Shelby Seabaugh

1993-2014

Joy. When no other words would come, joy was the one word everyone could agree on to describe Shelby Seabaugh. Even during a time of mourning, the memory of Shelby's joyous spirit was able to bring healing to her friends and family.

Junior Shelby Seabaugh, 21, unexpectedly passed away March 27, 2014.

Shelby, a Christian studies and philosophy double major from Magnolia, is survived by her parents, Dr. Michael and Laurie Seabaugh, and her siblings, Haydn and Gracen. She also is survived by her fiancé, Joshua Cassidy, and her grandparents, Dr. Rodney and Rosemary Griffin of Magnolia and Wayne and Glenda Seabaugh of Hot Springs Village.

Seabaugh was an active member across campus and brought her joyous light to each organization she was a part of. Seabaugh served on the Ouachita Student Foundation, was a member of the Pruet Sisterhood and the Carl Goodson Honor's Program, was a Tiger Network Scholar and was on the Dean's List. Seabaugh was also a member of the Women of EEE where she served as co-director of the 2013 winning Tiger Tunes Show, ShEEEp.

Seabaugh was a hard worker and had a brilliant mind. If she couldn't be found around campus one could be sure she was locked away in her room studying.

"For Shelby it wasn't an option to ever half-do something. It was always 110%," said Abby Baze, a junior psychology major from Mt. Vernon, Texas.

Classes and late night studying are the things that first brought together Seabaugh and her suitemate, Baze.

"She loved learning. I think that is one of the reasons why she really applied herself," said Baze. "There were several nights that we pulled all-nighters together writing or editing papers. When I would want to go to sleep she would be like 'No, you have to get this done. You are devoted to your studies.' She made it seem less dreadful."

Everyone who knew Seabaugh knew her commitment to her studies came second only to her love for the Lord. Seabaugh was happiest when she was able to combine the two.

"She loved her Bible classes, loved them," said Aaryn Elliot a junior early childhood education from Bentonville. Elliot was Seabaugh's counterpart in directing the year's winning Tiger Tunes show.

"When I think about her, I think about coffee, her reading her books and her writing her papers," said Elliot.

Just before spring break Seabaugh had finished writing the daily devotionals for Camp Siloam summer camp. She had also recently told Baze that she wanted to spend her life writing curriculum for a Christian organization.

Writing was just one of the many God given talents Seabaugh possessed. Those who knew Shelby spoke highly of her artistic abilities. Seabaugh could often be found in her dorm room painting or drawing.

"Sometimes when she was really stressed she would say, 'I'm just gonna draw.' I think it was therapeutic for her," said Baze.

"She would always say that she just wanted to live in a little house and drink tea and paint and write," said Anna Sikes, a junior Christian Studies major from Greenbrier. "She was an old soul. She appreciated things just because they were enjoyable."

Another of Seabaugh's gifts that many of her friends reflected on was her ability to make others feel loved. Many said they felt like they had known Shelby since they were young when in reality it had been a few years at most. She had the ability to make people open up because they knew they could trust her. Baze described her as "an unconditional positive regard."

"She was just so accepting of people and their personalities and their quirks," said Sikes. "I think that is why people felt so drawn to her so quickly."

Seabaugh's caring nature and serving spirit made her a friend to many.

"Shelby was the epitome of good friendship," said Baze. "Once I mentioned to Shelby that I needed her help with a poster for a sports event. I came into my room later that day and she had already made the entire poster. I could see her stuff still laying out, but I couldn't find her. I found her asleep in my bed on the top bunk."

"She was a lover of all and judgmental of none," said Micala Kocke, a junior biology major from Cabot. Seabaugh had been Kocke's roommate during their junior year. "She was passionate and loved to please those around her."

"I have never had a friendship like I had with Shelby. It really happened instantaneously," said Elliot. "Very quickly we were very intentional laying down what we were like as people. I had never done that with someone. I can't really explain it. It is not how a friendship normally works."

Beyond heartfelt conversations and intentional relationships, Seabaugh was a good friend because she just loved to have fun. Many of her friends recall Seabaugh inspired shenanigans revolving around late night food runs.

"One time she dragged me out of bed at 2 am to go get food with her. We literally wore pajamas to Waffle House," said Kocke. "She had on sheep sleep pants."

"She would sometimes burst into my room and be like 'Go with me to Taco Bell. I will buy you a taco,' and it would be like three in the morning," said Baze.

Aside from Seabaugh's well known inner qualities, her tiny stature was a physical quality that many remembered her for. People were often surprised at how such a small package could contain so much life and passion. Kocke recalled a time when Seabaugh's small frame and big love for goofiness came together to create a lasting memory.

"One time we locked her in my trunk to see if the 'kidnap' lever really worked," said Kocke. "It does."

All of Shelby's friends agreed that she would want to be remembered as a servant of the Lord and a lover of people.

"Above anything she would want to glorify the Lord through her life and through her death," said Elliot. "She would want to encourage people to be passionate about life and people."

"The first thing I knew about Shelby was her relationship with the Lord. It was very evident, but not in a showy way. It was evident in her actions and her words. She was selfless," said Baze. "I think she would want us to think of her in her joyful state, but not necessarily focus on her, but focus on the Lord through her."

Jaalen Watkins

1993-2014

Jaalen Watkins, a junior kinesiology major from Little Rock and a member of the Tiger football team, died from injuries sustained in a car accident on Thursday, July 3, in Little Rock.

Jaalen played high school football at Little Rock Christian before transferring to Joe T. Robinson and playing for the Senators. After being recruited by Northwest Missouri State University, Jaalen played at the University of Central Arkansas before transferring to Ouachita in the fall of 2013.

"Jaalen was a humble, free spirited guy that brought a smile to everyone's face on the football team," said teammate Brandon Marks. "He always gave thanks to the Lord and was a great friend that I will never forget."

Junior Delaney Thomas knew Jaalen well as a classmate at Robinson and at Ouachita. Their friendship began when Jaalen played football for Robinson and Delaney was a team manager. "Those were the best memories with Jaalen," said Delaney. She noted that the Senators had a successful season, and that Jaalen played a major role in the team's success. "Not only was he a key component on the field, he was a key in the locker room. He kept the guys laughing and kept them all close," she said. "Jaalen is the happiest person I've ever known.

He reaches out to everyone around him whether you're a peer, a parent or a stranger. Anyone who knows him will now be missing a huge smile in their life."

Dr. Jeff Root, dean of the school of humanities, taught Jaalen both semesters as he pursued a minor in mass communications. "It was more than a pleasure to teach Jaalen in Intro to Mass Communications last fall and Sports Journalism in the spring. He was a conscientious student and worked hard in the classes, but what I'll remember most about Jaalen was his demeanor. He was polite and courteous beyond measure. Jaalen was quiet in class, but he worked well with his fellow students and quickly formed friendships with many of them. I'll always remember Jaalen, and I'm sure that's true of the students who came to know him during his year at Ouachita."

Wow. I can't even begin to describe what a great experience it was to serve as the photo editor for Ouochito. I am so thankful to the department of communications for allowing me to lead the photo lab to produce pictures for all of the Ouochita publications. What. A. Job. Through all the tears, stress, laughs, late nights, deadlines and memories, I gained priceless real-world experience and new relationships. It was such a joy and privilege to be a part of such an awesome staff at the best university out there. I will miss you all! Make the most of your time at Ouachita, because it flies by faster than you realize. Peace out and go Tigers.

Justin: Thank you for always being my biggest fan and source of encouragement. Thanks for listening, wiping the tears, pushing me to work hard and challenging me to be a better leader with each day. You helped me push through and enjoy every minute of being photo editor. I love you!

Carli: Thanks for being my best friend and roommate and allowing me to be as weird as possible. You were my outlet of "fun," letting me relax from all the responsibility. Thank you for spontaneity, eating chocolate with me, sharing gallons of ice cream and long talks about life. I'm going to miss you more than words can say. Love you!

Rebecca Jones: Thank you so much for taking me on lunch dates, walking me through hard times, pouring out wisdom, teaching me how to be a good leader in the photo lab, and listening. You were one of the biggest encouragements in my life over the course of my time at Ouachita. I am thankful to have someone like you as a role model!

The Roots: I am so blessed by the both of you! I will always have such fond memories of staff hangouts at your house, Christmas parties and many laughs. Dr. Deb—thank you for your patience, understanding, laughs, and pushing me toward being all I can be. Dr. Jeff—thank you for advising me all four years of college. I probably wouldn't have graduated without your help.

Brooke and Trennis: I will miss all of the email exchanges about the image drive, pictures, special events on campus and meetings about the Circle. Well, maybe I won't miss all of that, but I sure did enjoy working with you two! Thank you for your understanding, help and encouragement. I am greatly blessed by you.

Tyler: I don't think words can express my gratitude for all of your hard work. You consistently made my job easier and made work fun! Thank you for always shooting events (sometimes last minute), being helpful with whatever needed to be done, and going above and beyond. You're going to make a great photo editor and can't wait to see the work you produce! Have a great senior year!

Heather & Kelsey: I could not have done it this year without you! You two were rock stars and made my job easier. Thank you for all of your hard work and dedication in the photo lab. I loved getting to know you two better and wish you the best of luck!

Practicum: I was so lucky to have such a great staff of photographers. You all worked so hard and helped me more than you will ever know! Also, you only have one more semester of practicum. Good work.

Aly: WE DID IT! Through the tears, stress, hard work, and laughs, the yearbook is finally complete! You did such a great job and I am so glad we were able to work together. Have a great senior year and keep up the hard work!

The Newsroom Staff: It's been real. I had so much fun with all of you in the office—from weird quotes from Noah, a new twitter account, decorating for Christmas, laughing, crying, and screaming, to random dance parties to get rid of the stress. I'm going to miss working and having inside jokes with all of you! Keep up the hard work and remember to laugh.

Ouachitonian Editor-in-Chief

As I sit down to write my editor's letter, I have no words. I have put so much into the book, that now I can't think of anything else to say. This opportunity has been a dream come true and this book is my baby. I only pray no one thinks I have that "ugly duckling child." I have been so blessed to be able to be a part of Ouachita history and join the Ouachitonian Editor family. I really expected to cry as I wrote this, but I didn't. Maybe it's because I have no tears for this book left or maybe it's because I get to do it all over again next year. This book was built on prayer, sleepless nights, diet coke binges, many many tears, Chick-fil-a, chocolate, a purple binder and lots of love and support from all my friends and family. I can't thank everyone enough who has helped me along the way, given me a hug when I needed it, or told me to snap out of it and get it together. I hope you enjoy this book Ouachita family- and if you don't, don't tell me.

The Roots: I don't think you both realize how amazing you two are. Mr. Dr. Root - Thank you for always keeping stocked with snack cakes, tracking down missing sports stories and always providing a laugh when I needed it. I am sorry I made your house smell like dead guacamole after our end of the year party and I still haven't given up on getting you to try hummus. It's going to happen next year. Mrs. Dr. Root - My boss, my therapist and my mistake catcher. Thank you for putting up with me and thank you for not yelling at me when my ideas were not so hot. We have been through computer crashes and a cover crisis, but we made it! The book is complete, but our time together is not. You can't get rid of me that easily.

Hannah: You were an amazing copy editor this year. "Story Time with Hannah" was a success and you made my job so much easier. Thank you for hunting down stories and magically making them longer when I asked. We have had so many fun times in the yearbook office together these past three years and now you are leaving me, but I am so proud of you for following your heart. We are leaving you on the card swipe next year, so you have no excuse not to visit. Besides we have to make more embarrassing videos for us to show our future children how cool we were in college.

Mauri, Jake Tori and Ben: Thank you for all your hard work this year. Thank you for fighting that senior-itis off until we were done and for finishing strong. Thank you for putting up with my crazy check lists - even if you didn't always use them. It's been great working on staff together for three years and I wish you all the best of luck in your post-grad lives!

Amber: My young grasshopper. You were awesome this year my freshie friend. Sorry about that one time I assigned you 17 spreads in three weeks. I'll never do that again, I promise. Thank you for always making me laugh, reassuring me that my layouts looked good and for just putting up with me in general. Our couch misses you, come over for a weekend sleepover sometime soon

Robert: Congratulations on winning that platinum circle for yearbook polls. Those awards are really hard to come by, you should be proud. Thank you for never saying "no", even when I asked ridiculous and sometimes impossible things of you this year. I loved all of our jam sessions and story times and look forward to many more.

Abbey: I think I probably gave you the most random assignments this year. Thank you so much always being willing to jump in wherever needed. You have been a joy to work with this year. Love you SEEEster.

Practicum: Thank you all for working so hard. The stories this year have been so great and you all have been a huge part of that. Thank you for trudging to my five minute meetings and for taking stories no one else wanted. We couldn't make the book without you.

Kristen: IT IS FINISHED! What a year it has been! Thank you for putting up with all my crazy photo requests and reshooting the people profiles 5 billion times. Through all the tears and stress we made it. Your ability to always remain positive amazes me. You are a light and we will miss you in the newsroom.

Emily T.: The Editor Suite has been a crazy ride this year. You with the Signal and me with the Ouachitonian, if we didn't share the Newsroom, we would probably never see each other. I am glad we have gotten to share the editor experience together. From paper fireplaces to spinning chair races to late night Lilie adventures, the Newsroom is really just an extension of our dorm room. I will never understand what people without offices do.

Micale: Thank you for being my break away from the Newsroom. You are always willing to listen to me and never complain when all I talk about at dinner are deadlines, layouts and office drama. Thank you for not hating me for all the times I have canceled lunch due to a "yearbook crisis." You are the greatest friend and I am so thankful to have you in my life.

Emily P.: Roommate, I am sorry I am never in the room. The yearbook runs my life. Thank you for not leaving me for someone you could actually see in the daylight. I am so glad you are a heavy sleeper or at least don't tell me that I wake you up when I come in the room 5:00 a.m. after deadline nights.

Ivana: I am so glad you came to live with us this year! I am sorry I was hardly in the room while you were here, but now as you look through the book you can understand where I always was. Thank you for always being concerned I wasn't getting enough sleep, you are too sweet. Your friendship is so special to me and I miss you. Come back to Americo soon!

A state of mind is the core of any entity. It motivates and encourages or tears down and defeats. The state of mind of an organization is the core of who it is, what it will accomplish and what it strives to become.

The Ouachita State of Mind is unique. Students from different countries, different cultures, different backgrounds and different beliefs all coming together to accomplish one common goal to become difference makers. That is the Ouachita State of Mind.
