southern.

To emphasize their support of campaign, Ouachita students, faculty, and staff members last year contributed $80,176.35, well over their $50,000 goal.

OBU vice presidents guide major projects

Working directly under Dr. Daniel R. Grant, Ouachita's three vice presidents guided the University's financial, academic and development operations.

As vice president for finance, James Orr was in charge of general business affairs, college transportation, faculty rental housing, the University farm and stables and many other aspects of University operations.

Dr. Carl Goodson was responsible for general academic matters and supervision of the deans and directors of all academic programs in his capacity as vice president for academic affairs.

The campus advancement campaign was added to the list of jobs for which Dr. Ben Elrod, vice president for development, was responsible. He was also in charge of fund raising, placement and activities of the Former Students Association.

Ouachita Baptist University, owned and operated by the Arkansas Baptist State Convention, worked through a 24-member Board of Trustees elected by the convention. Eight of these trustees are elected each year for a three year term. They may succeed themselves once before having to go off the Board for at least one year.

Counselling students is administrative task

Counselling students in money matters, degree plans, and conduct were major areas of administrative responsibility this year.

Financial assistance provided through scholarships, campus employment and work-study grants was coordinated by Jim McCommas, director of student aids.

The registrar maintained all academic records and, in cooperation with their counsellors, helped guide students through the required 128 hours of their four-year academic maze.

All disciplinary action and the scheduling and management of student activities were assigned to B. Aldon Dixon, the dean of students.

Recruiting students for Ouachita led Dr. Tom Gambrell, field representative, and his assistant, Bob Bledsoe, to hundreds of high school counsellors and assembly programs in and out of Arkansas.

OPPOSITE TOP: Jim McCommas serves the university as director of student aids. OPPOSITE BOTTOM: B. Administrators assigned to varied responsibilities

Administrative responsibilities at Ouachita included the supervision of women's activities, the library, plant maintenance, information services, and religious activities.

Ouachita's librarian, Mrs. Juanita Barnett, had to manage the coming in and the going out of 85,000 volumes, plus looking out after the pamphlet collection, the film strips and recordings, and the many other audio-visual materials located in Riley Library.

Women's housing, personal counselling, and the coordination of activities for women students was the responsibility of OBU's dean of women, Mrs. Neno Flaig.

The Baptist Student Union at the university was directed by Doug Dickens, the university chaplain.

Information services provided a variety of printed and broadcast materials for Ouachita's public relations program. Providing public relations counselling for the Advancement Campaign was a special responsibility of the department last year under the supervision of William D. Downs Jr.

The upkeep and proper supervision of all University buildings and equipment was directed by Col. John T. Berry, in charge of plant maintenance.

Being assistant to the registrar required supervision of three full-time workers and 17 student helpers, keeping track of school files, and serving as the registrar's secretary. Handling chapel attendance records was a new duty for the registrar's office this year.

The cafeteria supervisor and dietician had to plan the school menus, buy the food and guide the staff of 24 full-time and 29 student employees. They served more than 1,800 meals a day, and a third line was opened this year to speed up service. An extra fifteen minutes was also added to the breakfast serving schedule.

The management of the OBU bookstore included the distribution of all books and supplies, art materials, sweat shirts, social club jewelry, and graduation goods.

All telephone communications were carried through the Ouachita switchboard office where the head operator and seven student employees handled calls from 7:30 a.m. until 11 every night. Middle-of-the-night rings were transferred to dorm mothers.

Finances supervised by business office

Guided by James Orr, vice president for finance, and Joseph A. Franz, assistant business manager, the business office prepared all payrolls, paid University bills, collected and accounted for the money, posted accounts, issued periodic statements on income and expenses and administered all government programs including ATAC, Upward Bound, National Defense Loans and College Work-Study.

In addition, the business office was responsible for campus maintenance, operation of the cafeteria, post office, dormitories, college transportation, bookstore, the University farm and stables and all other business affairs of the University.

With more than 85,000 volumes, plus stacks of pamphlets, film strips, recordings and a well-equipped audio-visual aids department, Riley Library provided students with spacious, well-lighted reading areas including dozens of carrels necessary for distraction-free study.

ATAC provides aid to school integration

The Arkansas Technical Assistance and Consultative Center (ATAC) is sponsored by Ouachita and housed on campus.

Opened in 1969 through a federal aid program, the center helps public schools comply with and adjust to integration laws.

ATAC offers several different kinds of help to administrators who ask for aid. Technical assistance is provided to solve the problem of drawing up school zones that comply with federal law and also to develop programs for getting emergency federal aid to get rearranged systems into working order.

The ATAC staff, headed by Dr. A. B. Wetherington, works with school administrators, school boards, teachers, students and even student teachers to make the classroom a better place to learn for children with varying cultural backgrounds.

ATAC worked with 121 Arkansas school districts last year alone.

Enrollment increases in graduate school

There were 21 full-time and 37 part-time graduate students enrolled in the Ouchita graduate school this year. The full-time enrollment was up seven over the year before.

Authorized in 1958, the graduate studies program now awards the degrees of master of music education and the master of science in education. The latter degree may be earned in either elementary or secondary education.

Departments offering courses in the graduate program include biology, chemistry, education, English, history, mathematics, music, physics, political science and sociology.

Dr. Dewey Chapel is dean of graduate studies and supervises a graduate faculty of 33.

Eight graduate assistants aided the OBU undergraduate faculty this year in department instruction and laboratories. They were Mrs. Glenda Aldridge, Mrs. Evelyn Good, Mrs. Marjorie Halbert, Richard Laber, Mrs. Julia Maglothin, Grandy Royston, Rev. A. William Terry, and Mrs. Lynelle Watts.

Enrollment increases in religious studies

"Increase" is the word characterizing the department of religion this year. The number of students enrolled in the department increased 15 per cent over that of last year, involving not only those students with majors, but also those enrolled in the general education courses conducted within the department.

The Ministerial Alliance, a fellowship of students who work in the field of religion, also experienced a rise in interest, attendance, and enrollment. Guest speakers included Rev. H. D. MacCarty, pastor of University Baptist Church in Fayetteville.

The department added to its staff Mr. William Elder who is currently working on his Ph. D., and is responsible for classes in Old Testament history.

The fall lecture series brought to our campus Dr. Eric Rust, professor of Christian Philosophy at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. He spoke in chapel, and presented lectures to various smaller groups.

Music enrollment hits all-time high

An all-time high of 55 freshmen enrolled in the School of Music last fall. In all, there were 125 music majors and eight graduate students.

The Ouachi-Tones made a USO summer tour of the Caribbean, toured the state in November and presented a spring concert.

Youth Choir Day in September drew 3,240 singers from more than 100 Baptist churches throughout Arkansas. They performed during half-time of the Ouachita-Southeast Oklahoma game at A. U. Williams Field.

Dr. Francis McBeth, Ouachita's composer in residence, won the coveted ASCAP award for the seventh straight year, and continued in his capacity as permanent conductor of the Arkansas Symphony Orchestra.

Spring activities included a church music workshop, a composer's symposium in March, the Madrigal Festival and a recital in Metropolitan Opera baritone Jerome Hines in April.

Mass media effects studied in journalism

Journalism students were introduced in the fall to newly structured reporting and public affairs reporting classes which stressed the relationships between mass media and the popular arts and their effects upon modern society. In the spring, emphasis was placed on basic and advanced writing techniques with an increased amount of attention given to the relaxed indepth style of the "New Journalism" instead of the more stilted "objective" approach of the past.

In addition to course work, students received practical experience working on the weekly Signal, the Ouachitonien, in the photography lab and in the news bureau and sports office.

William D. Downs Jr., chairman of the department, served as state sponsor of the Arkansas College Publications Association. This spring, Ouachita became president of the ACPA.

Student art was displayed this April in an exhibit sponsored each year by the art department. The "Best of Show" picture is placed on permanent display in Riley Library. Mrs. Marilyn Edwards was added to the art faculty to teach sculpture and public school arts and crafts.

Exploration of masterpieces in art, music and literature continued to undergird the humanities program, with lectures highlighted with prints and slides.

Writing rules eased in freshman English

"Free Writing," a new approach to Freshman English introduced in 1970 to liberate students from their traditional fear of composition, continued to flourish under the direction of Dr. Herman Sandford, director of the program.

Meeting around large tables in an informal atmosphere, the students read their papers to each other for mutual evaluation.

In addition to writing 15 to 20 essays, students kept journals in which they were asked to write at least two pages each week. At the end of the course, the journals were graded solely on the amount written in them.

Bill Crumpler, a 1965 Ouachita graduate, joined the faculty as an instructor in Freshman English and Literature in the Humanities.

Two new instructors were added to the speech department. Patsy Dickens, a 1970 OBU graduate and member of the Tigrette basketball team, returned to teach here after completing her master's degree at SMU. Ron Griffin, who received his master's degree from Baylor, was another new addition to the speech department.

Research programs flourish in sciences

The chemistry department, headed by Dr. Wayne Everett was involved in various forms of research this year. Dr. Everett finished a National Institute of Health project in protein research of protein, while Dr. Joe Nix completed a three-year, $40,000 project, funded by the Department of the Interior, involving studies on the distribution of trace metals in DeGray Lake.

Dr. Everett and Dr. Nix also spoke to high schools and civic clubs for both department and University recruiting purposes. The department has two sampling boats equipped with SONAR and other equipment which are valuable research assets.

Two new members joined the chemistry department this year including Dr. Joe Jeffers as a full-time member of the department, and Jim Gilbert, a graduate assistant in chemistry.

Led by Dr. Victor Oliver, the department of biology was also involved in research this year with Mr. Richard Brown studying the growth rate of perch in DeGray Lake. Several students were selected to Beta Beta Beta, a biology honor society.

Martin Tull's work in holography was a major project in the physics department. Holography is a type of photography which uses a laser camera for making three-dimensional pictures. Also during the year, Bell Telephone Company of Little Rock presented a program on holography.

Home Ec. and math prepare for future

Preparing young adults for homemaking responsibilities was the aim last year of the home economics department. Four faculty supervisors coordinated such department activities as field trips to the Arkansas Children's Colony outside Arkadelphia and to interior decorators around the state. The foods class provided refreshments for campus teas, and the clothing class modeled for the December OBU Style Show. The department also featured a marriage class for both men and women and a special home economics course for men only.

Eight department representatives were sent to the American Home Economics Association state convention in Little Rock. Ouachita's "Miss AHEA" for the year was Anna Faye Waldrum.

In January, the department was moved from Bailey Hall to the newly acquired Home Economics House on the corner by Flippen-Perrin dorm.

Math department activities included the return of William Allen from a year's leave at Northeastern Louisiana State College. While there, Mr. Allen studied computer sciences in preparation for the possible introduction of similar training in Ouachita's academic program. Fortran programming courses proposed for the spring and fall semesters this year included algorithms, basic programming and writing of programs for computer solution of numerical and non-numerical problems.

Machines added to business training

New business machines, including three electronic calculators and one mimeographing machine, were purchased for use in the office administration department this year and aided in the teaching of marketing, management, business law, corporate finance, accounting, and other subjects in the business field. Many students received on-the-job training from part time and holiday jobs.

Mrs. Helen Frazier, assistant professor of office administration, served throughout the year as president of the Arkansas Business Education Association. In early November, the business department gave a special recognition in Mrs. Frazier's honor for her being named the Outstanding Business Teacher of the Year in Arkansas. It was the second straight year she had won the award.

In January, the entire business department was moved from Bailey Hall to the second floor of Terral-Moore so that Bailey could be torn down to make room for the construction of the new student center building.

The Phi Beta Lambda business fraternity sold cloth calendars as a money-making project this year and had the organization's national president on campus for a mid-November program.

Involvement stressed by departments

Emphasis on involvement led students in the psychology department to work with handicapped residents at the Arkansas Children's Colony and take field trips to the state hospital in Benton, the Veteran's Administration Hospital and the state mental hospital in Little Rock.

Faculty members provided individual counseling for students at Ouachita and Henderson as well as for Arkadelphia residents.

Other department functions included psychological and vocational testing.

Accreditation for another ten years was granted to the department of teacher education by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Using a team teaching approach, the department boosted its student teaching program to near-record levels with 38 teacher trainees in the fall and 95 in the spring. Twelve library science students also practice taught during the year.

Study was done on a new teaching method called "mini-course," instruction by use of video tape.

Social sciences add new course, tutoring

An additional teacher, a new course, a voter survey and a tutoring service were the highlights of the social sciences division last year.

The history department added Ray Granade who came to Ouachita from Florida State University. Granade directed an academic skills development program which was aimed at increasing reading speed and comprehension, correcting writing problems and aiding in listening and oral communications. The department also offered a new course in the history of Vietnam and a professional seminar which did indepth studies dealing with such topics as the Civil War and Reconstruction, Imperialism, The New Deal and Vietnam.

Lt. Gov. Bob Riley divided his time between the classroom and the state capitol while Associate Professor Jim Ranchino doubled as a teacher and a TV political commentator for KATV.

The department of sociology developed a program in social work which provided a tutoring service for under privileged children.

ROTC unit remains as required program

Now in its eighty-fourth year, Ouachita's ROTC program remains as one of the two compulsory college training units in Arkansas.

Greater student participation than in previous years marked extracurricular activities such as the drill team, Rangers, rifle team, Color Guard and Pershing Rifles. A girls' drill team was reestablished along with the formation of a student volunteer military band.

Last summer, 18 Advance Corps cadets attended ROTC camp at Fort Riley, Kansas for the first time. Previously, Fort Sill, Oklahoma had been the site for the annual trek. The change came about due to the realignment of the Fourth and Fifth U.S. Armies.

Last fall, a petition presented to the OBU administration by a group of military science students resulted in emphasis being shifted from hair length to neatness and grooming for all OBU military science students.

Although the flight program was not in effect this year, it does remain in Ouachita's ROTC program.

Lt. Col. Otis Livingston began his first full year as OBU's professor of military science, coming here from a tour as a battalion commander in Vietnam. New instructors included Cpt. Don Jordan, Cpt. Robert McCloskey and SFC James A. Robertson.

Competition stressed in physical education

The value of competitive games, education, health and safety and the training of Christian athletes and teachers was stressed this year in the physical education department.

Possible changes in the department's activities and courses were considered by a curriculum committee composed of faculty and students.

Last spring the department established the first pocket billiards course in the state, and it remained in the curriculum this year. The department also revitalized the Physical Education Majors Club by meeting jointly with other colleges and sponsoring speakers throughout the year.

New additions to the department's staff this year included George Jones, assistant basketball coach and head baseball coach; Ron Newsome, director of intramurals and assistant football coach; and Tona Wright, volleyball and tennis coach.

New girls' drill team Marches in parades

The Girls' Drill Team, entitled "Tigress Royale," was a newly created organization on campus. As a drill team they marched in several parades in the fall. The spring semester brought more parades, local performances and attendance in out-of-state competitions.

The team was sponsored by Company N-7, Ouachita's chapter of the Pershing Rifles. Jenny Jordan served as team commander while Mrs. Larry Burton served as the advisor.

Ouachita's Men's Drill Team consists of students who enjoy drill techniques, tactics and constant practice. The group, which was formerly a part of the Pershing Rifles became more of a club which in the future hopes to involve itself in community affairs.

Once again the team made the annual trip to New Orleans and the Mardi Gras. Performances during the Christmas holidays and additional parade performances throughout the state rounded out the club's activities for the year. Drill Team commander was Bobby Hassel.

Student ROTC units represent University

The Color Guard's primary job is to carry the Ouachita colors and the U. S. flag in parades around the state, at football and basketball games, and in other special events. The Color Guard Commander sees to it that the colors are raised each morning over the Administration Building before 8.

Pershing Rifles is a national military fraternity open to outstanding military cadets. Each company attends two conference meetings annually plus one Regimental Assembly where members compete in several military events.

The Rifle Team is open to those interested in improving their marksmanship and learning firearm safety precautions.

The Rangers is composed of those who have shown an interest in developing their leadership abilities. These men are given class work and application of radio-telephone procedures, map reading and elementary hand-to-hand combat. One of the most important aspects of Ranger training is the unconventional warfare instruction such as small unit tactics.

Singing men alter music and outfits

A more vibrant approach to church music and new outfits added to the effect of the Singing Men as they presented programs throughout the state in churches, high schools and civic meetings.

This year the group presented more high school programs than ever before, and when they were not performing, the Singing Men were telling the students a little about Ouachita. In April they toured high schools in Louisiana and Arkansas.

On campus they gave a chapel program and a spring concert entitled "Spring Spectacular."

This summer the Singing Men plan to spend a week in Houston singing in various churches.

Ouachi-Tones active in advancement drive

The Ouachi-Tones made numerous appearances throughout the state this year for the Ouachita Advancement Campaign. The group, composed of ten singers and a pianist, performed for civic clubs, conventions, churches, and high school audiences. Last summer they made a USO tour through Panama, Puerto Rico, Guantamano Bay, Cuba and islands in the Bahamas and West Indies.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Shambarger, the group presented a special chapel service in the fall, and their annual concert in the spring. They made approximately 35 appearances during the year. Members of the group were selected by Mrs. Shambarger.

Career groups seek additional knowledge

A society for student organists, Diapason is the Ouachita chapter of the American Guild of Organists. In addition to regular meetings the second Monday of every month, Diapason encourages its members to attend organ recitals in Little Rock and to present recitals of their own on campus.

A member of the National Federation of Music Clubs, the Musician's Guild seeks to promote greater interest among its student members in all aspects of music. Meeting once a month, the Guild encourages participation in the choral and instrumental organizations, attendance at all concerts and recitals and offers study courses to supplement work taken for credit. Miss Virginia Queen is faculty sponsor.

Introducing mathematical concepts beyond the range of the classroom is the aim of Sigma Gamma Sigma, a campus-wide organization of outstanding mathematics students. Requiring that members have six hours of math, SGS holds monthly meetings to provide students with the opportunity of discussing concepts and presenting ideas to improve the curriculum. New members were initiated this spring.

Requirements for membership in Gamma Sigma Epsilon, an honorary chemistry fraternity, include a 3.0 GPA in at least twelve hours of chemistry. Last spring two members, Gabriel Srouji and Neal Sumnerlin, attended the national GSE convention at Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus.

Players, accountants prepare for careers

The National Collegiate Players attempt to further interest in dramatics in institutions of higher education and promote a sense of devotion and cooperation among those involved in the theater arts. The Players accomplished this by producing, directing, or otherwise participating in plays on the Ouachita campus.

The Accounting Club is an organization designed to help future accountants prepare for problems they will later encounter.

OBU honor societies go beyond classroom

Alpha Chi is made up of the upper ten percent of the junior and senior classes. Four members attended the national convention at Memphis, Tennessee. Initiation of new members was held in the spring.

Sigma Tau Delta was created to promote the mastery of written expression, encourage worthwhile reading, and foster a spirit of fellowship among men and women specializing in English. Requirements for membership are 12 hours and a 2.5 average in English.

The chapter's activities included editing Ripples, the campus literary magazine, and a banquet in the spring to induct new members.

Professional groups add to core subjects

The Student National Education Association (SNEA) is composed of students who are planning to enter the teaching profession. Monthly meetings were held to discuss career opportunities and problems facing educators.

SNEA sponsored a drop-in at the beginning of the fall semester for all those interested in joining. The association was represented at the annual AEA Convention in November. A special state-wide luncheon was also held with Ouachita being represented.

Phi Beta Lambda, an organization to promote an understanding of the business and industrial world, made visits to various businesses this year. They also visited the capitol to talk with Governor Dale Bumpers, heard visiting speakers, and conducted service projects throughout the community. The project for the year was selling 1972 calendars. In March, members of the organization participated in a Walk-a-thon for the March of Dimes, and attended the state Phi Beta Lambda Convention in Conway in April.

Service organizations assist worthy causes

The OBU Mental Health Club, the only recognized college mental health club in the state, had as its activities a rummage sale, fund raising for the Boy's Attention Home of Arkadelphia and the State Mental Health Association. The club also attended the state mental health convention in Little Rock.

The Collegiate Civitan Club was formed as a service organization, not only to serve the school but also the community. Among the activities of the Civitan Club were a project to help underprivileged children and to promote voter registration. The club strives to help promote good citizenship and participation in school and community activities.

AWS, AHEA active in campus programs

A fall style show, a school-wide drop-in and hosting of the annual convention of the Arkansas Association of Women Students in February were three of many more AWS activities this year.

The organization also sponsored a bridal showcase style show in the spring, ran an election for the Outstanding Senior Woman, and sent delegates to the IAWS convention in Chicago.

Janie Hampton was state AWS president.

Professionalism in home economics and keeping up with developments in the home economics field were primary aims of the AHEA.

Activities included monthly programs, a banquet in February and a Senior Breakfast in May.

Politics, Christianity, are group objectives

Participation in the national convention of Young Democrats held in Hot Springs last year and lending assistance to the voter registration drive in Arkansas were among the significant activities of the Young Democrats chapter at Ouachita.

Speakers during the year included Gov. Dale Bumpers, Lt. Gov. Bob Riley, Congressman David Pryor, prosecuting attorney Jim Guy Tucker and Herbie Branscum, state president of the Y.D.'s. The club also sent delegates to the district meeting in New Orleans and will be represented this summer during the national convention in Miami.

College athlete's who were looking for someone to "pray and share their faith with," joined together in the fall and organized the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. This organization was opened to any athlete who was interested or had lettered in high school or college athletics. They held their meetings bi-weekly in Rockefeller Gym. Jim Hamilton served as president and Bill Vining Jr. served as vice president. Mr. Doug Dickens was their sponsor.

Religious groups emphasize activities

The Baptist Student Union's fall semester activities included a watermelon supper, a hay ride, a retreat and the state BSU convention. During the spring, the group sponsored Religious Emphasis Week, a 2-day rock festival, and various mission and revival teams. They also attended the state BSU retreat at Camp Paron near Little Rock.

In spreading the Christian message through music, the New Mind Singers presented Ralph Carmicheal's musical "Natural High" as a chapel program and also sang at the State Reform School for Girls.

The Religious Drama Guild was chartered in 1970 as a Christian service organization which promotes the gospel through drama. Since its founding, the members have traveled over 50,000 miles, presenting plays to approximately 75 churches.

The Ministerial Alliance was organized to encourage Christian fellowship and knowledge of the Bible. Members heard various guest speakers in their bi-monthly meetings and sponsored Noon Day programs with the BSU.

"Doorways" is theme of yearbook

With "Doorways" as a theme, the OUACHITONIAN staff got together to produce a permanent record of the 1971-72 college year. Tommy Chaffin, spring editor of the 1971 OUACHITONIAN, returned to edit the 1972 yearbook.

The 1972 OUACHITONIAN featured several "new looks." Student addresses were added to the index, more color pictures and duotones were in the opening section, and the social club section was done in color.

The staff found their new offices easier and more comfortable to work in.

Newspaper features format innovations

Under the leadership of editor Brenda Dierker the SIGNAL appeared as a weekly newspaper this year. The publication offered several major changes in format, including a News Brief column on the front page giving information briefs and quick previews of coming events.

A column discussing popular records was another new weekly feature, as was the syndicated cartoon, "Frankly Speaking."

OBU journalism students served as reporters for the paper, and provided feature articles, columns and technical help.

son, James Pruitt, Larry Grayson. SECOND ROW: Shirley Grant, Canon Lamont, Marsha Elks, Betty Sue Jones, Kathy White, Peggy King, Peggy Hellen, Bobbie Medford, Debbie Tate, Gay Gladden, Bill Brown. FRONT ROW:

Vocal groups appear in regional concerts

The Ouachita Singers, a group of vocalists composed of music and non-music majors who are selected through audition, performed through-out the state as well as in surrounding states. The Singers performed in a Christmas concert, at the Arkansas Baptist Convention, and went on a state tour in April.

The Ouachita Madrigals, a group which sings and performs 15th and 16th century music in period costume, presented a musical drama, "The Unicorn," in December. In March, the Madrigals hosted the Madrigal Festival. The festival attracted Madrigal groups from all over Arkansas.

The OBU Choir, composed of approximately 100 members, performed Vivaldi's composition "Gloria" in December and held an outdoor concert in the spring.

The OBU choir, which boasts over 100 members, is shown presenting Vivaldi's GLORIA during the Christmas concert. The choir, conducted by Ray Holcomb, was accompanied by a small orchestra.

Alana Ichter, Linda Selph, Randy Woodfield, Phil Hardin, Kathy White, Glen Jackson, Karan Shank, John King, Cindy Floyd, Lois Kirkpatrick, Johnny Morgan.

Tiger Band performs on field and stage

The 91-member Tiger Band again played dual roles as a marching and concert unit.

During the fall, the marching band performed at all home football games and at the Southern State game at Magnolia. The concert band played for the Arkansas Baptist Convention in Little Rock.

In the spring, the concert band gave three outdoor concerts and three formal concerts, and later toured north central Arkansas for two days.

Other major activities for the year included sponsorship of the Region III high school marching contest.

Additional groups within the band included a brass quintet, a woodwind quintet, a flute ensemble, and a percussion ensemble. The band was under the direction of Mr. Marvin Lawson.

Band officers were David Henderson, president; Doug West, vice president; and Frances Eason, secretary-treasurer.

Student Senate

Student senate is a vital campus force

The student senate, composed of elected representatives of the student body, planned student activities and sponsored service and social functions.

Senate-sponsored projects this year were freshman orientation, Homecoming, Tiger Day, Twirp Week, the Freshman Mixer, Religious Emphasis Week, S.E.L.F. concerts, the Academic Banquet, football programs, Dad's Day, basketball and football radio broadcasts, Choir Day, Environmental Day, "Fast Day to Save a People", Intramural "Play" Day, the Red Cross Blood Drive, the cheerleaders and the Cheerleading Clinic, the pool and recreation rooms in the sub, movies and films, "Humanity Week", and the new Teacher-Course evaluation.

Bass

Racial understanding goal of BASS group

Now in its fourth year, BASS was created as an organization for blacks to promote mutual respect between black and white students, acknowledge the rich heritage of the black men in America and, in so doing, instill pride and dignity in that heritage.

Club activities this year included Black Emphasis Week which featured Ben Lawson and Cato Brooks as speakers, plus car washes, a talent show, a "Battle of the Choirs", an end-of-school function and participation in intramural athletics.

Circle K

Service emphasized by club membership

Circle K, collegiate branch of the national Kiwanis Club, sponsored the OUA-CHITONIAN Beauty Pageant to select four beauties to be featured in the 1972 OUA-CHITONIAN. Thirty-six contestants made this year's pageant the largest in its history.

Circle K aided in the Red Cross Blood Drive and the Arkadelphia Attention Home campaign. The members also worked at the Arkadelphia Children's Colony on a "big brother" basis. Other activities were the Mo-Ark District Convention in Jonesboro, several car washes, and the collection of clothing for the needy. Major Charles Watkins served as sponsor.

Sinfonia and SAI

Sinfonia hosts Choir Festival, SAI holds Candlelight Service

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and Sigma Alpha Iota are national music fraternities, Sinfonia for men and SAI for women.

Sinfonia sponsored the Arkansas High School Invitational Choir Festival at Ouachita this year, as well as the American Music Project. Sinfonia also attended the Province workshop.

Sinfonia's sister organization, Sigma Alpha Iota, was visited by the Mu Province president, and was represented at the SAI Convention in Atlanta Georgia. SAI also attended State Day at the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville. Other activities were the American Music Program, service as Community Concert ushers, SAI Repertoire Class, and the Christmas Candlelight Service. Spring pledging and the David Scott Memorial Concert were other activities. The Memorial Concert provides a scholarship for a voice major.

Rho Sigma

Rho Sigma sponsors two beauties boosts spirit, runs book exchange

Rho Sigma social fraternity, better known as the Red Shirts, enjoyed another successful year. The fall semester found the Shirts sponsoring two Ouachitonian Beauties, Donna Jo Connelly and Kathy Vining. Kathy, Red Shirt Sweetheart, was also chosen second runner-up in the Homecoming royalty. The Red Shirts once again boosted Tiger spirit with a spirit truck, several pep rallies, the usual cowbells, a torchlight parade and bonfire, the hoop, spirit signs, and two 48-hour bell rings.

The Tiger Spirit Jug went to the Shirts during both the Tech and HSC football games.

Other fall activities included the get-acquainted watermelon supper at the first of the year, the Womanless Wedding, the Ouachitonian Beauty Pageant reception, intramurals, the sale of Homecoming spirit ribbons, numerous bush parties, and the annual Christmas Party. Two schoolwide functions were also featured in the fall, one for Homecoming with the "Second Nature" providing the noise. Rho Sigma also placed first in social club competition in both the Arkadelphia Attention Home and Blood Donor drives.

The Red Shirts were busy during the spring semester with Rush Week, pledging, the Book Exchange, and the Annual Mr.-Miss O.B.U. Pageant. The Shirts were never too busy, however, for bush parties, Happy Hours, victory parties, or Tiger ballgames.

Rho Sigma presented its Rab Rogers Football Award to the Outstanding football player of the OBU-HSC game between halves at the home OBU-HSC basketball game. The Spring Outing rounded out the social year as Rho Sigma continued its high scholastic average. Last year the Red Shirts won the men's social club scholastic trophy for maintaining the highest scholastic average.

Alpha Omega Eta

Boosted membership aids club activities

The Alpha Omega Eta social club started the year with a larger membership, kicking off their activities with the year's first pep rally before the Ouachita-Bishop College football game. The club also sponsored sweetheart Veda Smith in the Ouachitonian Beauty Pageant and in the Homecoming Queen competition. Other fall activities were a freshman orientation booth during registration, intramurals, spirit signs and the Christmas Banquet, held this year in Hot Springs.

During the spring semester, the AOE's were busier than ever. Car washes, rush parties, pledging, bush parties, intramurals, and the sale of protective yearbook covers kept them on the go. The Girls' Invitational Basketball and Volleyball Tournaments were also sponsored by the AOE's. A new project appeared during the spring, the campus-wide Talent Show. Members gathered for their Spring Outing to close the year's activities.

Veda Smith, AOE's homecoming queen contestant, is escorted onto the football field by AOE's president Stan Owen.

Sigma Alpha Sigma EAE 'goes country,' wins intramurals titles

The Sigma Alpha Sigma, better known as the "S's", sponsored a wide range of activities during the 1971-72 semesters. The club held a take-off on the Grand Ole Opry, the Grand "S" Opry, during Twirp Week. Later, during the fall semester, the "S's" promoted the Sigma Alpha Sigma Talent Show with a raffle for a stereo. Other fall activities included pep skits, bush parties, and for a service project, the Christmas party for needy boys. SAS also sponsored the pep cannon fired for touchdowns at all home games, and awarded the Jerry Forehand Memorial Basketball Award to the outstanding senior basketball player.

The year the S's captured the volleyball and football championships in intramural competition.

Beauty contest representatives for the Sigma Alpha Sigma were Anna Fay Waldrum in the homecoming parade, and Holly Hicks in the Ouachitonian Beauty Pageant.

Chi Delta

Pep stunts enliven second year activity

Chi Delta Social Club was formed December 1, 1970 to fulfill the need for another girl's social club. Six Gamma Phis, six E.E.E.'s and six independents were the charter members. Cornflower blue and yellow are the club colors, and the club flower is the daisy. The owl is their special symbol.

Activities for Chi Delta during the fall semester included the "victory machine" pep rally, spirit signs and pep stunts such as "Jump on HSC" trampoline marathon, their second place homecoming float, the nostalgic "Golden Days of Radio", the sale of "Sweet Shot" breath freshener, and the Halloween party for needy kids in cooperation with the Gamma Phis and E. E. E.'s, the Christmas Banquet at the Olde West Dinner Theater in Little Rock finished the list of fall activities.

Chi Delta's new cornflower blue blazer suits appeared in the spring. Spring activities such as rush and pledging busied the Chi Delts in their second year. At the end of the semester the second annual Spring Outing closed out a successful year.

Gamma Phi

Gamma Phi sponsors annual Sadie Hawkins

Gamma Phi was founded March 2, 1944 on the Ouachita campus. Club colors are orchid and silver, and the Indian is the club's symbol.

"Purple Power!" reigned again this year as the Gammatas won the Tiger Spirit Jug during the girls' social club competition. A pep rally and countless spirit signs rounded out the Gamma's contribution to Tiger Spirit.

First semester activities for the Gamma Phi's included the annual Sadie Hawkins Day during Twirp Week. Christmas cards and a huge Christmas tree for the campus helped promote the holiday season just before the semester break. A traditional Christmas Banquet also added sparkle to the season for Gammatas and their dates. A "Thank You" wiener roast at the city park was held for those who assisted the Gammatas during the semester.

Rush Week and pledging filled the second semester calendar. The annual Spring Outing closed the social year for Gamma Phi.

EEE

Parties, projects highlight E's year

The EEE social club was organized in 1926 and is the oldest girl's club on campus. Club colors are red and white, the flower is red rose and their mascot is Mickey Mouse.

EEE started the year with a house party in Hot Springs followed by a school-wide "Mickey Mouse Birthday Party." As a service project, the E's, Gamma Phi's and Chi Delta's jointly gave a Halloween party for Arkadelphia children. Homecoming brought a first-place float with the theme "Those Magnificent Tigers and Their Victory Machine." In addition to their two annual projects, Coolside of Yuletide and the Fumes, the E's added a powder puff football game later in the semester as a new club activity. Rush, pledging, and the Spring Outing were included in spring activities.

OBU Cheerleaders enlarge squad size

With the addition of six male cheerleaders approved by the student body, Ouachita's cheerleading squad was expanded to 15 last year. To give a greater representation to the blacks on campus, two were added to the squad. Support for all University athletic activities was provided by the cheerleaders, and weekly pep rallies were held to build and maintain the vitally important Ouachita spirit.

OUACHITA vs. BISHOP COLLEGE — In the season opener, OBU made the trip to Dallas a worthwhile affair, as they won the "Battle of the Tigers" 21-6. Johnnie Baker, David Dumond, and Ray Estes each hit paydirt to pace the Tigers' win.

OUACHITA vs. SOUTHEAST OKLAHOMA — Charles Carozza caught a touchdown pass and returned a punt 61 yards for another score as the Tigers came from behind in their home opener to whip the Savages, 20-7.

OUACHITA vs. MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE — The Tigers shook off their first-half doldrums as they erupted for four touchdowns in the second half. The OBU defense recorded their lone shut-out of the season in the 28-0 triumph over the Choctaws.

OUACHITA vs. U. of ARKANSAS at MONTICELLO — Before the home crowd, the Tigers rallied from an early 7-0 deficit to down the Boll Weevils, 20-7, in the initial AIC game of the season. Charles Carozza hauled in a Barry Bennett pass for one touchdown and Johnnie Baker skirted 11 yards for the other while Bruce Efrid contributed two field goals for the Tiger cause.

OPPOSITE TOP: With Bob Cini leading the blocking, Charles Carozza turns a punt return into a big gain in a win over Mississippi College. OPPOSITE BOTTOM — L-R: Managers for this year's team were Bobby Robinson, Roscoe Stidman, Tom Andrews, and Ernest Romero. TOP: Bob Cini chases UAM quarterback Danny Maloy in a 20-7 win for the Tigers. RIGHT: Bob Coatner, Leigh Hargis and Bobby Freeze throw a Southeastern Oklahoma runner for a loss. BOTTOM: With Glen McFadden leading the blocking, Johnnie Baker grounds out yardage against UAM.

OUACHITA vs. AM&N — The Golden Lions handed the Tigers their first loss of the year as they cashed in on OBU errors for three last quarter touchdowns. Bruce Efird again kicked two field goals and David Crowley and Charles Carozza scored touchdowns to give the Tigers a 19-14 lead before falling, 33-19.

OUACHITA vs. HARDING — The Tiger defense held the Bisons at the goal line twice and Barry Bennett hit Charles Carozza for two touchdowns while Johnnie Baker scored one more in OBU's 21-19 victory.

OUACHITA vs. SCA — Barry Bennett threw two touchdown passes and kicked a 48-yard field goal as the Tigers trounced the Bears, 31-14. Tailback Johnnie Baker injured his knee in the game.

Tigers finish third in AIC competition

OUACHITA vs. ARKANSAS TECH — The Tigers went to Russellville to take on the Tech Wonderboys, the NAIA's no. 1 ranked team. Ouachita played tough and trailed only 7-3 after one quarter on the strength of Bruce Efirid's field goal backed by touchdowns by Phil Baker in the third quarter and David Crowley and David Dumond in the fourth quarter. But a series of long gainers by Tech finally killed the Tigers hopes, however, as the Wonderboys took it 42-26.

OUACHITA vs. SOUTHERN STATE — The Mulerider's league-leading defense stopped the Bengal's offensive from the start. The Tigers were held to 100 yards during the game and were unable to threaten the Mulerider goal until late in the fourth quarter. The drive, however, was short-lived as two penalties chilled the effort and the Muleriders rumbled on to a 21-0 defeat for Ouachita.

OUACHITA vs. HENDERSON — In the first few minutes, Henderson jumped to a 7-0 lead on a one-yard sneak by quarterback Lewis Pryor. The Tigers then mounted a late first-half drive that knotted the score when Barry Bennett hit Charles Carozza on a 14-yard pass. Johnnie Baker then returned to action and headed the Tigers to a 14-point lead in the second half on two touchdown sprints. Pryor sneaked across for his second touchdown midway through the fourth quarter for the final score of the game. But the decisive play came when Leigh Hargis caused a Reddie fumble in the closing seconds of the battle of the ravine to preserve a 21-14 decision for Ouachita.

Basketball

Tigers stay on top in AIC Competition

Returning four starters from an AIC contender the year before, the Tigers streaked through the 1971-72 campaign to wind up near or on the top of the conference standings by season's end. A brilliant start and a continuation of strong play through the year assured OBU a spot in the NAIA District 17 Tournament and a shot at the National Championships in Kansas City.

The Tigers proved themselves early as a powerhouse by reeling off 10 straight victories to open the year, highlighted by two narrow triumphs over arch-rival Henderson State College. The Southern State Muleriders brought the streak to an end in the finals of the Kiwanis Tournament, 71-70.

The loss to SSC did not hurt the Tigers' conference mark and OBU launched a nine-game AIC winning streak including victories over SSC and Arkansas AM&N before an overtime loss to Arkansas Tech ruined the chances for a perfect mark.

OBU rebounded from the setback and reached as high as eighth in the NAIA poll before the season's closer with the Wonder Boys of Tech, with Kansas City in sight.

Tigerettes

Tigerettes are third in national rankings

The Tigerettes, coached by Miss Carolyn Moffat, ranked third nationally, and posted a 17-6 regular season record.

After winning the season opener against Dallas Baptist College, the Tigerettes followed with a five-game win streak, defeating Murray State College and J.F.K. College to close out December's competition.

In January, the Tigerettes opened with victories over Seminole Junior College and Raytown College. Seminole again fell to the OBU girls in a two-game series later in the month, and the Tigerettes picked another victory against Southern State. To end January's competition and to highlight the year, the Tigerettes played host to the girl's basketball team of the Republic of China in a two-game set, winning the first but losing the second.

In their final month of play, the Tigerettes were beaten by Wayland Baptist College in a two-game match. They followed up with victories over Murray State College and Southern State, but failed to win over Raytown College in a two-game series which ended the regular season.

son, Jeanette Sciba, Rita Edwards, Pegg Lantz, Miss Carolyn Moffat, coach.

Sharks win second in AIC competition

Coached by Marv Stevens, the 1971-72 Tiger Sharks finished in second place in AIC regular season competition.

Freshman Ed Leugemors led the AIC in the 200-yard breast stroke and set a Ouachita record. Other Ouachita records were set by freshman Robbie Doye in the 500 and 1000-yard free style and by freshman Mark Hedden in 200-yard backstroke. The Sharks also set a new Ouachita mark in the 400-yard free-style relay.

Track

Track team takes second in AIC

The Tigers entered the 1971 track season with high hopes and expectations and these proved to be well-based as they placed second in the AIC meet in Little Rock by edging out Southern State College by one slim point, 48-47.

Leading the competition was AM&N with 84 points. Ouachita took four first places with Steve McMichael in the pole vault, Buzz Andrews in the 440-intermediate hurdles, and Tom Jones sweeping the shot put and discus events.

Cross-country

Cross-country team places 5th in AIC

The Ouachita Tiger's cross-country team made a good showing this year throughout the season and climaxed it by placing 5th in the AIC Meet held in Conway this spring.

Dr. Bob Gravett, head coach of the OBU track program, indicated that this was the best season the cross-country team had recorded.

Team wins crown with 20-12 season

The 1971 Tigers were the sole holders of the AIC championship title which gave them their fifth consecutive conference crown. Under the leadership of Coach Jake Shambarger, the Tigers finished with a conference mark of 11-5 and an overall record of 20-12.

Second baseman Bubba Cope was again named to ALL-AIC, teammates Buddy Adcock and Jim Hamilton were named to the ALL-AIC second team. Adcock, the Tigers pitcher, was also ranked No. 2 in the NAIA with a 5-0 record.

Doorways . . .
Where many led
Is often no longer important—
But there were doorways
Which did make a difference.

And in crossing those doorways,
Not all could meet success
On the other side.
But for those who made an honest attempt
There were rewards.

Knowledge gained,
Friendships won,
And for some . . .
Perhaps a small step
Toward wisdom.

A year . . .
A collection of entrances and exits . . .
Now memories.
And yet . . .
Many doorways still remain.

Doorways vary
With each individual—
And he must never forget
That the decisions required to cross them
Are ultimately his own.

The roadway leads from the open door.
I see a bend
that will take me to encounters with countless strangers.
Will they be kind?
Will they share with me
the very reason
for our being here in the first place?
The very not knowing of it is dark yet brilliant in its promise.
What a beautifully frightening experience it is to step out of safe doorways into the mystery of this fleeting life.
Dear God, I hope to make the most of it.

Editor's Notes

It was the second time around for me, but it was by no means easier than the first. Even the fact that I had a good staff didn't help at times. I am thoroughly convinced that there is no easy way to put out a yearbook. But it's all over now except for the distribution.

To the average student, a yearbook may be something that seems to drop from mid-air (or from the back of a truck) to represent a year of campus life. As editor, I have seen ideas come from thin air but not in the form of a finished yearbook. Between the idea and the yearbook, there has been a great effort on the part of the staff to put together not just a book of pictures but a creative symbol of a school year. To the staff, this will not be merely so many glued-together sections but a page-by-page memory album. Memories of deadlines, of working during holidays, of working during times when it was sunny outside as well as when there was snow on the ground. All the work is worth it to see a book like this distributed to the student body who, after all, are the main characters.

Special thanks goes to Mr. William D. Downs Jr. who guided, advised, listened and became a learning post for all our troubles; Gordon Hale, Walsworth Publishing Company's finest representative; Connie Wilson, who served as my assistant editor; Ted Berry, who served as editor-at-large; to the photographers, Mark Pillow, David Lowery, Walter Thomas and Jim Veneman; and to Marshall Moore and Gene Adair for their time which they donated to write copy.

The pictures of this yearbook represent split-second images as caught by the lens of a camera. May these pictures as well as the editorial comment represent the entire life of Ouachita for this school year. It is my hope that this OUACHITONIAN will not be just a book to thumb through for a week, but
