Statement By the Foreign Mission Board Concerning Administration Of Relief Funds

At its semi-annual meeting in October the Foreign Mission Board carefully reviewed the administration of relief funds by the Relief Committee of the Board. After registering its unanimous support of the administration the Board requested that the following statement be made to our Southern Baptist constituency:

The Relief Committee of the Foreign Mission Board was set up on instructions of the Southern Baptist Convention to administer relief as a separate undertaking from our regular foreign missionary program. It was clearly understood that contributions received for relief were to be used to help feed and clothe destitute people in any areas where severe and desperate need existed.

From time to time, the Relief Committee has reported to Southern Baptists concerning the policies of its administration. In the May issue of The Baptist Program a report was given showing that its administration has been based upon the following principles: (1) To use relief funds in areas of greatest human destitution and misery. (2) To distribute relief through Baptist agencies and channels wherever they are available in areas of destitution. (3) To give priority to the needs of destitute Baptists in all areas where they can be reached. (4) In areas where no Baptist channels exist, the committee has sought to use the next most effective and dependable channels for reaching destitute people with help. In many cases, other channels had to be used to get help to various Baptist groups in Europe, with which our committee had no direct contact.

For a year or more following the surrender of Germany, relief, either in the form of money to be administered on the field or in the form of clothing and food, could be sent into Europe only through channels having government approval. Government authorities refused to certify individual denominational relief agencies. For this reason, an organization called Church World Service was formed and was given government recognition to handle relief supplies for the various denominations as they requested. Through this agency, the Relief Committee of the Foreign Mission Board was able to reach Baptist groups in Europe and thousands of other starving people many months earlier than they could have been reached through any other means. This organization was able to establish purchasing and shipping facilities, set up warehouses for receiving shipments in other lands, provide for clearing customs and securing entrance permits, and to arrange for many other details at a time when individual groups working separately could not possibly have done these things.

Among other agencies used by the Relief Committee of the Foreign Mission Board to send aid to areas of severe destitution where no Southern Baptist representatives were located were The Friends Service Committee, The American Bible Society, The Tolstoy Foundation, and the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society's Relief Committee. For a short period of time, one of the most severe shortages of food in all the world developed in India and Burma, where hundreds of thousands of people starved. The Relief Committee of the Foreign Mission Board had no shipping, purchasing, receiving, and distributing agencies of its own in that area. Therefore, aid was sent through the Relief Committee of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society of the Northern Baptist Convention.

Following the meeting of the Baptist World Alliance in Copenhagen in 1947, channels were set up for handling relief in Europe through the relief committee of the Baptist World Alliance.

All funds and materials contributed through the Relief Committee of the Foreign Mission Board are now distributed through Baptist relief channels in Europe and Asia. Urgent appeals are being made for immediate help for the following purposes: (1) Displaced Baptists in Europe, (2) Baptist refugees from the Balkans, (3) Baptists in Austria and Germany, (4) Baptists in Northern and Southern Europe, (5) shipments of clothing to Asia and Europe.

Layworkers' Revival

The Layworkers' Revival held in the Second Church, Little Rock, from October 24-31 is a new venture in evangelism. Laymen occupied the pulpit, giving their own personal interpretation of the Gospel and extending the invitation.

Visitation for personal soul winning was the major feature. The women met at 9:30 and at 1:30 each day and went out to visit. Men and business women had dinner at the church at 6:00 and visited from 6:30 to 7:45, returning in time for the public worship service at 8:00. Pastor M. Ray McKay says, "Our Layworkers' Revival revealed the deepest spiritual concern and devotion I have ever witnessed on the part of laymen and women. It was a heartening thing to have fellow-laborers assume equal responsibility with the pastor in the most important business of the church. Our two-fold aim was accomplished. We desired first of all to win the lost and second to increase the number and skill of our personal workers."

The revival speakers were: G. W. Blankenship, Second Church; Carey Selph, Mt. Ida; O. T. Goldsmith, Houston, Texas; C. Graham Smith, Second Church; Raymond Lindsey, Second Church; and W. L. Brawner, Robert Greene, and Clyde Hollis, Little Rock.

Friends Of Jesus

A Devotion by the Editor

"Ye are my friends."

It is an amazing truth that Jesus initiated the friendship between us and Himself. Someone has remarked, "He picked us out." And we visualize Him walking along the shore of the lake and seeing certain fishermen mending their nets, He calls to them, "Follow me." "I have picked you out for my friend." Or He passes by the tax collector's office and invites Matthew to be His friend, or it may be a man born blind, a leper, a demoniac, a leproser, Nicodemus, a rich Joseph.

His amazing capacity for friendship reaches out to us, for He initiates the amity which that friendship is based. Someone has remarked that no one discovered Him; He might have gone on forever making ploughs and simple household furniture never been discovered by us. But it was He who discovered us and invited us to be His friends. We feel His seeking, drawing us upon us, a warming, delightfully refreshing enveloping presence comes over us.

And it is not simply philanthropy which prompts Him to seek us out. It is because of a kinship of nature, like propensities of nature. He finds something compatible in our nature. He loves to have us near Him because we rest and refresh His spirit. In His presence we feel an invigorating sense of freedom even a boldness to claim His friendship and draw upon His resources for our needs. It is not an arrogant or selfish claim we make upon Him, but an intimate freedom as between those who share all things in common.

He lays hold upon the tiniest bit of our friendship in our hearts and decides that it is worth infinite pains to protect, to nourish and develop, though it be buried under a mass of rubbish and debris. He will graze it out of the heap of unworthy, loathsome, foul mass, bring it to light, cleanse and purify and renew it with His grace. He will guard that bit of genuine love so that the fullness of God's love and grace will bring out its beauty.

"Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.

"Henceforth I call you not servants; for the servant knoweth not what his lord doeth. I have called you friends; for all things which the Father has commanded me to do, I have heard of my Father I have made known unto you.

"Ye have not chosen me, but I have chosen you, and ordained you, that ye should bring forth fruit, and that your fruit should remain: that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it unto you." (John 15:14-16).

Christ Is The Answer

"Christ is the Answer." The very sound of those words should send a thrill through our beings; they should shock us out of our lethargy; they should challenge us to greater faith; they should assure us of the infinite resources at our command through Jesus Christ our Lord.

The words of this theme, "Christ is the Answer," remind us of the multitudinous questions which baffle us and confuse us, and which cause us to hesitate in giving our Christian testimony—questions which are common to all men the world around. We are reminded of the problems with which we labor and for which we find no adequate solutions—problems which are common to all men the world around.

These questions and problems disturb the individual in the privacy of his own consciousness; they disturb the home and often rob it of its tranquility; they disturb the relationships of human society and cause friction and strife; they disturb the affairs of State and produce disorder and frustration in the administration of political responsibility; they invade business and commerce and disturb the economic structure; they enter into international relations and produce fear, bitterness, and war.

It is the unanswered questions and the unsolved problems which produce a disordered life, a disordered society, a disordered world.

When a committee from Jerusalem came to John the Baptist with a lot of questions, he said, "There standeth one among you, whom ye know not." That is the crux of the whole matter. We have the answer to our questions and the solution to our problems at our fingertips, but the tragedy is that so often we know it not, or more often still, we reject the answer which is provided.

Jesus stands in the midst of us today—the risen, the regnant, the ever-living, the all-powerful Christ. He is the answer to all life's riddles, whether they pertain to the individual life, to the life of society in general, or to the whole world—"Christ is the Answer."

We are confronted with the searching, imperative question: Are we willing to apply the "answer" to the questions and problems of life? Or, not liking the "answer" which is Christ, are we trying to find some other answer to life's problems?

We are thinking particularly about our Baptist churches in Arkansas, and of our denominational program. "There standeth one among you." Must the concluding clause be added? . . . "Whom ye know not." If Christ is among us and we know Him, we will go to Him for the answers, and He will not leave us in doubt and confusion.

The danger which threatens our churches and our denomination is that we shall try to answer the questions with human wisdom and solve the problems with human skill instead of accepting the answers and solutions provided by Jesus.

The programs in the local churches will present no serious difficulties, if the churches acknowledge Him who "stands among you" as the "answer." When our churches accept "Christ is the Answer," their programs will experience a continuous expansion and the effectiveness of their ministries will ever increase.

The program of the denomination will present no serious difficulties, if the churches acknowledge Him who "stands among you" as the "answer." By accepting Christ who is the answer, we can constantly expand our denominational program and make our ministry through the agencies of the Convention continually more effective.

Instead of looking at Christ out of the shadows of the problems and difficulties, we should look at the problems and difficulties in the light of Christ.

If "Christ is the Answer," and we accept Him as such, we shall extend the hand of Christian ministry to all the world; we shall not become so absorbed in our local interests that we forget that all the world needs to know that "Christ is the Answer."

Christ is the only solution for the problems of the world; He is the only answer to Communism, materialism, and all the other isms which are deceiving and deluding the nations. He is the only answer to the cry for peace which rises from the hearts of men. Armed might has never brought peace to the world. While nations reject the only answer to the cry for peace, they are rattling the machines of war at each other.

Christ is ours. He is ours to solve life's problems, to meet life's difficulties, and to give us the peace of God. But He is ours also to give to the world. And this is a Must. We must give Christ to the world, or the world will destroy itself by its own sins.

"Christ is the Answer." It is our responsibility to apply that "answer" to life—to the life of all the world, to all the life of the world.

Thank You!

We are confident that we express the thanks and appreciation of the Baptists of the State to the Immanuel Church, Little Rock, and Pastor W. O. Vaught Jr., who will be hosts to the State Convention November 16-18. It is no small chore to provide facilities and accommodations for the meeting of the State Convention, even though entertainment is not provided by the host church. Yet, there are many other accommodations for the convenience of the messengers to the Convention which the host church must provide.

You will join me in saying "thank you" to the Immanuel Church and to Dr. Vaught,

New Superintendent And The Orphanage

We congratulate the trustees of the Botoms Baptist Orphanage on their selection of Harold C. Seefeldt as superintendent of the institution. And we bespeak for Superintendent Seefeldt the loyal co-operation of the Baptists of the State in providing the necessary resources for making the Orphanage a real home for the children.

We wish to pass on to the readers of the Arkansas Baptist excerpts from a letter which we received recently from Superintendent Seefeldt: "The needs of the Home are so great, but the interest is growing, and I feel that Arkansas Baptists are going to make this a real home for homeless children. Upon assuming our responsibilities here, we found a population of 80 children in the home. We found only four or five chairs in each building, and no tables that might be used for study; simple cot-like beds, many of them without spreads; and only one room with curtains."

Continuing, Mr. Seefeldt says, "We need several milch cows if the children are to have sufficient milk to drink. And if we are to meet the requirements of the Child Welfare Division and the State Board of Health, we must immediately do some renovating and painting."

"The people over the State have so many things which they are happy to share with our children, if they know about our needs. We need all kinds of canned goods, both dried and fresh food, meat, chickens, and staple groceries. There is also a great need for towels, sheets, and other linens. We need calves and cows for meat, also hay and other cow feed."

May we suggest to all readers of the Arkansas Baptist that you plan to make the Thanksgiving Offering of one day's pay to the Orphanage, and that you further make whatever contribution you can in the way of food stuffs or linens and other equipment for the Home or feed for the livestock. Obviously, the Baptists of the State are amply able to provide the Orphanage with the equipment and the means to care for the children and in a manner that will do credit to our denomination.

We can do this without in any wise weakening our support of other institutions or our Co-operative Program. Write to Superintendent H. C. Seefeldt for further information.

No Paper Next Week

There will be no issue of the Arkansas Baptist next week, November 25. Each year fifty issues of the paper are printed, omitting July 4 and December 25. This year has fifty-three Thursdays, making it necessary to omit one other issue. In order for the editorial staff to attend the Convention and give full reports this is the issue that it seems wise to omit.

The issue of December 2 will carry a report of the Convention.

Home Mission Building to Be Enlarged

By JOHN CAYLOR

The Home Mission Board has let a contract for the enlargement of its headquarters building from three stories to eight. It is expected that the additional stories, when completed, will bring in revenue equivalent to the operating expenses of the headquarters office. Funds for the construction of the additional stories are provided from amounts given to the Board for investment, only the income from which is to be used for operation expenses.

It is the conviction of members of the Board that more income for home missions can be secured by investing the money in the building than would accrue as a result of investment in bonds or other securities.

The construction is expected to be completed within a year.

Schools of Missions

Through Schools of Missions, which are becoming increasingly popular, missionaries are stirring the hearts of Southern Baptists and inspiring the churches to greater missionary effort. Mission books and pictures as used in the schools are also helping to inform Baptists concerning their own mission programs.

During the first ten months of this year there have been 148 Schools of Missions with a grand total attendance of 775,740.

In North Carolina a rural layman said, concerning a School of Missions, "This is the greatest something that has come our way. Some few of us have heard missionaries at Ridgecrest and wished all of our church could have been there. This week we have had a Ridgecrest in our church."

In a west Texas city, following a missionary's address, many said, "This has revived our church and blessed every life. We shall forever feel and do differently about our missionaries."

In Wilmington Association in North Carolina, the total attendance hearing the missionaries in the school was 13,444. From Spartanburg, South Carolina, comes a gratifying report of a grand total attendance of 15,000. Young churches in Los Angeles, California, proved that they could conduct a simultaneous School of Missions just as effectively as their eastern elders and respond even more readily to missionary messages.

Key men in the School of Missions programs are the state promotional men. Most of the states of the convention now have assigned individuals to promote this work.

Among those who have been designated to assist in the promotion of this program are: Collis Cunningham, Alabama; A. B. Barnes, Arizona; A. F. Crittendon, California; Frank K. Brasington, District of Columbia; Clifford Walker, Florida; Bernard King, Georgia; Noel Taylor, Illinois; W. H. Curl, Kentucky; N. J. Westmoreland, Kansas; Earle Bradley, J. C. Pipes, and E. L. Spivey, North Carolina; Sam Scantlan, Oklahoma; Charles F. Sims, South Carolina; E. K. Wiley, Tennessee; and A. C. Miller, Texas.

Programs that have been most successful have been handled through the state promoter who advises about dates and helps prevent conflicts. He also forwards requests for missionaries to Home and Foreign Boards contacts state missionaries.

If you would like for church to share in the blessing brought by the Schools of Missions, write the promotional in your State or to your Secretary for literature and assistance.

Schools of missions stir churches to support the missionaries.

New Mission Recruits

Among the newly appointed missionaries for the Home Mission Board are Brother and L. E. Johns to serve the Pindians at Blackwater, Arkansas. This young couple are of the tribe, and have been very active in their local church.

Brother and Mrs. Juan I. have gone to the Mexican field in Bryan, Texas, to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of I. Arms, Miss Evangelina Lopez, gone to Belen, New Mexico, to work in the kindergarten and the vacancy left by the extended sick leave of Mrs. Helen Har-

An SOS Call for Southern Baptist Chaplains

By ALFRED CARPENTER, Director of the Chaplains Commission

All branches of the service are in dire need of the type of ministry performed by our Southern Baptist preachers. In the Army the total Baptist quota is 35 of its goal. Southern Baptists are short 10. In the Navy we need 15 Baptist chaplains immediately.

The National Guard is in need of at least 20 Southern Baptist chaplains.

The urgent call is for young preachers in their early thirties. Numbers of former chaplains in the over-age bracket are retiring to duty.

Denominational endorsement is required for all branches of the service. Apply to Chaplains Commission, 161 Spring Street, N. E. Atlanta 3, Georgia.

Poetry in the Bible

By MRS. ROLAND LEATH

Since we are studying the literature contained in the Bible, we would naturally include poetry in our study. Poetry is one of the oldest and most impressive forms of literature. Many people get more thought and inspiration from poetry than any other form of writing. No one can doubt the value of a poem; all too many of us fail to read and appreciate poetry as we should. Because most translations of the Bible are in prose, we do not know, or else do not realize, that much of the Bible was first written in poetic form.

Some general comments on the poetry in the Bible are necessary as an introduction. The poetical books are Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, Song of Solomon, and Lamentations. Many of the books of prophecy contain an abundance of poetry. In fact, poetic portions are found from Genesis 4 all the way through the Bible, particularly in the Old Testament, and the first part of the New Testament.

The first poetry in the Bible is in Genesis 4:23; the next is in Exodus 15: 1-21, the song of Moses which exalted God as He delivered the Israelites from Pharaoh. Another song of deliverance is found in Judges 5:1-31; 1 Samuel 2:1-10 is the song of praise from Hannah upon the birth of her child, Samuel. There are the powerful Proverbs, the praising Psalms, and the songs of the Old Testament. A climatic poetic expression bursts from the throat of the handmaid, Mary, who praises God for selecting her to have a part in His redemption of the world through the birth of the Anointed One. This hymn of praise of Mary is known as the Magnificat.

Some poems are elegies or lamentations instead of songs of victory or praise and many of both kinds are in our Bible.

The Shepherd Psalm

The most beautiful songs or poems in the world are those about the Lord Jesus. Many think of poetry as dealing principally with sensual love. A great deal of that type of poetry is found in literature, but the sublime poetry of the Bible centers

Sunday School Lesson For November 21, 1948

Psalms 23; 24; 136:1-9

about the love of God. Psalms 22, 23, and 24, are on the great phases of the life of our Lord. The twenty-second Psalm is a picture of Him as He gives His life for His sheep; the twenty-third Psalm reveals the true shepherd heart of our Lord; the twenty-fourth Psalm portrays Him as the triumphant King of Glory.

In the midst of the storm, the temptation, the doubt, the sorrow, one has only to say to himself with conviction and meaning, "The Lord is MY Shepherd." Yes, He is our strength and comfort. The human shepherd, particularly of the Eastern countries, loves and understands his flock; he constantly watches for their safety and comfort; he rests with his own body between them and entrance to the sheepfold. If that, and much more, is true of those who care for the sheep, what about your Lord and mine? How He loves us, tenderly cares for us, and provides rest and guidance for our weary hearts and lives!

The Triumphant Psalm

"The earth is the Lord's." These forceful words open Psalm 24 and remind us of the small, insignificant beings who so boastfully speak of their possessions and places in the world. We are mere stewards, renters, leaseholders, pilgrims upon this earth. The Lord of Glory is the Great Owner. All that is here is His. "... the fulness thereof" indicates the absolute ownership of the Lord as to the hidden treasures of this world, the laws of nature, the potentialities of vegetation, the usefulness and power of animal life and the unique place of man. It is all His, not only the fulness of the earth's contents, but all who dwell upon the earth. Why is this His possession? "For He hath founded it upon the seas and established it upon the floods." Yes, he is Creator. We believe in the Biblical truth of creation according to Genesis. Man has no other explanation for it. Not only is this mighty God Creator, but He is the One who keeps everything in its place and has the entire universe in the hollow of His hand.

It is generally accepted that David wrote Psalm 24 when the Ark of the Covenant was brought from Kirjath-jearim where it had been in neglect, to the Tabernacle, which he had prepared for it on Mount Zion. He wrote this Psalm as a song of praise for this occasion and also for the triumph of the future King of Glory.

There is a way to such living from the righteousness of God. In Psalm 24 we can see also Christ the city. But, the psalmist looks as the Heir of the Father's blessings and the Perfect One who draws men upward.

In the climax of this Psalm the picture reveals the procession it reached the gates of Zion at the glory of the moment when the Ark of the Lord was carried into the city. But, the Psalmist looks beyond that day to see the glorious coming of the King in power.

HELP FOR Revivals

Southern Baptists are putting on tremendous revival plans for the next few years. May God breathe upon those plans! Here are important helps for all preachers who would preach in revival campaigns and who plan, organize and pray for revivals in their own churches. Here are "must" books by soul-winning preachers.

How to Have a Revival

A tremendous handbook on revivals by six of America's leading evangelists: Dr. Hyman Appelman, Dr. John R. Rice, Dr. Bob Jones, Sr., Dr. Joe Henry Hankins, Dr. Robert J. Wells, and Dr. Jesse Hendley. Deals with both power and practice, message and methods. 25 great chapters. Nothing on revivals comparable to this book has appeared in this generation.

It was selected by the National Association of Evangelists as one of the 25 best Christian books of the year.

"Through this book revival fire flames, Holy Ghost power pulsates, and concern for the lost weighs heavily. This book is more than How to Have a Revival. It is revival on paper. One cannot read this book thoughtfully without having his soul blessed and his heart stirred with desire to win the lost," says Dr. FARIS D. WHITESELL, M.A., Th.D., D.D., Professor Homiletics, Evangelism, and Pastoral Theology, Northern Baptist Seminary, Chicago.

"These addresses rank with the Lectures on Revival by Charles G. Finny, published years ago . . ." Dr. H. A. IRONSIDE, Litt. D., D.D. Pastor Moody Memorial Church, Chicago.

400 pages dealing with the preacher, the invitation, personal workers, music, visitation, the power of the Holy Spirit, etc. Price..... $3.00

The Soul-Winner's Fire

by Evangelist John R. Rice, D.D., Litt.D.

Eight messages on soul-winning passion and power to set the preacher's heart burning, to spread among Christians. Greatly used of God. 107 pages, clothbound.

Price ..... $1.25

Paper-bound copies of the above book in the famous Moody Colportage Library for distribution to soul winners in the church before revivals. Order a number.

Price, four for..... $1.00

Vest Pocket Companion For Soul Winners

The Ruin of a Christian by John R. Rice

Bible Messages That Reprove, Rebuke, Exhort, With All Long-suffering and Doctrine. Dr. Rice's book of convicting revival messages to Christians. Every preacher will find here abundant suggestions for sermons to Christians leading up to and beginning the revival.

The Christian Herald (300,000 circulation) says, "Here are sermons with all the humor, pathos and drama of Dwight Moody. Messages that bless and burn and challenge mightily."

DR. HYMAN APPELMAN says, "I read the book through in one sitting. It searched my soul, my life, my motives. The careful, prayerful reading of it is sure to lead to a rededication of all life to the Lord Jesus Christ. We preachers should delve into it first. We should then move heaven and earth to pass it around among all of our people.

"Everything John Rice writes is readable. THIS BOOK IS UNUSUALLY SO. Every chapter is eminently worthwhile. My own heart was especially stirred by the chapters on 'Lukewarmness,' on 'The Curse of Hidden Sins,' on 'Break Up Your Fallow Ground.'" 12 chapters, 178 pages. Price only..... $1.50

To The Arkansas Baptist State Convention 1948 Session

*Southern Baptist College
College City Branch
Walnut Ridge, Ark.*

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

November 3, 1948

Arkansas Baptist State Convention
1948 Session

Dear Brethren:

We note with interest that the Executive Board of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention has recommended Convention approval for an appropriation of $20,000 in the budget of the Convention for 1949 for this institution. Please be assured that we are deeply grateful for this consideration and that we shall endeavor to use this amount, if approved, in the very best possible manner to advance the cause of Christ as represented by the feeling of Arkansas Baptists.

The college is serving a large and growing constituency. Doubtless no college in all the Southland has such a challenging responsibility: There are over 1,000,000 lost people within 100 miles of Southern. Predominantly they are Baptist in preference. It is our hope that we can influence this growth in the northeast area and it shall be Baptist in fact. We believe that the existence of a missionary-minded, aggressive, Baptist college in this area will do more than any other single agency to bring that multitude to know Christ. The ministry of this college is now reaching many hundreds annually for the Lord and his churches. Your money spent through Southern Baptist College will be definitely missionary money.

Southern is a Baptist college. No member of the Board can occupy such position without being a member of a Southern Baptist affiliated church in good standing. It has no desire to be an independent or inter-denominational school in the least. We do not believe there is a school in the South more definitely committed to the New Testament ideals than this one. It is our purpose to always uphold the highest and best traditions of the Baptist fellowship. The college believes that the moral convictions of the Baptists should be lived up to without reservations. It is not our purpose to become just another college of worldly attitude. Our aim has been to be distinctively a Christian college of the cleanest sort.

Sincerely yours,
H. E. WILLIAMS, President.

A Day To Be Remembered ...But WILL You?

When you sit down to your own happy Thanksgiving Dinner this year and give thanks to God for His many blessings, you will find just a moment to think of our boys and girls who owe their happy Thanksgiving Dinner to you?

Then, will you think for a moment about the 93 children we have had to turn away from our door this year because we simply had not the funds to take them in?

This is the last opportunity we will have to call our Thanksgiving Offering to your attention. Your response HAS been generous this year, but we won't accomplish what we MUST accomplish unless every Baptist in Arkansas does his part. Is one day's pay too much to ask for the work we do?

"Keep Them in Your Heart"

PLANNED LIGHTING SPEEDS LEARNING!

Now that school work is well under way, and twilight comes earlier, you'll find it wise to check the lighting facilities where your child does his homework. Young eyes see easily and quickly when the lighting is planned for seeing—eye strain is lessened—and the result is better work and a better student.

And remember that older eyes, too, need good lighting for working, reading and playing. So remember our 3 sight-saving rules: 1. Get the right size bulb for the job you're doing; 2. Keep bulbs and reflectors clean; 3. Keep spare bulbs handy.
