CONSTITUTION

Article I.—The Name

The name of this body shall be "The Arkansas Baptist State Convention."

Article II.—The Purpose

The purpose of this Convention shall be to awaken and stimulate among the churches the greatest possible activity in evangelism, Christian education, and benevolent work throughout its bounds and to the ends of the earth; to cultivate closer co-operation among the churches and to promote concert of action in advancing all the interests of the Kingdom of God.

Article III.—Membership

Section 1. The Convention shall be composed of messengers from regular Baptist churches which are in sympathy with the principles and purposes of this Convention, and which desire to co-operate with the other churches through this Convention.

Section 2. Each co-operating church shall be entitled to three messengers, with one additional messenger for each additional one hundred members, or major fraction thereof above one hundred, provided however, that no church shall be entitled to a total of more than ten messengers.

Section 3. The Convention may appoint a committee on credentials at each session which shall make recommendations to the Convention with reference to seating messengers from any church not hitherto affiliated with the Convention.

Article IV.—Authority

Section 1. While independent and sovereign in its own sphere, this Convention shall never exercise any authority whatever over any church, nor shall it in any way interfere with the constitution of any church, or with the exercise of its functions as the only ecclesiastical body, but will cheerfully recognize and uphold the absolute independence of the churches.

Article V.—Officers

Section 1. The officers of this Convention shall be: President, First Vice-President, Second Vice-President, Recording Secretary and Treasurer. Each officer of the Convention shall be elected annually, except the Recording Secretary and Treasurer who shall be the same as the Executive Secretary of the Executive Board, and shall continue in office until his successor in office shall have been elected and qualified.

Section 2. It shall be the duty of the President to preside over the deliberations of the Convention and to discharge such other duties as may devolve upon the presiding officer of a deliberative body. He shall appoint all committees unless the Convention shall otherwise determine. In the absence of the President, one of the Vice-Presidents shall preside in his stead.

Section 3. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to keep a record of the proceedings of the Convention, to edit and arrange publication of a suitable number of the minutes for distribution among the churches, as the Convention may direct, as soon as reasonably possible after the close of the session. He shall file and keep in order all papers deemed important to the work of the Convention.

Article VI.—The Executive Board

Section 1. This Convention shall elect a Board of Trustees as provided for in the Convention's charter. This Board shall be known as the "The Executive Board of Arkansas Baptist State Convention." This Board shall be composed of one member from the bounds of each co-operating association with a membership up to 5,000, and one additional member for each additional 5,000 constituency, or major fraction thereof, provided, however, that no association shall be entitled to more than five (5) members. The state President and the Executive Secretary of Woman's Missionary Union shall be ex-officio members of the Executive Board. Upon the removal of any Executive Board member from the bounds of his or her association, his or her membership on the Executive Board ceases therewith; his or her successor in office may be named by the Nominating Committee of the Executive Board to hold office until the next meeting of the Convention. No member of this board shall hold any remunerative office under the Convention or any of its institutions. One-third of this board shall be elected annually to hold office for three years, and twenty (20) members shall constitute a quorum. Any member of the Executive Board who misses all the Executive Board meetings and the Executive Board Committee meetings for one year shall be automatically dropped from membership on the Board.

Section 2. The Executive Board shall be constituted and empowered by the Convention as its business and legal agent to administer all business committed to it by the Convention, and to employ such paid agents as it may deem necessary in carrying out the missionary, educational, benevolent and financial enterprises of the Convention. The Executive Board shall raise, collect, receive and disburse all the funds of the Baptist Cooperative Program, both state and southwide. The office of the Executive Board shall be a clearing house for administering the business affairs of the Convention, and a headquarters for Baptist information. Its books, records and files shall at all times be open for the reference and inspection of any co-operating church which may desire to examine them.

Section 3. The Executive Board shall render to the Convention annually a complete and detailed statement of all its business for the year.

Article VII.—Trusteeships

The Convention shall elect trustees to manage and to operate its colleges, hospitals, orphanages and any other institutions it may possess, as follows:

Section 1. Ouachita College, 24; Arkansas Baptist Hospital, 18; Arkansas Baptist Home for Children, 18; Baptist Memorial Hospital, 9.

Section 2. One-third of the members of the Boards of Trustees shall be elected annually to serve for a term of three years.

Section 3. Each Board of Trustees shall elect from their membership a chairman and a recording secretary and such other officers as seems advisable.

Section 4. All trusteeships shall render to the Convention at each annual session complete and detailed reports of all transactions and business and any other activities for the year, and shall be subject to the direction of the Convention in all matters pertaining to administering the affairs of the institution with which their trusteeship is concerned.

Article VIII.—Operation of Agencies

Section 1. Each board, agency, and institution of this Convention shall submit to the Executive Board at its annual budget planning meeting, which is to be held prior to the annual meeting of the Convention, a detailed statement of its sources of income, and a budget of proposed expenditures for the ensuing year. When received and adopted by the Convention, these budgets shall become the basis for the operations for the ensuing year.

Article IX.—Meetings

Section 1. The Convention shall meet annually, "if God permit," on a date to be fixed by the Convention. The Executive Board is empowered in emergencies to call special sessions of the Convention and to change either the time or place of meeting or both should the occasion demand.

Article X.—Amendments

Section 1. This Constitution may be amended at any regular meeting of this Convention, two-thirds of the members voting concurring in the measure, except Article IV which shall remain forever unalterable in substance.

Section 2. Any proposed amendment to this Constitution shall be presented to the Convention in writing, for its consideration, upon the first day of the annual session, and may be voted on, on any subsequent day during the session, provided adequate publicity has been given in previous announcement.

BY-LAWS

In order to carry out the provisions of the Constitution, the following By-Laws are enacted for the government of the Convention.

1. Enrollment of Messengers

The Secretary of the Convention shall enroll, upon arrival, messengers who present proper credentials from the churches. These messengers, together with others who may be enrolled upon presentation of approved credentials during the session, shall constitute the Convention. Any contention concerning seating messengers shall be presented to a committee appointed by the President for recommendation to the Convention for its action.

2. Officers

The President, First Vice-President, and Second Vice-President shall be elected on the morning of the second day of the Convention, their terms of office to begin with the final session of the Convention; and the President shall appoint and announce a Nominating Committee to report at the next session of the Convention.

The election of all officers shall be by ballot; provided, however, there is only one nomination for the office, then the Secretary, or any other present, may be directed to cast the ballot of the entire assembly for the single nominee.

Each officer of the Convention shall be elected by a majority of all votes cast.

In case of removal from office, by death or otherwise, of the President, the Vice-President shall automatically succeed to the office of President in the order of their election. The President may not be elected for more than two consecutive terms.

The Treasurer of the Executive Board shall be also the Treasurer of the Convention.

All elected officers of this Convention shall be members of churches co-operating with this Convention. This must also apply to members of the Executive Board and the institutional boards of this Convention.

3. The Executive Board

The Executive Board, being the legal trustee of the Convention, shall be empowered by the Convention to administer all business committed to it by the Convention.

The Executive Board is empowered to act for the Convention between sessions of the Convention, provided that it shall never exercise any authority contrary to the expressed will of the Convention.

When any unforeseen emergency occurs in any of the affairs of the Convention, or in any of the interests it controls, that in the judgment of the Executive Board requires action before the next session of the Convention, the Executive Board shall have full authority to take such action as may seem necessary, and all interests concerned shall be governed by such action, provided the Executive Board shall make full report of all matters pertaining thereunto to the next session of the Convention for its approval, and provided further, that nothing in this article shall be construed as giving the Executive Board authority to execute any matter already committed by the Convention to any of its Boards of Trustees or its institutions unless such Board when so commissioned shall decline to act on the orders of the Convention.

All proposals requiring the expenditure of money by the convention, or the Executive Board of the Convention, from the annual budget, shall be considered by the Executive Board, before being presented to the Convention.

This Board shall be charged with the responsibility to have the books and financial affairs of each and all of the boards and institutions of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention audited annually by an accredited firm of auditors, all audits to be accessible to the Executive Board at its budget planning session, and to be included in the institution's report to the Convention.

Members of the Executive Board, having served two full terms of three years each shall not be eligible for re-election until as much as one year has elapsed.

The various associations of Arkansas, whose churches are affiliated with this Convention, may submit to the committee on nominations names of those whom they believe should be considered for membership on the Executive Board as members from that association.

4. Trusteeships

All trusteeships of this Convention shall be amenable to the Convention on all matters, through its Executive Board. No trusteeship shall conduct extra movements to raise money outside its regular revenue-producing sources, nor shall a deficit in running expense or debt be incurred without the approval of the Convention in session or of the Executive Board in case of aforementioned emergencies, except, as follows: When an emergency arises concerning the opportunity to purchase needed property for expansion, the president of the Convention, the president of the Executive Board, and the Executive Secretary of the Executive Board, (all three concurring) believing such an emergency exists and deeming it wise to incur indebtedness, may give the Trustees of an institution such permission, and make a full report to the Executive Board and to the next Convention in session.

Members of Boards of Trustees having served two full terms of three years each shall not be eligible for re-election until as much as one year has elapsed.

Not more than two (2) members of a Board of Trustees shall at the same time be members of the same local church, nor shall more than six (6) members reside in any one association.

A member of a Board of Trustees of one institution of the Convention may not at the same time be a member of any other Board of Trustees of another institution of the Convention.

No member of a Board of Trustees of any institution of this Convention may at the same time be a member of the Executive Board of the Convention.

5. Committee Members

1. A member filling an unexpired term not having served the full term of years as provided by the Constitution, shall be, at the discretion of the Nominating Committee, eligible for election to a full term.

2. No member of a commission or committee delegated to study or make recommendations concerning our institutions shall be a member of any Board of Trustees of such institutions.

3. All associational missionaries or mission pastors receiving all or part compensation from the Convention through Executive Board shall be considered employees of the Convention and shall not be members of any Convention or institutional board. The president of the Convention by virtue of his office shall be a member of the Executive Board for the duration of his term of office.

COMMITTEE REPORT ON THE DOCTRINE AND PRACTICE OF ORDINATION

The 1959 session of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention, assembled in Little Rock, adopted a motion calling for the president to appoint a committee "to study the doctrine and practice of ordination."

At the 1962 session President C. Z. Holland appointed the present committee to implement the 1959 directive from the convention.

Authority and responsibility for the ordination of men for the Gospel ministry is, and should continue to be, reserved to the churches. It is, however, within the province of the convention to draw up and recommend to the churches a set of basic principles for their consideration in setting aside men for the Gospel ministry. Therefore, we bring for the consideration of this convention the following statement of principles and practices which, if adopted, will be recommended to the churches for their consideration in ordaining men to preach the Gospel of Christ.

I. QUALIFICATIONS

1. Regeneration

The basic requisite for the minister is that he should have an experiential knowledge of God growing out of gracious conversion which abides in his life.

2. Call

A second requisite is that one give evidence that he is experiencing a call from God to the Gospel ministry.

3. Character and Maturity

The New Testament sets out basic character requisites for bishops and elders (I Tim. 3:1-7; Titus 1:5-9) among which are moral uprightness, marital integrity, sobriety, self-discipline, and emotional maturity and stability.

4. Reputation

The candidate must also be of good reputation, having proved himself in his home and community.

5. Gifts

There must be evidence of a capacity for teaching and interpreting unto men the truths of God's Word.

6. Doctrinal Integrity

Doctrinal integrity involves both correctness of doctrinal beliefs and advancement in the comprehension of Christian teachings. One might be unsound in doctrine either because of his ignorance of Bible teaching or from false interpretation.

II. PROCEDURES

1. Recognition

When one holds a continuing conviction that he is being called of God unto the Gospel ministry, he should make this known unto his church. He should seek opportunities for public witnessing before smaller groups, departments, and missions. The pastor, deacons, and other church leaders should feel obligated to observe carefully the candidate and note evidence, or lack of evidence, that he can meet basic standards for the ministry as suggested above.

2. Licensing

When a church is convinced that one of its members gives promise of qualifying for the Gospel ministry, it should issue to him a license to preach. This procedure indicates preliminary church approval of his ministry for a period of time during which the man may prove further his readiness to enter upon the Gospel ministry.

3. Ordination

(1) Call for ordination. Under normal circumstances one should be ordained after a church has called him to serve as pastor. When such a call has been extended, the church or pastor thereof which licensed him should be notified and asked for its evaluation of the candidate. In most instances one of the above-mentioned churches will be asked to ordain him. Generally, the church best qualified to evaluate the candidate should be expected to consider his ordination. The church in which he holds membership may request and authorize another church which is better acquainted with the candidate to ordain him. It is unwise for a church to ordain one who is not a member of that church unless requested and authorized to do so by the church of which he is a member.

(2) Ordaining Council. Personal invitations should normally be extended from the church through its pastor to Baptist pastors in the area, and to other pastors and ordained ministers personally interested in the man under consideration for ordination to sit on the examining and ordaining council.

There are good reasons why the examination should be conducted prior to any announcement of an ordination date. Such an arrangement would prevent embarrassment should the council fail to recommend that the candidate be ordained; and, incidentally, would encourage a more thorough examination.

Extreme care must be taken with the examination, making certain that the man to be ordained is (1) capable of giving an intelligible interpretation of his experience with God; (2) able to comprehend essential truth of the Scriptures; (3) sound in doctrine and practice; and (4) mentally and emotionally equipped to communicate Christian teachings unto other people.

In his invitation to other men to sit on the examining and ordaining council the pastor may at his discretion ask various ministers to direct the examination, lead the ordaining prayer, deliver brief charges to the churches, and preach the ordaining sermon. It is not good taste or sound practice for the candidate to invite men for these functions.

III. RECOGNITION

Those who participate in the function of an ordination service can do much to welcome a new man into the ministry, and make him conscious of the essential dignity of the office. We suggest the following:

1. Avoid Haste in Procedures. There should be no hurry in moving the candidate from the first recognition of his call into full ordination. (If he has been called to pastor a church he can preach, pray, witness, and conduct funerals. If he is depending on ordination to enable him to preach well he is due for disappointment, and the longer that disappointment is delayed the more likelihood there is that his mistaken views on ordination can be corrected.)

2. Plan a beautiful, meaningful, and spiritual service.

3. Get sister Baptist churches involved. The association has deep interests in the ordination of ministers. Its pastors sit on the examining and ordaining council—even pass on the fitness of the candidate for the ministry. The new minister will probably serve other churches during the course of his ministry. While authority for ordination rests with the local church, that authority should be exercised only after due consideration of the counsel and advice of other church leaders.

(1) Plan a recognition service at the annual association. Have a mature pastor, one well known and well received in the association, introduce pastors who have been ordained during the year, and review their progress in the ministry.

(2) Set up an advisory committee in the association. Make it small. To the members of such a committee, men new in the ministry would come for counsel and advice. The committee would encourage young men to pursue further education, and might, upon request, counsel with churches in planning ordination services.—Vester E. Wolber, Chairman, Arkadelphia; E. E. Griever, Hamburg; Sam Reeves, Arkadelphia; Emil Williams, Russellville; Marvin Gennings, Fort Smith; William T. Flynt, Conway.

46. Ed F. McDonald, Jr., Executive Secretary, Arkansas Baptist Foundation, brought the report of the Foundation. He paid tribute to C. Hamilton Moses and John L. Carter, veteran Board members who are retiring from the Board this year.

REPORT
ARKANSAS BAPTIST HISTORY COMMISSION

Organization

The Arkansas Baptist History Commission is an agency of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention. It is made up of nine members, one from each of the eight districts and a chairman as a member-at-large, elected by the state convention and subject to all provisions of the convention's constitution governing boards and commissions.

Purpose

The purpose of this commission is primarily to interest Baptists of Arkansas in their own history. More specifically, it aims to discover, collect, hold, and utilize historical materials of Baptists and of their work with a view to the production in the future of a comprehensive history which would trace each phase of work from its inception into the life of Baptists in Arkansas to a given date.

Holdings

The Commission holds in trust for the Executive Board of the convention sixty-two (62) reels of positive microfilm, which includes 4023 separate documents—histories, minutes, biographies—of Baptists in Arkansas. Materials for two more reels have been mailed for microfilming. It also holds a library of 320 books by or about Baptists. It has, in cooperation with Riley Library, collected associational minutes for more than sixty bound volumes of a decade or more in each volume. Eleven more volumes are at the bindery. The Library also holds a bound file of all minutes of the Southern Baptist Convention from 1845. It holds a bound file of minutes of the Arkansas Baptist State Convention from 1894 to date. Files of bulletins from over a hundred churches and associations in Arkansas have been started. Some form of history of each association other than the new one and two late consolidations are also on file. It also holds about a hundred biographical sketches of Baptist men and women in Arkansas.

Business

The Commission has held two meetings during the year—one in June and one during this convention week.

Objectives for 1963-64

The following are projections for the next convention year:

1. The election of a permanent secretary not on rotation nor on salary. This office would give continuity to the work in history.
2. The location of all individual, church, and association collections of historical materials.
3. The establishment of an exchange service between churches and associations, on the one hand, and the Commission, on the other.
4. The promotion of the Church Book of Remembrance by each church—biographical sketches of its prominent members both past and present. Materials for this book can be obtained from the Baptist Book Store, 408 Spring Street, Little Rock.

5. The completion of microfilm files of association minutes, as fast as needed copies may be found.
6. The obtaining of copies of association minutes from 1930 to date to be bound by associations and that by decades.
7. The election of a historian in each association.
8. At least two meetings of the Commission during the year.
9. The promotion of the Baptist History Honor Calendar.

The Commission suggests that a five or ten minute spot be allowed for history emphasis on each program of the associational monthly workers' conferences. This project does not necessitate additional meetings. The outline below is an effort to correlate regular history emphasis with the general emphasis throughout the year. Local variations should be freely made.

BAPTIST HISTORY HONOR CALENDAR FOR ASSOCIATIONS

- January—Stewardship Honor—First church that adopted a budget finance plan within the bounds of the association.
- February—Honor Community—Site of Baptist beginnings in the association's territory.

ADMINISTRATION

The Executive Board reports a steady gain in most every area of our work during 1963. However, the rate of advance has slowed down to a considerable degree in a number of areas in recent years. This fact requires that we must ever be engaged in an effort to devise new and better ways of making known "The Old, Old Story."

The "Pilot Program" being used through the Division of Religious Education is too young to be able to judge its effectiveness. The "Pilot Program" is but an attempt to do in a given area of our state with one man for the four departments involved what the four departments would do with four men for over the entire state. This is but an effort to decentralize our work and get our workers closer to the churches where the water hits the wheel in kingdom work.

Another action in this direction was begun when Brother R. A. Hill came to the Department of Missions-Evangelism, March 1, 1963, to direct the Church Development Program. This is a direct effort to give assistance to our smaller churches in developing a definite ministry through projects set up by the congregation. This effort is being received by our churches with enthusiasm.

Another step in the direction of strengthening our work was taken when the Executive Board voted to have the Division of Religious Education to start program budgeting in 1964, and to look with favor on the other Board programs doing the same in 1965. Program budgeting is based upon the felt needs in the churches. Measurable goals are established and projects are set up to help realize these goals. This method will enable us to determine the cost and the worth of the various programs of work.

The Saline County Camp located about one mile north of Paron, Arkansas, near Highway 9 is now under construction. We hope to have sufficient facilities completed in time for use next summer.

The camp located on Twelfth Street near Ferncliff which has been used for several years by the R. A.'s has been placed under the direction of the Race Relation's Department and will be used next summer as a camp for Negro Paptists. The Executive Board allocated $10,000.00 to the department for improvements which are now being made. This money was made possible through the offering for State Missions directed by Woman's Missionary Union. This is the only religious camp being conducted in our state for Negroes.

A junior pavilion was constructed at Siloam Springs for use this year. Several hundred dollars were spent on repairing the electrical equipment at the Assembly. During the past five years almost $50,000.00 has been spent in new buildings and other needed expansion to make our Assembly ministry more effective.

The Second Baptist Church, Little Rock, has given their dormitory to the Assembly with the stipulation that their church be permitted to use it one week each year.

The B. S. U. Department has been authorized to have plans drawn up for a permanent center near the campus of Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia. Construction on the first unit has been approved soon after January 1, 1964, when some additional money will be available from the 1963 Capital Needs budget.

Teams from the Baptist Building went into the following associations with a "Denominational Night" service during the month of May: Delta, Faulkner County, Tri-County, Big Creek, Central, Arkansas Valley, Greene County, Buckville, Rocky Bayou, Liberty, Carey and Conway-Perry. With the twenty-two associations covered last year this completed the "Denominational Night" services in all of the associations in the state which requested this service.

The Baptist Building site of approximately one and three-fourths acres on West Markham Street which was purchased just over two years ago was traded for a plot of approximately five acres four blocks farther west on Markham. The site obtained had recently been valued at $125,000.00. This plot will provide ample space for our needs for the foreseeable future.

The Executive Board authorized the Department of Missions-Evangelism to establish a ministry to the deaf. It likewise authorized this Department to work with the associational missionaries of the state in making a study of the associational boundaries looking to a strengthening of our associational ministry.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. That the churches magnify the Cooperative Program as the primary manner through which we can most effectively implement the carrying out of the Great Commission.
2. That our churches be urged to increase their contributions through the Cooperative Program for 1964 by fifteen percent over that of 1963. This is in accord with a previous Convention action designed to raise $300,000.00 through this means for the Ouachita Baptist Endowment Fund.
3. That the 4% increase limitation voted by the Convention in 1961 on categories I, II, and III of our State Budget be waived for 1964 in the amount of the $29,000.00 increase in the allocation for Retirement Dues over that of the 1963 budget, together with the additional sum of 36.5% which will go to causes outside of our state through the Cooperative Program.

ANNUITY BOARD
SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION
 1963 Report
 State of Arkansas

Our report to you for the year 1963 is one of encouragement.

	1962	1963
Churches Participating	434	508
Churches Paying 10%	161	269
Active Members	533	607
New Churches Enlisted	54	48
(First Nine Months)

The reporting of the percent of churches in the state has been changed. Up until this year our percentage of churches participating in the Protection Program was 61% for 1962. This was based on the number of our churches who contributed through the Co-operative Program at least four times in a calendar year, which was 950 churches. We had 61% of this number enlisted in the Protection Program. The basis for figuring the percentage of enlistment now is on the total number of churches in Arkansas, which is 1163. The percent of this total number of churches which have been enlisted is 44%. This will be the basis of reporting from now on.

In 1962, the Board paid total benefits to annuitants of $84,325.84 and to relief beneficiaries $5,514, making a total paid in 1962 of $89,839.84. The relief beneficiaries receiving assistance total 21 (6 ministers and 15 widows). The annuitants on our roll from Arkansas total 116 (87 ministers and 29 widows).

In the April meeting the Executive Committee of the Annuity Board voted that all members up to 40 years of age, who were participating in the Southern Baptist Protection Plan, now have a special death benefit up to $4,000 natural death, and up to $8,000 if killed accidentally. This benefit does not in any way affect the liberal widow, disability, or retirement provisions of the plan, and there is no additional charge for this added benefit.

We want to commend the faithful leadership in the churches for leading their congregations to participate in the Protection Program with their church staff and the convention.

ARKANSAS BAPTIST FOUNDATION

You can continue your Christian witness and stewardship after you have gone to be with Jesus. The Arkansas Baptist Foundation was incorporated by the State Convention to enable you to do just that. You have three ways from which to choose the plan that best suits your need. These are gifts of money or property, a bequest in your will, or life insurance.

According to the Bible we are stewards and must give an accounting unto God. Here on earth we are to bring God's tithe and our offerings for the support of our Master's work. Our accounting will be related to all of the material things that come into our stewardship while we live. We must give an account as to how we acquire, use, and leave these possessions. When a person fails to leave a will for the distribution of their property, then the estate is divided according to the laws of the state. When you wish to leave a portion of your estate to Christian causes there are several ways open. You might leave it as a direct gift to the agency, cause or institution. This means that when your gift is spent, your Christian witness ends.

Still another way is to give or leave it to some private corporation, bank, or even a private Foundation for the cause you favor. In such cases, a portion of the earnings of your gift is deducted for administrative costs and never reaches your chosen cause or institution.

The preferred way is to leave your gift to The Arkansas Baptist Foundation, in trust, for the cause you wish to remember. This means that your gift will be invested and only the interest used. In twenty years at five percent interest you will have given as much as the original gift and your money or property continues to witness for you until Jesus comes again. Not one cent of earnings is deducted for administration costs when the Arkansas Baptist Foundation is trustee.

Many Baptists find it helpful to consult with the Foundation about continuing their witness after death. Because of this, the assets of the Foundation have increased in the past two years from $83,209.01 to $118,280.21. Much more will be added in time as various wills are probated. Your Foundation Secretary and Board of Directors wish to express their appreciation for the help of the pastors. We cannot make a success without their support. Today many pastors are helping the Foundation to help their people continue their witness for Jesus after they have been called home.

ARKANSAS BAPTIST NEWSMAGAZINE

Erwin L. McDonald, Editor

Recent changes in the Arkansas Baptist Newsmagazine have been designed to improve the paper in both content and appearance. News items are more carefully edited to allow more use of special articles. There have been improvements, too, in layout and use of color. Letters from the people continue to be featured.

We continue to have one or two 32-page papers each month. Circulation has increased from 58,500 to 60,225 since last July 1. Of the 1,177 churches in the state, 753 now have the paper in their budgets for all their families.

Church Budget Plan subscriptions cost only 14¢ per family per month or $1.68 each per year. The Club Plan is composed of ten or more members who may secure the paper for the price of $1.75 each per year. Individual subscribers may secure the paper for $2.25 per year. Subscriptions to foreign address are $3.75 per year.

We will send the paper free for one month to all the families of any church that will consider putting the paper in the budget during that month. If they vote the paper in during that month, another month is free!

Rev. J. I. Cossey, a former editor of our paper, continues to serve part-time as our field representative. He is traveling over the state making personal contact with the churches and their pastors. He is especially interested in helping churches to set up church budgets. If you would like his services in your church or association, contact him at Southern Baptist College, Walnut Ridge, Arkansas.

If your church does not have the paper in the budget, you are invited to contact Editor McDonald for detailed information on how you may secure it.

BAPTIST STUDENT UNION

Statistics

- 10,956 — Number of Baptist students studying in Arkansas in 1962-1963.
- 84% — Percentage of Baptist students studying in non-Baptist institutions.
- 174 — Number of International students studying in the state.

Student Centers

No new center was built in 1963, but the debt on the new center at Arkansas State College in Jonesboro was reduced, another payment was made on the house being purchased near our University of Arkansas Center at Fayetteville, another payment was made on the lot adjoining our Southern State College Center in Magnolia, and a Baptist friend bought a house near the College of the Ozarks campus which we hope some day may be available for a Baptist Student Center.

Student Work

We had an excellent year in our 17 Baptist Student Unions in daily devotional services, campus evangelism, in our ministry to foreign students, mission projects, etc.

The state office sponsored a BSU Convention with over 500 students in attendance; a Spring Planning Conference for officers with over 300 in attendance; trips to Student Week at Ridgecrest and Glorieta, with approximately 80 Arkansas students attending; a three day meeting for foreign students with approximately 75 in attendance; a Student Directors' Workshop, a Campus Pastors' Meeting, a Baptist Faculty Meeting, and several "Tell the Campus Weeks" on local campuses.

The Student Department promoted Summer Missions in a stronger manner in 1963 and 58 Arkansas students (43 white and 15 Negro) worked in summer missions this past summer. Of the 58 the expenses for 10 were paid by the $4,500 raised by Arkansas Baptist students. These ten served in Hong Kong, Panama, Alaska, Washington, Wyoming, Louisiana, and Arkansas. An unusual feature of the 1963 Summer Mission program was the work camp at the Arkansas Baptist Camp. Mr. Neil Jackson, Baptist Student Director at Arkansas Tech, directed the plumbing installation, roofing, painting, etc. done voluntarily by students in preparation for turning the camp over to work with Negro Baptists.

CAMPS AND ASSEMBLIES

With the increasing attendance each year at the Arkansas Baptist Assembly, it was necessary to have three Religious Education Assemblies in 1963. A new junior pavilion was constructed to permit a separate junior camp and the electrical system of all assembly owned buildings was checked and repaired.

Construction started on the new camp west of Little Rock. The care-taker's house is completed and the internal road system has been finished. Work is scheduled to begin soon on the remaining buildings.

Attendance at all camps and assemblies reached 3,484 this year. The following is a breakdown of the attendance this year:

Arkansas Baptist Assembly, Siloam Springs

Date		Attendance
July 8 - July 13	1st General Assembly	586
July 15 - July 20	2nd General Assembly	687
July 22 - July 27	3rd General Assembly	517
Aug. 5-Aug. 10	G. A. Camp	535

Arkansas Baptist Camp, Little Rock

July 8 - July 12	R. A. Camp, Crusaders	96
July 15 - July 19	R. A. Camp, Pioneers	75

Ouachita Baptist College, Arkadelphia

June 17-June 22	Music—Youth & Adults	410
July 29 - Aug. 1	Junior Music Camp	328

Aldersgate, Little Rock

June 24-June 28	Negro Girl's Camp	121
July 8 - July 12	Negro Boy's Camp	129

So that the maximum income possible can be derived from the Arkansas Baptist Assembly at Siloam Springs the grounds are rented to other groups during the weeks that the state assemblies are not being held. This helps greatly in meeting expenses and keeping cost per camper low.

Plans are progressing toward having the new camp west of Little Rock open next summer. This will be a great addition to our camping program as it will permit our R. A.'s and G. A.'s to plan their camps along the lines they have been wanting to for several years.

Melvin C. Thrash, Business Manager

COOPERATIVE PROGRAM AND STEWARDSHIP

The Cooperative Program waits on the stewardship of Southern Baptists. We make this statement because Southern Baptists could do three times as much as they are now doing if they gave 10% of their incomes through the churches.

Look at this picture: the per capita income of Arkansas is $1,640. If the 313,806 Arkansas Baptists tithed, the total gifts to the churches in 1962 would have been $51,464,184 instead of $15,568,888. The churches could have increased their gifts through the Cooperative Program to $5,146,418, and still had $46,317,766 to spend at home. But, many Baptists should not stop with giving 10% of their incomes through the churches. Some can give much more, and will if—they are taught and led properly. Arkansas Baptists could give 15% of their income to the churches.

Last year the churches gave 11.76% of their incomes through the Cooperative Program. This added up to a total of $1,831,273. If each member gave 10% of income, the churches could give 25% of incomes or $12,866,046 and have $24,860,523 more money to use at home than they had last year.

No doubt all agree that the above picture needs to be improved, but all do not agree that it can be changed. We not only believe that it can be changed, some of us know how to do it.

The Stewardship Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention has developed three programs to help change the picture.

The Christian Stewardship Development Program is an intensive all-out attempt to grow better stewards in the churches. This program brings each church member face to face with accountability. It teaches the church members and shows them that all things belong to God and that they must account to Him for the way they use life's blessings. Then, the program provides the tools to help challenge the people to give.

Growth In Christian Stewardship is an effort to help the church with 300 or less members to promote planned church finances. This program can help these smaller churches take an initial step in planned spending. It is an attempt to fill the need of a simplified budget and finance promotion.

This is the first year that it has been offered and already many of our churches have used it and are using it now.

The Stewardship Development Program for Baptist Associations was proven in two successful Pilot Projects in Tennessee and Kentucky. It has been used by a few associations in the Southern Baptist Convention. Two associations used it in Arkansas this year; namely, Calvary and Harmony. At the time of writing this report it is too early to know the results.

This program will enable the associational leaders to help the churches do a better job of teaching their members Bible stewardship.

It will help all phases of Baptist life, because it will challenge the people to give more money. But it also helps the church members to see the true value of money and properly relate it to life. It also helps churches to recognize their basic objectives—to bring men to God through Christ and to train and develop the members to become better disciples.

All of these programs are designed to help the churches and associations to think in terms of the future rather than past achievements. All know that we need to do more for the Lord's work in each church, association, and state. Now, these programs have proved that we can help our people to do more.

The Cooperative Program waits on the stewardship of Baptists, and Baptists wait on their leadership to show them the way.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION DIVISION

During the past months since our last report was given, those of us related to the Religious Education Division have pursued our goal of correlation, co-ordination, and enrichment of the work of Sunday School, Training Union, Brotherhood and Church Music promotion. Here are the principal actions we have taken relative to this goal.

Listening To The Churches

We have sought consistently to "listen" to those of you in or close to the churches for clues as to how our departments jointly or separately can do more effective work.

For instance, approximately 75 missionaries and moderators came to our Leadership Training Meeting, February 18th, and spent two and one-half hours in study groups discussing how the ministry of Sunday School, Training Union, Brotherhood and Church Music could be improved on associational and state levels. These groups reported at the close with department secretaries present. This was a valuable session in that it brought those of us on the state leadership level close to the thinking of those next to the churches. Many helpful suggestions were recorded.

Our "listening" has been further pursued as a basic part of the Pilot Project. Each association in the pilot area has held a session for pastors in which they have listed their needs. These needs which were indicated are to form the basis of the programs of Religious Education in the associations of the pilot area.

Our most effective means of "listening" to the people in the churches comes through two sources to be described later, i.e., Church Long-Range Planning and Program Budgeting.

Problem: Too Many Meetings

One of the most pressing needs voiced by all in or near the churches has been relative to the number of proposed meetings. Our listening and joint planning with missionaries has resulted in the simplified and correlated associational meeting schedule recently published. This schedule has been arrived at through the efforts of our missionaries and pastors and Religious Education and Music men. The schedule calls for only twelve associational meetings a year promoted by the Baptist Building, except for W. M. U. and revival crusade rallies. Our Missions, Stewardship, and Evangelism departments have agreed to ride "piggy back" on Sunday School, Training Union, and Church Music meetings rather than conduct separate meetings for themselves.

We are trying to foster the idea that only church leadership should attend these associational organizational meetings, except for the Action-Night and M-Night rallies. This means only four associational meetings per year are promoted by the Baptist Building for any one area of church leadership.

Again in the Pilot Project we are experimenting with ways to make these meetings better so that people will want to attend. One of our major emphases is the project of using stronger churches to help the weak.

It is interesting to note that the new convention-wide standard for associational Sunday School work is almost identical to our schedule for associational Sunday School meetings and programs.

LONG-RANGE PLANNING

A very exciting program which involves church members in a discovering of "who they are" and "what their future ministry should be" is being tested by the Church Administration Department in four Arkansas Baptist churches. The project pertains to long-range planning (10 years) and is designed to remedy the fatal weaknesses due to short range planning and failure to involve church members in the planning process. It is believed that one reason many good Christians lack proper motivation for service is because they are not enough involved in the planning process.

Long-range planning has some answers on the church level for what ails us as Southern Baptists. Our four participating churches are helping prepare the manual which will be published by the Church Administration Department next year. As division director, I have been closely connected with this, both in planning and in execution, for I feel it holds great promise for us in the future.

Program Budgeting

I have to be careful not to let my enthusiasm run away with me when writing of this new administrative tool for our division. In last year's report I referred to my job of "listening" to the churches and keeping our four department's programs geared to the "needs of the churches." Also in that report I made reference to Program Budgeting as a possible tool to accomplish this. Now we are officially launched in the program.

My excitement over this is due to the fact that we are now able to guarantee that we will discover (and keep on discovering) the needs of our churches of all sizes, and in turn build our state program on these proven needs.

Program Budgeting is (1) putting money where the proven needs are, and (2) measuring our ability to use the money effectively to meet these needs. Each department of the Religious Education Division has a statement of objectives as to how they are to assist Arkansas Baptist churches. At present, these statements are practically the same as listed in Dr. House and Thomason's book, The Church Organized and Functioning.

The departments will do three things within the area of their objectives: Discover needs of the churches for these objectives, design help for the churches, then actually help on the field.

Each year goals are set which can be measured and budgets are built on projects to accomplish these goals. Within three years it can be said that the churches have written our programs and budgets, because no budget will be approved unless it is based on proven needs of churches of all sizes. Basic elements of this are also found in long-range planning for churches. Periodic evaluation in the light of objectives and goals complete this program of work.

Siloam Springs

This year we had an increase in attendance at Siloam Springs of 200 over last year with the total of 1,800 present. The following decisions were made. 27 professions of faith, 81 dedicated to full-time christian service, and 328 re-dedications.

Our ministry through our assemblies was improved this year by conducting a separate Junior Assembly Program. The entire project will undergo careful evaluation this year to more clearly define our purpose and set goals for achievement.

THE PILOT PROJECT

We are continuing our experiment in District Four to determine if a trained educational leader can measurably improve our ministry to churches by assisting in the enlistment and training of associational leadership and planning and programing of associational religious education work. You need not look for measurable improvement in this area for at least another year because of rather drastic changes in approach which are being tried.

Here are the basic ideas being tested with the consent and cooperation of the associations involved: First, and basic to all else, we are trying to involve the people from the churches in discovering needs and making plans to meet the needs discovered. In the Pilot Project area the programs conducted and meetings held will be based upon the needs as expressed by those who have participated in special evaluation sessions.

Second, we are trying to magnify the importance of associational religious education leadership. We believe the great hope for improvement in church religious education ministry will lie in assistance being given to churches on the associational level from lay leadership. We are therefore working closely with the missionaries and nominating committees in the selection and training of leadership. Associational heads of organizations are being urged to take the initiative in leadership, and in the Pilot Area the heads of the religious education organizations will hold their own Training-Planning meetings for their officers.

Third, we are fostering the idea of "fewer meetings" and more "projects" with the churches. The engaging of a stronger church to help a weaker in religious education areas is being experimented with.

Definite methods of evaluation are being finalized so that we can measure the worth-whileness of what is being done. Very little has been determined as yet about this project except that it looks probable now that one religious education man would be able to work with two districts rather than one as previously thought.

—J. T. Elliff, Director

Brotherhood work is entirely missionary in character, and its major emphases are mission study and missionary activities: Leading men and boys to study missions, to pray for missions, to give to missions, and to engage personally in missionary activities within and beyond their own church field—even to the ends of the earth.

Stated in other words, the Brotherhood movement is aimed squarely towards the original objectives and scope of work assigned to it by the Southern Baptist Convention in 1907, when the Laymen's Missionary Movement, the predecessor of Brotherhood, was set up by the convention. These objectives were: Mission study and missionary activities.

The Laymen's Missionary Movement became the Baptist Brotherhood of the South in 1925, and under the new name began to involve in its program of work both preachers and laymen. However, the original purposes of the movement were not changed. And in 1954 the Royal Ambassador movement was added to the Brotherhood program. The Royal Ambassador movement is the Southern Baptist program of missionary education and missionary activities for Baptist boys; and spiritually minded Baptist leaders everywhere believe that it is the finest boys' program in all the world.

The Brotherhood program of work presently includes the following:

1. Christian witnessing, which is soul-winning on the personal level, leading men to give their witness for Christ, at home and abroad.
2. Personal stewardship, which makes mission work possible both at home and everywhere else.
3. The Royal Ambassador program, which provides missionary education and missionary training to Baptist boys.
4. World missions, which is one, two and three, above, added together in a program designed to enlarge the missionary vision of Baptist men and to enlist their energies and resources to enhance the work of missions everywhere.

The year 1963 has been a good Brotherhood year in Arkansas, especially in the area of training of Brotherhood and Royal Ambassador leadership. We expect 1964 to be a still better year.

Twenty-eight men went from Arkansas to conduct pioneer crusades in the Colorado-Nebraska area during the summer, and report a wonderful time in the Lord.

Two good Royal Ambassador camps were held during the summer at the old Arkansas Baptist Campground. Next year the camps will be held at the new Baptist camp, near Paron, in Saline County.

The perennial slogan of the Brotherhood Department is: "Every church needs a Brotherhood." Every church also needs one or more Royal Ambassador Chapters in order to lay hold of the lives of its boys for God; to retain them in Bible study, mission study and missionary activities; and to bring them up in the "nurture and admonition of the Lord."

Respectfully submitted,

Nelson Tull, Secretary
C. H. Seaton, Associate

CHURCH MUSIC DEPARTMENT

During the year 1962-63, our State Music Secretary left the state music leadership. However, the following is a part of the basic philosophy of our State Music Ministry, and some of the accomplishments in the various areas of work. Due to the fact that 80% of our Arkansas churches have a membership of 300 or less, this is a statement of the purpose of the music department in this area.

- I. How we assist the small churches of our state in their music program.

1. State divided into districts, with a district music man serving as music representative between the state department and the local associations. These men:
 - a. conduct Training-Planning meetings for associational music officers,
 - b. guide the associational officers in the planning of calendar and music activities,
 - c. assist in central zone and local schools of music,
 - d. serve as consultant on music problems for the churches in their district,
 - e. assist in development and promotion of the total state music ministry.

2. Approved Age Group Workers

Age group workers for adults, youth, juniors, primaries, and beginners are used in associational graded choir workshops and music conferences. These workers are available for any church or association and serve as specialists in development of music ministry for a particular age group.

3. Approved Music School Teachers

This past year, we have successfully used the "summer field worker" program. Upon request by a church or association, these workers are sent from this department to hold week-long schools and study groups. These schools have been well received and supported in almost every instance.

4. Festivals

Festivals are promoted on two levels, associational and state. The associational festival is mainly a parade of choirs, ensembles, quartets, trios, duets, solos, singing before congregations and two or more qualified adjudicators who give comments that prove helpful to the performing organization. The state festival program has proved to be the most widely approved and acclaimed program in our state music ministry. At present, we are conducting four state primary festivals, four state junior festivals, two youth festivals, and one adult festival. Many new choirs are organized in each age group each year as a result of these festivals.

5. Summer Music Conferences and Camps

A comprehensive program of music education makes up the curriculum in our two state music conferences and our three general religious education assemblies. Classes are included for the accompanist, the song leader, the graded choir leader, choir members, as well as the music director and minister of music. Last year we had over 1,000 music campers, which did include juniors, youth, and adults attending the state music conferences, and over 1,600 persons attending the general assemblies — all receiving music instruction.

SUNDAY SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

THE BASIC continuing functions of a church seem to be included in four broad areas: to worship, to proclaim, to educate and to minister.

A church looks to its Sunday School to help fulfil these functions through certain basic tasks assigned the Sunday school. These tasks include: 1. To teach the Bible, 2. To reach all prospects, 3. To lead all church members to witness daily, 4. To lead all church members to worship daily, 5. To provide opportunities for the personal ministries of the church, 6. To provide organization and leadership for special projects for the church and 7. To provide and interpret information regarding the church and denomination.

To summarize the major responsibilities of the Sunday school, it can be said that a church looks to its Sunday school to bear the heaviest organizational responsibility in teaching, evangelizing and developing people.

The state Sunday school department, working through the Division of Religious Education, seeks to discover and help meet the needs of the churches in better Sunday school work.

There are several major ways the department seeks to help the churches.

Eight district Sunday school superintendents seek to help the associations get an early start in the denominational year with newly elected organization of fourteen basic officers. These eight men also seek to help train the associational officers and assist in the planning of a year's work. The eight district superintendents are as follows:

- Northwest Homer Wilmoth, First Church, Rogers,
Minister of Education
- North Central ... Leslie Riherd, West Church, Batesville, Pastor
- North East Richard Vestal, First Church, Corning, Pastor
- West Central Ben Haney, First Church, Ozark, Pastor
- Central Thurman Hitchcock, First Church, Conway,
Minister of Education
- East Central Eugene Ryan, First Church, Lonoke, Pastor
- South West Earl Bailey, Central Church, Magnolia,
Minister of Education
- South East Bill Hickem, First Church, Crossett, Pastor

Next, through associational surveys the major needs of the churches are discovered through meetings and surveys. The associations are encouraged to conduct four age group conference meetings each year. These meetings are intended to help meet needs of the churches. New manuals for 1963-64 have been provided by the Baptist Sunday School Board to assist in program planning. Other projects and meetings in the association include annual Vacation Bible School clinics, Associational Sunday School Pastor-Led Sunday School Enlargement Campaigns, Witnessing Campaigns, Central or Group Training schools, and teaching or administration clinics.

During the past year the department assisted associations in 4 Pastor-Led Enlargement campaigns, 2 Associational Administration Clinics, 3 Teaching Clinics, and 1 enlargement campaign.

Through the local churches, the department seeks to conduct conferences, clinics, workshops and campaigns, teaching a seven and one-half hour course. This year two such meetings have been conducted by the Sunday school department.

The Sunday school department conducts state meetings to help train workers in local church and associational work. The Vacation Bible School Clinic was conducted with 218 associational team members present from 37 associations. 739 churches have conducted and reported schools the summer of 1963.

At the state leadership conference for associational workers February 19th, the Sunday school department trained 123 workers.

Siloam Springs Assembly is another training ground for Sunday school workers. A total of 141 leaders were trained at the assembly in three sessions in 1963. Numbers of leaders attend week long leadership assemblies for training at Glorieta and Ridgecrest Sunday school weeks each year.

Through the Religious Education News, the department seeks to keep the churches and associations informed on the number of book awards earned in category 17 each month and periodically makes recognition of standard schools, departments and classes. This year one church, the First Baptist of Cullendale is an Advanced Standard School, one of only 10 in the Southern Baptist Convention.

The department secretary serves as church buildings consultant, placing churches in contact with the proper persons in the Sunday School Board's Department of Church Architecture.

The elementary director in the department majors in training leaders in Nursery, Beginner, Primary Departments and gives some time to Cradle Roll and Extension enlistment and training. The Department has conducted 5 elementary conferences.

The top five associations in percent of churches training in Category 17 are: Stone—Van Buren—Searcy, Red River, Harmony, Concord and Pulaski.

The following table reflects the training awards recognition system used by the department.

TRAINING UNION DEPARTMENT

Enrollment

The latest available figures are those taken from the reports from the churches in the fall of 1962. According to the Arkansas Baptist Annual 1962, 1,164 churches reported a Training Union enrollment of 96,711. We know that at least 75 churches with Training Union did not make a report when they filled out the annual church letter.

"M" Night

"M" Night or "Mobilization" Night was observed on Monday night, December 4, 1962 in 42 associations of Arkansas, with an attendance of 16,633. 812 churches were represented, and 635 pastors were present. At this associational Training Union meeting each year the program of work for the following year is launched.

Conferences and Conventions

1. One night training-planning meetings were held in September, 1962, in 32 associations by the district presidents. Other associations were to have these planning meetings in October.

2. On August 26, 1963, the district presidents met in Little Rock to assist in planning the program of work for 1964. The first part of the meeting was a briefing meeting to assist the district presidents and some associational directors in planning their training-planning meeting. The last part of the meeting was used in planning the program for 1964.

3. There were 50 other conferences held during the year.

MISSIONS-EVANGELISM

The Department of Mission-Evangelism reports a wonderful spirit among all employees. Each worker seems to be happy in his field of service. There have been no unusual changes in types of mission work.

There are 38 Associational Missionaries, 21 of whom receive some supplement on salaries. The work of an associational missionary has become so varied in the planning, promoting and performance of associational endeavors that his title is now, Superintendent of Associational Missions.

During the first six months of this year 34 churches have received supplement on pastors' salaries. Eight churches had been aided financially on their buildings. Some financial aid has been given in securing property for new mission sites in strategic locations.

The only change in personnel has been the retirement of M. E. Wiles and the election of R. A. Hill whose services began February 15. He previously served in the Department from 1947 to 1955. His work in Survey and Church Development is favorably accepted and already proving very successful.

Twelve Student Summer Missionaries, eight of whom were provided by the Home Mission Board, served in strategic places in the Ozark Mountains, have made a great contribution to the mission cause as they have worked in weak churches and mission points in conducting VBS and revivals. Many souls have been saved through their services.

Regular services are conducted for the deaf in Mena, Fort Smith, Lake City, Corning and some special services in Fordyce, Fayetteville, Hot Springs, Pine Bluff and Blytheville — looking toward regular services being established. Plans are underway to secure a full time worker for deaf people, one-half of the salary to be paid by the First Baptist Church, Little Rock, and one-half by the Department of Missions.

The work with the migrant, largely Mexicans, which has been so fruitful through the years, has decreased immensely because of so few Mexicans now coming to Arkansas for labor. We will continue securing Spanish speaking preachers to conduct services among the Mexicans as long as they are in our midst.

RACE RELATIONS

Clyde Hart, Director

1963 Report

The purpose of the Department of Race Relations is to help our Negro Baptist friends to help themselves in developing better churches. This can best be done through the development of better trained leadership. We are attempting to make a contribution in this direction in many ways. We promote and conduct conferences, clinics, workshops, extension classes and institutes for pastors and church leaders. This is a part of our short-ranged program to help those who are carrying the burden and responsibility of church leadership today. Many have had very little formal education. Among the Negro Baptist ministers of our state a few (about 5 percent) have good training and education and are among God's choicest preachers. But the overall educational level of the Negro Baptist preacher in Arkansas is about the fourth grade. Seventy-five percent of the pastors do not live on the church field, and eighty percent of their churches are part-time. Many of those who have not had the advantage of much formal training possess a surprising amount of God given talent and ability and have a great eagerness to learn. The response to our program has been most gratifying.

Outside of our own Southern Baptist Convention our best friends and closest allies in Christendom are our Negro Baptist brethren. They believe the same doctrines that we believe, and practice the same polity. They have their churches, associations, conventions and are proud of them. They are trying to make them stronger and better. Their young people represent one of the greatest potential resources of Baptist world missionary personnel to be found any where.

We sponsor a Chaplain at McRae Tuberculosis Hospital, Alexander, Arkansas giving a bedside ministry and teaching Baptist Sunday School lessons.

In our long-range program of helping develop the Baptist leadership of tomorrow we are majoring in the BSU, Chair-of-Bible Program with college students and a summer camping program for children and young people.

At AM & N College, Pine Bluff, we have a modern, fully equipped Baptist Center Building. Here, we offer the students a BSU program and four Bible classes under the leadership of a college and seminary trained director, Rev. Lacy Solomon. Out of this work this year 14 student mission volunteers were appointed by the Home Mission Board for 10 weeks of Summer Mission work. Ten of these worked in Arkansas. They conducted 32 Vacation Bible Schools, enrolled 2,970, witnessed 122 professions of faith, 26 dedications and 3 to join a church by letter.

Our Summer Camp for children was held this summer again at Aldersgate, a rented Methodist campground, equipped to sleep 96. We had during the Girl's Camp week 121 and the Boy's Camp week 129, or a total of 250. During these two weeks there were 13 professions of faith, and 11 surrendered to God's call for special service. Rev. M. W. Williams, our associate, an outstanding Negro Baptist leader, is camp director.

Next summer we hope to have several weeks of camps and assembly at the old R. A. camp site. Their property has just been given to the Race Relations Department. Much repairs must be made and some new building constructed. We will need an open-air tabernacle, estimated cost $2,372.23 and a dining hall, estimated cost $2,137.73. We have funds on hand with which to repair the cabins. We will be able to sleep 112 and can divide the age groups over a period of several weeks.

The Department is jointly supported by the Cooperative Program, Home Mission Board and Dixie Jackson Mission offering. In 1962 our source of income was as follows:

1. Home Mission Board	$11,000.00
2. Cooperative Program	10,000.00
3. Dixie Jackson Offering	9,500.00

WOMAN'S MISSIONARY UNION

For five years Southern Baptists have been preparing for the 150th anniversary of organized Baptist work on the North American continent. Throughout this period of special missionary outreach, Woman's Missionary Union has geared organizational plans and goals to the convention's year-by-year emphases. This has given to the membership an awareness of the Baptist Jubilee Advance and a definite part in it.

Appropriately, the Jubilee emphases on World Missions during 1962-63 coincided with the 75th Anniversary of Woman's Missionary Union. Jubilee goals were embraced in the following Anniversary goals which gave organizations a stimulating plan of work:

- Prayer Retreat
- 15% Increase in Members

- Special Cooperative Program Presentation
- 15% Increase in Tithers
- 15% Increase in the Lottie Moon Offering for Foreign Missions, Annie Armstrong Offering for Home Missions and Dixie Jackson Offering for State Missions.
- Organize or Participate in the Work of a Mission.
- Five-day Observances of the Week of Prayer for Foreign Missions and the Week of Prayer for Home Missions
- 75% of Members Receiving WMU Magazines
- 75% of Members Reading a Mission Book
- 75% of Leaders Holding Current Leadership Cards
- Study World Awareness and Annie Armstrong
- At Least One Honor WMU Organization
- Representation at Association, State or Convention-wide Anniversary Meeting

Reports on attainments are not yet available, but following the above as a plan of work, Woman's Missionary Union was true to the organization's purpose of promoting Christian Missions through a program of prayer, study, witnessing, Christian sharing of possessions, missionary education of young people.

Total number of organizations include 710 Woman's Missionary Societies and 2,039 youth organizations. Detailed reports of activities are recorded in the printed Annual Report of Arkansas Woman's Missionary Union.

ARKANSAS BAPTIST HOME FOR CHILDREN

Monticello, Arkansas

The year of 1963 could easily be divided into three important periods in program development of the Home.

The early part of the year found the Home definitely in a period of transition; moving from the "old", into the "new"; moving from the old type of institutional care into the new multiple service program. This was not done without much planning and prayer. The Superintendent and the Board of Trustees felt a definite need to offer more service to the children in need.

On March 12, 1963, the Board of Trustees voted to enter into a new multiple service program that would offer the people of Arkansas not only institutional service, but an adoption program, foster home service, and mother's aid program. The administration and the Board felt that Arkansas Baptists wanted a program that would keep abreast of modern child care methods and techniques. They felt that they were not being good stewards unless they offered the best service possible.

During the month of September, 1963, the Child Welfare Division of the State Department of Public Welfare began a study of the Home. This was started at the request of the Superintendent. Mr. Price felt that the Home should be licensed by the state. This would show to all concerned that the Arkansas Baptist Home for Children had met the minimum standards for child-caring institutions, as set up by the state. Since there is no other licensed child-caring institution in the state, this would be quite a progressive step for Arkansas Baptists.

Not willing to meet just the minimum standards set by the state, the Superintendent and the Board want to go further. On September 10, 1963, the Board voted to invite the Child Welfare League of America, (the nation's outstanding authority on child care), to study the Home and make recommendations concerning a better program. The League is coming to make this study in January.

We are very optimistic about the future. We want to develop a child care institution that will be second to none anywhere. With your prayers and your support, we can do this.

Our greatest need is for the churches throughout the state to support the Thanksgiving Offering. Last year 418 churches failed to contribute anything at all in the way of financial help. This is most discouraging when we recognize the fact that this represents about one third of our churches.

We are in the Cooperative Program for $75,000.00 each year. This represents about 40% of our needs. The additional 120-125 thousand dollars each year must come from the local churches. Please make this a matter of prayer and concern and support your program for needy children.

May God richly bless you as you do.

Yours in His name,

J. R. Price
Superintendent

ARKANSAS BAPTIST HOSPITAL

Little Rock, Arkansas

J. A. Gilbreath, Administrator

The Baptist Convention of this state last year approved the Hospital borrowing $1,200,000 in order to construct additional beds and add other facilities.

This project is progressing nicely, and the 136 bed addition will be completed on January 2, 1964. In addition to these beds we are building a cardio-pulmonary laboratory, a prayer chapel and family rooms, and a new clinical laboratory. These additions to our present facilities will continue to improve the level of medical care that can be given to patients in this institution.

The Board of Trustees of the institution is making a careful study in order to determine what additional facilities will be necessary in order for the institution to eventually be able to change its name from Arkansas Baptist Hospital to Arkansas Baptist Medical Center. We are certain that this will require a mental health unit, residency programs in surgery, medicine and obstetrics and gynecology, an out patient clinic and some research projects. The Trustees will determine the feasibility of such planning for the future.

The Hospital is seriously considering building a mental health facility which would not only take care of patients when they are acutely mentally ill, but also would offer facilities for their rehabilitation.

The following statistical information pictures the ministry of the institution for the past year:

Total patient days	124,554
Patients admitted	19,122

Matthew 14:14 reads: "And Jesus went forth, and saw a great multitude, and was moved with compassion toward them, and he healed their sick." This Scripture which is engraved in stone at the front entrance to Baptist Memorial Hospital, serves as the source of inspiration and guidance for the hospital as it continues to provide a ministry of healing. The scope of service continues to increase year by year. An increasing number of patients admitted and treated in the hospital is a phenomenon of each succeeding year.

During the 51 years of its existence as an institution, Baptist Memorial Hospital has sought to retain a reputation as a leading hospital by providing the best care possible. Not only are the physical needs of patients ministered to but treatment of the whole person is emphasized, including the vitally important psychical and spiritual aspects of health. A program in spiritual ministry is conducted continuously by the hospital as an integral part of its services to the sick and injured. From a 150-bed hospital in 1912, Baptist Memorial Hospital has grown to a 995-bed medical center with two physicians' office buildings with a third one under construction at this time.

In terms of statistics, the current picture can be portrayed in the following yearly figures (July 1, 1962—June 30, 1963):

(1). Number of patients served (including newborn).....	42,336
(2). Number of adult patient days	302,931
(3). Number of newborn patient days	17,865
(4). Number of out-patient visits	138,307

Percentage increase in number of adult patient days for the above year is 8.59% when compared with the same previous year.

In the fulfillment of its Christian purposes, the following information is submitted with reference to the free service program of the hospital and discounts for Baptist ministers for the period of July 1, 1962—June 30, 1963:

(1). Total charity and allowance.....	$1,034,996.63
(2). Hospital service for the indigent (included as a part of item 1 above).....	783,648.13
(3). Total charity and allowance for residents of Arkansas (included as a part of item 1 above)	279,449.09
(4). Hospital service for the indigent who are residents of Arkansas (included in item 1 above)	251,504.18
(5). Total Baptist ministerial and religious workers' discounts	42,159.49

One of the functions of the modern hospital is that of education. In order to assure professionally trained personnel for the purpose of qualitative patient care, hospitals must necessitously conduct educational programs. Such programs are carried out not only for reasons of conveying scientific knowledge and skill, but in the Baptist hospital science is integrated with Christian values. The hospital is presently operating a three-year diploma school of nursing, an affiliation for the training of practical nurses, a program in medical technology, a program in x-ray technique, a program in medical record library science, a program in both rotating and straight internships, residencies in eight medical specialties, a residency program in hospital administration, and a minor affiliation with the University of Tennessee College of Medicine. Approximately 400 students are enrolled each year in these nine educational programs, all of which have formal approval from their respective accrediting agencies.

One of the outstanding accomplishments of the present year has been the attainment of an agreement with the University of Tennessee College of Medicine for a major affiliation in medical education for the immediate future. This agreement will greatly expand the present limited affiliation and serve to enhance appreciably the educational status of Baptist Memorial Hospital.

The present year has witnessed two major capital projects:

- (1). The construction of a new doctors' building at the cost of estimated $4,250,000 and which is scheduled for completion in April of 1964.
- (2). The scheduled completion of the renovation of the Lamar Unit at 1025 E. H. Crump Boulevard.

The second of the above projects will make possible the opening of 150 additional beds. To date the Lamar Unit has been operated as long-term unit with particular emphasis upon rehabilitation. The services of this unit have been expanded during the present year to include medical social service and occupational therapy. Too, a phase of nursing education has been commenced in the Lamar Unit on grounds that nursing education should include experience in the nursing of patients with chronic illness, an increasing phenomenon of the health field. Beginning in January, 1964, a portion of the added beds will be used for acutely ill patients for which accommodations are seriously short at this time.

Another area of specific advance by Baptist Memorial Hospital in the present year has been that of research. Presently, an administrative research project is being conducted in the long-term unit. A research project is being pursued in the hospital's Radiology Department under the title of "Extracranial Arterial Occlusive Disease" and another in the Cardio-Pulmonary Laboratory which is entitled "A Study of Blood Pressure in Normal Individuals and Patients under Natural Conditions Utilizing Telemetry Techniques". Research is an area of new venture for Baptist Memorial Hospital and represents another dimension for expansion in the future. The above three projects are being supported by special grants obtained by the hospital.

During the early part of 1963, Baptist Memorial Hospital was surveyed by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. The result of this survey was full approval for another three years. Approval of this body certifies to the community that certain basic standards have been met by the hospital.

Baptist Memorial Hospital appreciates this opportunity of reporting to the Southern Baptists of Arkansas and recognizes the many forms of support that have come from them through the years.

Memorial Hospital has had an excellent first year. Our newest Arkansas Baptist institution has been increasing its ministry in true Baptist style. We have averaged more than 59 patients per day during the past year. It is anticipated that the patient load will increase during the next year.

The Pastoral Care Department from Arkansas Baptist Hospital has been offering their services to our institution during this year. We are happy to report that they are able to extend our ministry in this institution.

The community support that our hospital has received has been most gratifying. More than 100 members of our Women's Auxiliary and Junior Red Cross Volunteers have been working as volunteer assistants in our hospital. We are very pleased that Memorial Hospital has found its place within our community, and that its ministry of healing has been so well accepted.

OUACHITA BAPTIST COLLEGE

Arkadelphia, Arkansas

Ralph A. Phelps, Jr., President

The largest enrollment in history was recorded as Ouachita Baptist College began her seventy-eighth year of continuous service to Arkansas Baptists with the beginning of classes on September 16, 1963.

A total of 1,260 students enrolled at the Arkadelphia campus. Not included in this total were those to be enrolled at the Camden Center. Dormitories were filled far beyond their normal capacities, and the new cafeteria constructed five years ago was already serving more than the maximum capacity for which it was built.

During the 1962-63 academic year, an effort was made to get the student-teacher ratio down to the 15 to 1 recommended by the accrediting association. The ratio was reduced to 17 to 1, an improvement over the 19.5 to 1 of the previous year but still higher than it should be. The high ratio has resulted from the fact that the student body in recent years has grown more rapidly than resources have permitted teachers to be added to the staff. Three additional teachers have been added for the 1963-64 session, but the increased enrollment has offset this faculty expansion.

Additional teachers with doctorates have also been added to the faculty, since the North Central Association last year criticized the decreased proportion of teachers with doctor's degrees on an enlarged faculty. Approximately 35% of the faculty hold earned doctorates. In this number are four Ph.D.'s in chemistry.

The big problem in recruiting academically qualified teachers continues to be the lack of money to pay salaries equal to those in other colleges and universities. A full professor at Ouachita last year made $4,300.00 per year less than the average salary for full professors in the United States.

Endowment Drive Progress

Through the joint efforts of the College and the Arkansas Baptist State Convention, considerable progress was made in raising money for the school's permanent endowment fund. In order to obtain a $100,000.00 gift offered by Birkett L. Williams, alumni, other friends and the convention had to raise a like amount. Although the matching was not guaranteed until almost the last day of 1962, the goal was reached; and a total of $247,508.64 was added to the permanent endowment. This money is invested, and the returns from it will go into the operating budget of the school.

The three-year endowment campaign had as its goal to bring the College's total endowment up to $2,000,000.00. As of audit time on May 31, 1963, the total assets of the fund were $1,111,788.34. The endowment fund produced a yield of 4.05% of the principal of the fund.

Biggest financial news since the last state convention is the bequest which the College received from Mrs. Jane Flippen Perrin, a niece of Dr. J. W. Conger, first president of the school. Mrs. Perrin, who lived in Arabi, Louisiana, was a student at Ouachita from 1891 to 1894 and lived in the home of her uncle. Her husband, the late Alexander P. Perrin, had large farming, real estate, and livestock brokerage interests. Mrs. Perrin left the bulk of her estate to Ouachita as memorials to her husband and to Dr. Conger. The College will receive approximately $800,000.00 now and will eventually receive another $150,000.00 upon the death of a friend of Mrs. Perrin's. This is by far the largest gift or bequest to the school in her 77-year history. Although the bequest was unrestricted, trustees of the College voted to add approximately $710,000 of it to the Endowment Fund.

Enrollment and Graduates

Ouachita at Arkadelphia enrolled a total of 1,310 separate students for the full year of 1962-63. The Camden Center enrolled a total of 263 for the fall and spring. This resulted in a combined enrollment of 1,573 for the year.

A total of 164 degrees were awarded at the May commencement, with 61 additional degrees granted in August, or a total of 225 graduates for the year. Three of these received Master of Arts degrees.

Ouachita offers programs leading to seven degrees. They are Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Science in Education, Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Music Education, Master of Arts and Master of Music Education.

Religious Program

Although Ouachita works continuously to keep her academic program abreast of the latest developments in a fast-changing academic world, she places the same stress she always has put on Christian truth. The school is a Christian college and is proud of this heritage. Every student is required to take courses in Old and New Testament, chapel attendance is required, and a week's special evangelistic services are held during both the fall and spring terms. Noonday worship services are held daily in Berry Chapel, and numerous mission projects in Arkadelphia and vicinity provide opportunities for Christian growth and usefulness during college days.

This past year there were 112 students preparing for the preaching ministry. Another 31 were preparing for other types of vocational Christian service.

Every effort is made to help each student appreciate the Christian life and the values to be obtained therefrom. Ouachita recognizes an obligation to minister to the souls as well as to the minds of those who walk her hallowed halls.

Financial Position

As of May 31, 1963, Ouachita had assets totalling $6,137,309.39. Of this, properties represented values of $5,594,952.76. The ratio of current assets to current liabilities was 1.31 to 1 at the end of the year.

Running a school the size and quality of Ouachita requires a great deal of money. Total current income for the past year was $1,609,105.13, and the school operated within its income. However, the pinch of ever-increasing allocations to state schools is making it constantly more difficult to compete for teachers. A state school the size of Ouachita will receive $1,000,000.00 for operations and $1,500,000.00 for capital improvements this next year. More money for operations must be found for Ouachita, or the school will start to slide downhill again.

Plant Expansion

Two new dormitories are under construction and will be ready for occupancy in January. These are a girls' dormitory to house 84 and a boys' dorm to house 102. They are being built under long-term loans approved by the Arkansas Baptist State Convention last November and will cost $650,000.00.

Also under construction is an addition to Flenniken Memorial Student Center. This building was built originally by Miss Emma Riley as a memorial to her sister, Mary Riley Flenniken, and her husband, Aylmer Flenniken, of El Dorado. Miss Riley is making possible this addition.

Also under construction is a new gymnasium which will seat 3,000 people. The present gym, primarily of frame construction, is too small and is actually hazardous when filled with a crowd. The initial funds for this building will come from the sale of some stocks given Ouachita for building purposes during the Million Dollar Campaign. The balance of the money needed for the building will have to come from gifts of friends, since the building is to be constructed on a pay-as-you-go basis just as the Bible Building was.

Conclusion

Ouachita Baptist College's position in Arkansas and Southern Baptist educational circles is an example of what can be done when Baptists unite their efforts in building a first-rate college. While other states have fragmented their efforts with the result that the quality of their several schools continues to grow poorer, Arkansas Baptists have built in the name of Jesus Christ a school that is worthy of the name Christian. If additional resources are provided, and if efforts remain united, there is no reason that Ouachita should not continue to move forward toward an even brighter future of service for God and man.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST COLLEGE

Walnut Ridge, Arkansas

H. E. Williams, President

The 1962-63 academic year at Southern Baptist College was the most eventful year in her twenty-two years of service to the Baptist life of Arkansas and the world. It was during this session that Southern was fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the highest accreditation available to junior colleges in America.

This signal result is the culmination of years of hard work on the part of the administration and faculty, together with the fine support of the Board of Trustees and thousands of friends of the college. The assistance given by the Arkansas Baptist State Convention figured prominently in the consideration of the North Central examiners. The college is grateful for the aid given by the churches of Arkansas through the Co-operative Program. It is of tremendous help even though it is among the smallest allocations made by any state convention of the Southern Baptist Convention for the support of one of the Baptist colleges.

The academic year at Southern was excellent in every way. The graduating class was the largest in the history of the college reaching 56 with approximately twenty others completing two full years of college work who did not participate in graduation ceremonies. The total enrollment for the year ran 243 different individuals. The enrollment for single students showed an increase of approximately fifteen percent while the number of married students showed a slight drop.

The college completed a very beautiful student center building in February, 1963. This building is 140 feet by 76 feet overall. It includes a beautiful Memorial Prayer Chapel seating up to 160 and a recreation area which can accommodate over 300 for student functions. It is designed on latest modernistic architectural lines with latest glass curtain walls.

The college has completed additions to the dormitories. An eighty-five foot, two story addition, was added to the dormitory for men. The dormitory for women received a one hundred-eighty-five foot, one story addition. There is a nice bath between each two rooms in all of the dormitory space at Southern except in some of the newer rooms of the dormitory for women in which there is a bath for each room. All of the rooms are furnished with inner-spring mattresses and latest type dormitory furniture.

The budget for the college for 1963-64 runs approximately $230,000 compared with about $209,000 for the past year. The Arkansas Baptist State Convention contribution for last year ran about $35,000. We are grateful for this help. It is hoped that the allocation can produce $40,000 to $50,000 for both operations and capital needs. The proposed $10,000 for capital needs during the last year for Southern was not fully realized since the overall budget was not reached. This resulted in Southern receiving only a little over $3,000 for capital needs. We ask our Baptist friends over Arkansas to prayerfully consider the calls of the total budget for 1963. This would produce $10,000 for Southern and $167,500 for Ouachita. Both schools need every dollar for expansion so they can better serve the Cause of Christ.

Mr. Felix Goodson was added to the staff January 1 to serve as Assistant to the President for Promotion and Development. Mr. Goodson is a Baptist layman who made good in the business world before he was forty-two years of age and was able to retire and engage in Christian work for the remainder of his life. He is doing a splendid job in recruitment and fund raising. He is primarily concerned with the long-term fund raising for development and endowment purposes. Several wills have been secured since Mr. Goodson began his work. Present value of the bequests made would be well over $300,000 if liquidated at this time. Many others are considering such arrangements at this time.

Southern has the record of offering fully accredited college training at less than any other college of her type in this part of America. Students can attend here, without scholarships, for as little as $342.00 per semester. Those studying for the ministry, or children of ministers living with parents, are given a deduction, making it possible for them to attend Southern for slightly less than $300.00 per semester.

We invite Baptist friends from over this entire area of the Southern Baptist Convention to visit Southern—"THE CAMPUS OF CHRISTIAN PURPOSE". Remember us in your prayers and send us your sons and daughters as well as your dollars. Students trained in a splendid Christian college make greater Christians in our secularized world.

CHRISTIAN CIVIC FOUNDATION OF ARKANSAS, INC.
Little Rock, Arkansas

The purpose of the Christian Civic Foundation of Arkansas, Inc., is to promote abstinence, by education, legislation and rehabilitation, through the united efforts of the churches of Arkansas. And with the same approach, we seek to deal with the problems of gambling, pornography and salacious literature.

We inaugurated our program of visitation in the junior and senior high schools of the state on July 1, 1962, with Mr. Jerry McBride, a former high school teacher, as Educational Assistant. We reach all students in junior and senior high schools with an assembly program and with visitation in science, physical education and health classes throughout the entire day. Mr. McBride has thus far lectured and taught classes on alcohol in 185 high schools of the state, reaching more than 40,000 students. In June, July and August he is scheduled to teach in twelve church youth camps. We are planning his schedule for high schools beginning in September and we are anxious for him to visit all of the high schools in a given county when he makes his visit. We express our appreciation to the ministers who have been helpful in arranging these schedules during the past year.

You are acquainted with our efforts in the legislative field, as they have been given full reporting through the press of the state. We were unsuccessful in securing the passage of any new laws in the fields of liquor and gambling. However we succeeded in defeating efforts of the liquor forces to amend our present liquor and gambling laws. We have continued to press our efforts relating to the problem of gambling in the state and have had success in several counties. However, it is well known that the syndicated entrenched gambling element in Hot Springs continues to openly violate state laws. The failure of state and county officers to enforce these laws breeds a contempt for all laws in the opinion of many citizens. This situation creates an image of Arkansas in the rest of the country that is a great detriment to all our people. During the past summer our Legislative Secretary and your Director presented information concerning candidates for office, that we believe was helpful in electing Representatives and State Senators and made it impossible for the liquor interests to weaken our present laws.

Four counties and seven townships petitioned for local option elections, which were held in November, 1962. The dry forces won elections in six townships and in Ouachita County. While the dry forces clearly won the election in Ouachita County, the liquor forces have been able to circumvent this victory through court proceedings.

“You Can’t Legislate Morals”

This meaningless phrase is thrown at the representatives of the temperance movement whenever the legislature meets. Somehow it has the sound of a profound philosophical statement, and is supposed to prove, with finality, that temperance and liquor control legislation is fundamentally impractical and unsound because it has an ethical basis. Without going into the grammatical and other reasons for the stupidity of this assertion, we wish to make three important points:

The first is based on a statement by Oliver Wendell Holmes, who said: "The law is the witness and external deposit of our moral life. Its history is the history of the moral development of the race. The practice of it, in spite of popular jests, tends to make good citizens and good men." All law is bound up in one bundle with the moral and ethical ideals of the people. If it were not for ethics and morals, the law of the jungle would reign supreme.

Our second point is that, although this is not their primary purpose, our laws do affect the moral character of the people they are enacted to govern. The very fact that the state places itself on one side or another of an issue, through the act of its legislative body, has powerful value. John P. Roche and Milton W. Gordon, in an article in the New York Times Magazine for May 22, 1955, wrote: "The majesty of the law, when supported by the collective conscience of a people and the healing power of the social situation, in the long run will not only enforce morality but create it."

Finally, those who use this phrase forget that the purpose of legislation is not to change the moral character of individuals, but to restrain individuals and groups from the commission of immoral and anti-social acts. We do not enact laws prohibiting hatred, but we do enact laws prohibiting murder. Covetousness is not prohibited by law but theft is. And so on through the whole gamut of legislation.

The temperance advocate does not expect to make bad people good by the legislation he promotes, but he does believe profoundly that legislation can so restrain the actions of an unprincipled, greedy liquor traffic that young people and others will have a much better chance at a good life.

The Liquor Situation In Arkansas in 1963

Arkansas has enjoyed a favorable place in the national statistics on the alcohol problem. Research discloses that in any state where the consumption rises the problem increases. Anything which keeps the rate of consumption down minimizes the problem. All the efforts of the Alcohol Beverage Manufacturers and dealers to increase consumption works against the efforts to control the alcohol related problems.

A study of the per capita consumption of absolute alcohol for all of the states in the year 1961 is now available. The range of consumption is from 0.31 gallons in Mississippi to 4.223 gallons in the District of Columbia. Arkansas was the third smallest per capita consumer with 0.666. Only Alabama and Mississippi consumed less per capita. These figures have been compiled by the American Business Men's Research Foundation of Chicago from figures released by the United States Government. It is reasonable to believe that the low consumption in the lower consuming states is due to the fact that the figures are for states under local option.

It is impressive to note that we have 44 counties now under local option and 31 counties that are characterized as "wet counties." The liquor forces offer the claim that boot-legging and consumption increases under local option. However, the Alcohol Tax Unit seized 92 stills in 33 wet counties and 32 in the 42 dry counties in 1960. In 1961 they seized 78 stills and of these 78 stills seized, 52 were in the 31 "wet" counties and 26 in the 44 local option counties. Liquor boot-legging in the United States today is as prevalent as during prohibition. Government agents are closing illicit stills in homes, stores and factories at the rate of 1,000 per month.

Legalized Gambling Does Not Help To Lower Crime Rates

To the contrary, there seems to be a direct relationship between a higher overall crime rate and the presence of some form of legalized gambling. According to the Federal Bureau of Investigation Uniform Crime Reports, the ten metropolitan areas in the United States, with the highest crime rates all permit some form of legalized gambling. Reno, with its wide-open gambling, has the dubious honor of leading the nation with an overall crime rate of 3,348.9 offenses per 100,000 population.

OVERALL CRIME RATE

Metropolitan Area	Per 100,000 Population
1. Reno, Nevada	3,348.9
2. Los Angeles, California	2,657.2
3. Chicago, Illinois	2,383.3
4. Las Vegas, Nevada	2,362.7
5. Miami, Florida *	2,308.4
6. Phoenix, Arizona *	2,267.2
7. Stockton, California	2,247.3
8. Denver, Colorado *	2,079.7
9. Tuscon, Arizona *	2,030.8
10. Lexington, Kentucky	2,013.6

(* These cities permit dog racing; others permit pari-mutuel gambling in connection with horse racing. Reno and Las Vegas have wide-open gambling).

In conclusion, gambling is psychologically damaging. The philosophy of getting something for nothing paralyzes the creativity and integrity of man. It chokes his personal achievement and fulfillment. Gambling corrupts both the individual and society.

Gambling is economically damaging. It is non-productive. It creates no new wealth and performs no useful service. Therefore to permit casino gambling in Arkansas, should be opposed because of the potential harm it would bring to individuals and society.

Seven Deadly Sins Up-To-Date

The markets are flooded with new gadgets, new styles, new cars and new vacation resorts. Suggestions as to what to do after one arrives are highly advertised. Is the market also flooded with new sins? A brilliant re-classification of the old-time "seven deadly sins" comes from the pen of famed minister and missionary E. Stanley Jones, who gives them the following titles:

Business without morality
Pleasure without conscience
Knowledge without character
Science without humanity
Politics without principle
Worship without sacrifice
Wealth without work

What do these have to do with alcohol, and particularly, our research on man's use of alcohol? Certainly "business without morality" is a charge that is frequently made against the alcoholic beverage business and all those associated with it. A business which exists primarily to make profits and which confers no lasting benefits on its patrons, but too frequently is injurious to them, is one of questionable morality. The alcoholic beverage industry and all those associated with it, particularly those who sell it, including advertising men and agencies, and the media (newspapers, magazines, out-door bill boards, radio and TV) which constantly present enticement to drink, have questionable morals.

One of the deadly sins, according to Dr. Jones, is "pleasure without conscience." Could this description be applied to the user of alcoholic beverages who is able to drink without apparent injury to himself and others? Can the conscience of such a one be at ease if he should consider that he is the best advertisement which the alcoholic beverage industry has, and that he is possibly the most efficient enticement used to recruit new drinkers?

Consider the man who fully realizes that the use of alcoholic beverages deteriorates the character and health of up to ten per cent of those who use them, shortens the life span of millions, produces insanity in some, pauperizes a huge horde, slaughters thousands on the highways and frequently causes crime, divorce and social unrest. Despite all this he continues to drink. Can he be better described than as having "knowledge without character?"

Can those students of science, who cannot see that the direct and indirect encouragement to drink moderately increases the incidence of alcoholism more rapidly than it can be reduced, be considered men of "science without humanity?"

On behalf of the Executive Committee and the Board of Directors we express our sincere gratitude and appreciation to the ministers and churches who have made possible our efforts through their financial, moral and spiritual support.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION
Dallas, Texas

New Benefit Added to Southern Baptist Protection Plan

The Annuity Board has added a new death benefit to the Southern Baptist Protection Plan for all ministers or denominational employees under 40 years of age. In the event of the natural death of the member, the widow or estate will receive a cash settlement equal to the average annual salary on which dues were paid in the Protective Plan. If death is accidental, the widow will receive a check for twice the average annual salary. The benefit would pay as much as $8,000 in case of the accidental death of a member who had paid on an average salary of $4,000.

No Additional Cost—This added death benefit is provided at no additional dues cost to the member or his church. Everyone under 40 who is already a member of the Protection Plan automatically has this protection if dues payments are kept current. Those who enroll in the Plan now or in the future have the added benefit coverage as soon as first month's dues are received, and it continues until they reach 40. This benefit is in addition to the liberal widow, disability and retirement provisions of the Plan.

Four Widows Have Received Special Death Benefit—The added benefit was approved in April and made retroactive to January 1, 1963. Since that time four widows, one each from Louisiana, Oklahoma, North Carolina and Georgia, have received the lump sum cash settlement. Mrs. Julia Hunt of Fort Polk, Louisiana, whose husband died January 2, was the first to receive a check. She wrote:

"Let me express my appreciation for the special death benefit . . . I am grateful for a Protection Plan such as Southern Baptists have . . . The monthly check and the special death benefit check will enable us to have some of the things my husband would have provided for us were he still here." (Mrs. Hunt has two young daughters.)

REPORT OF THE BAPTIST JOINT COMMITTEE ON PUBLIC AFFAIRS
TO THE SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION
Kansas City, Missouri, May 7-10, 1963

The Public Affairs Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention combines with similar committees from six other Baptist bodies in North America to form the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs. The other participating conventions are: Baptist Federation of Canada, Baptist General Conference, National Baptist Convention of America, National Baptist Convention, U. S. A., Inc., North American Baptist General Conference, and the American Baptist Convention. This "joint" committee is the responsible denominational agency for leadership in discerning and expressing the meaning of the Baptist movement as a whole to the many current issues which bear upon Baptist concern for freedom.

On the national scene the year 1962 must go down as a year of exceptional tension and challenge in church-state relations. Three areas of concern were of particular significance in 1962: (1) The use of prayer in public schools was brought into sharp focus in the New York Regents' prayer case (Engel v. Vitale); (2) The problem of church-state separation in higher education was accentuated by proposed legislation providing Federal aid to the nation's colleges, both public, private and church-related; and (3) The use of American tax dollars by church agencies in foreign aid programs was highlighted by the Alliance For Progress educational program in Columbia. In each of these instances the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs was active in representing Baptist viewpoints to government, in reporting developments to its cooperating conventions, and in interpreting Baptist insights to many groups in the nation.

The programs of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs are designed for the purpose of being contemporary in the most extreme sense. Issues break day by day and at times developments change by the hour. In seeking to meet these issues the staff of the Committee does not act arbitrarily nor irresponsibly. Guidelines are sought in official convention pronouncements and resolutions and in historic Baptist positions. In cases not specifically previously acted upon by the sponsoring conventions the staff exercises extreme caution and seeks guidance from related actions and from Baptist insights into the nature of religious experience. In every instance the freedom of the individual and the freedom of the churches are kept prominently in mind. In recent years the annual Religious Liberty Conferences sponsored by the Committee have brought together Baptist leaders from the various groups throughout the nation. These conferences have proved invaluable in interpreting the Baptist message in the light of contemporary developments.

The outlook for 1963 is for continued serious problems in the church-state area. Some will come into sharper focus than others, but here are five areas in which difficulty can be anticipated.

1. The Use of Federal Funds for Church Education Purposes. Federal aid to parochial schools came into focus in 1961 and for church-related colleges in 1962. Proposals in both of these areas were defeated in the Congress in both instances. The issue is still very much alive, however, and it can be anticipated that in 1963 the nation will again be engaged in debate over these problems. The needs for better education are so pressing both on the elementary and secondary levels and the higher education level that Baptists and others will be hard pressed lest they stand in the way of educational progress in the nation while standing against aid to church schools. No satisfactory solution has yet been offered by any group to the education problem on either level.

2. The Utilization of Religious Institutions Abroad by U. S. Foreign Aid Programs. Foreign aid is a perennial debate in Congress. The problem of church-state relations in foreign aid may get some attention in 1963. Last year the Agency for International Development announced its policy of administering foreign aid programs through church agencies. A sharp outcry was heard from many church groups and the policy was soon withdrawn. However, before the year was out a new policy statement was issued, which was a refinement of the earlier one, but which also left much to be desired.

It is also anticipated that church-state policies of the Peace Corps will increasingly come under scrutiny. If a "domestic peace corps" is established, church-state issues will almost surely arise in this area also.

3. The Treatment of Religion as American Heritage Required by Law. The decision of the Supreme Court in 1962 in the New York Regents' prayer case triggered over 50 proposals in Congress to amend the Constitution to alter the effect of the ruling. However, with the passage of time and with more and better information, public opinion gradually shifted toward a more favorable response to the decision. In 1963 the Supreme Court will decide two other cases (from Pennsylvania and Maryland) involving religion in the public schools. Both have to do with Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer. There is no way to anticipate exactly how the court will rule in these cases, but it is not likely that a practice that can be interpreted as "as establishment of religion" will be allowed to continue. The public may or may not have learned in the New York case how to respond maturely to cases like this. The Court's 1963 decision could precipitate serious public reaction in the problem of religion in public schools.

4. U. S. Welfare Programs Administered by Church Institutions. The school lunch program and the distribution of agricultural surpluses through summer camps are open to church schools and agencies. Programs for care for the aged may be offered in the form of 100 per cent loans to churches or their agencies. The government is anxious to use private agencies wherever possible to improve public health, to care for the needy in all categories, and to assist in the general welfare of the people. Many church groups are having a serious struggle between their convictions of separation of church and state and their concern for human welfare. The problem is how to adjust to the new situation, how to express the social concerns of the churches without compromise of basic principles of church-state relations. Can the church afford to become an arm of the government in welfare programs?

5. Stimulation of Church Contributions by Tax Policies. In 1962 the Kennedy Administration indicated that in 1963 tax reductions and tax reforms would have top priority. Problems involving the tax rate, deductions, reforms in tax policies relating to corporations and foundations could effect church giving and support of church institutions. The churches may have to face the questions of motivation for their stewardship programs and their dependence on or independence of tax policies for their financial health.

The Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs is finding itself hardpressed for an adequate staff to meet these increasingly difficult and numerous problems. It is anticipated that in 1963 a new staff member on the executive level will be added to help develop the study and correlation programs.

The Public Affairs Committee is authorized by the Southern Baptist Convention to develop four programs in church-state relations. A brief survey of the developments in each of these in 1962 follows:

1. A Program of Public Affairs Study and Research. A major portion of the study efforts in 1962 went into the development and promotion of projects in preparation for the sixth annual Religious Liberty Conference in Washington, D. C. The subject was "Church-State Issues in Higher Education." In preparation for this conference, 20 writers were enlisted to prepare advance study papers for the participants. This was the largest of the conferences thus far. It attracted 158 participants representing all interests and areas of denominational life. The Conference was carried out as workshop groups whose reports were submitted to the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs. The table and section reports of the Conference are available for public discussion. Copies may be secured by writing to the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs.

During 1962 the program of U. S. educational aid to the schools of Colombia got underway. Protestants in Colombia saw this program in the context of the Roman Catholic domination of the so-called public schools of Colombia and in the context of 15 years of persecution growing out of the politically troubled times in the country. They could see the American foreign aid being brought to bear to strengthen the hold of the Roman church on the minds and people of Colombia.

Consequently, the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs undertook to learn the facts and to try to answer the question, "Will American aid to education in Colombia advance or retard the practice of religious liberty in that troubled country?" The result was a staff report entitled "Religious Liberty Problem in United States Aid to Colombian Education." This report did much to set the problem in its proper perspective.

A closely related problem in 1962 was the over-all picture of the church-state aspects of the program of the Agency for International Development (AID). In brief, the new AID policy says that before religious organizations may be used for foreign aid programs, it must meet all the tests that are required for other projects, plus two additional ones, as follows: (1) United States foreign assistance funds may not be provided for the advancement of sectarian religious purposes; and (2) No funds may be expended, nor any project undertaken, without prior assurance and built-in guarantees that there will be absolutely no discrimination on religious grounds in the matter of who will benefit.

At the request of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs the executive director prepared a study paper on Baptist Educational Distinctives. This paper is available to study groups for whatever help it might be for intelligent participation in the national discussion.

The conviction is growing that the Baptist witness in the world needs to be developed in a situation that reflects a concerted effort of the several Baptist groups.

A committee consisting of representatives from three Baptist conventions in the area of the national capital undertook to study the need for a Baptist university. After rather extended study and much discussion, the consensus of the committee pointed to the need for a Baptist research and continuation center in the nation's capital. The idea was developed in broad outline and referred to the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs for study as to ways and means of implementation. These recommendations will receive the attention of the Baptist Joint Committee during its meeting in March, 1963.

2. A Program of Church-State Public Relations. On June 25, 1962, the United States Supreme Court handed down its decision in the New York Regents' prayer case (Engel v. Vitale). Not in recent years has a Supreme Court decision incited such vigorous public reaction as followed this one. This imposed an unexpected demand upon the staff of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs. The weeks immediately following the decision the staff spent almost all of its time interpreting the decision and in giving guidance for Baptist reactions.

More than 1,000 requests were received for copies of the text of the Court decision. For nearly a month following the decision the entire energies of the staff were absorbed in responding to calls for interpretation through radio, television, newspapers, invitations to address leaders of other denominations, civil liberties groups, answering a sizable correspondence, and in telephone conferences.

The staff of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs took a position supporting the Supreme Court's prayer decision. At the October, 1962, meeting of the Committee the activity and positions of the staff were reviewed and the Committee concurred with the views of the staff and gave endorsement for what was done.

Following the New York Regents' prayer decision there were more than 50 proposals offered in Congress to amend the First Amendment or to change the Constitution in such a way as to nullify the Supreme Court decision. Limited hearings were conducted by the Senate Committee on the Judiciary in which only selected witnesses were called on to testify. All others who desired were invited to submit their testimony in writing to be included in the printed report of the hearings. The Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs submitted testimony on behalf of itself, including resolutions of many Baptist bodies, statements of opinions by many Baptist leaders and editorials from many Baptist publications. The record is found in "Prayers in Public Schools and Other Matters", Hearings before the Committee of the Judiciary, 87th Congress, second session, July 26 and August 2, 1962, Document No. 92395-63.

The Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs is the only agency through which Baptists of North America achieve a joint program and through which the movement as a whole maintains contact with other traditions, councils of churches, civil liberties organizations and a wide variety of non-governmental organizations. On the Washington scene, active contact is maintained with the National Lutheran Council, the Methodist Church, the United Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., United Church of Christ, National Council of Churches, the Friends, Episcopalians, Christian Scientists, Seventh Day Adventists, National Association of Evangelicals, Jewish organizations, and others.

Through active participation the executive director works on committees both of the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches. He is chairman of the Baptist World Alliance Study Commission on Religious Liberty and Human Rights.

The Washington Staff Conference, the National Religious Publicity Council, the National Civil Liberties Clearing House, the Clearing House on Public School Legislation, and other formal and informal groups constitute channels through which the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs makes known Baptist viewpoints.

The requests from non-Baptist groups have become so heavy as to seriously strain other aspects of the Committee's program.

3. A Program of Public Affairs Information. The Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs maintains a cooperative relation with the Baptist Press. The associate director serves as the Washington regional editor of Baptist Press. He holds accreditation in the Congressional press galleries and regularly covers the White House press conferences. During 1962 the information service sent out 176 stories, of which 165 were printed in Baptist state papers for a total of 1,121 printings with a circulation of 76,225,757. Although the volume of production was slightly lower in 1962 than the previous year, the total printings were up 24 per cent and the circulation was up 6.6 per cent, showing a better acceptance.

The larger papers naturally used more of the material from the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs; e.g., Florida took 106 stories, Mississippi 100, California 83, Illinois 68, Texas 63, District of Columbia 61, Alabama 54, Kentucky 52, Ohio 51, and New Mexico 50. Thirty-three stories were printed in 10 or more state papers, and 78 other stories were used in five to nine papers.

A rising effort to interpret the Baptist heritage has produced more requests for information materials than the limited staff can produce. The weight of these demands by agencies of the Convention has curtailed somewhat the analysis of the Washington scene. However, steps are being taken to correct this situation in 1963.

During the year Report From The Capital, published 10 months a year, was given a new format as a printed piece.

4. A Program of Correlation of Baptist Influence in the Field of Church-State Relations. The study program and the correlation program are next in order for development by the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs. However, during 1962, significant progress was made in the correlation work of the Committee. Consultations with the state convention executive secretaries were begun in February. These discussions have moved along to a point where additional experimentation is being planned.

To date the staff has collaborated in several types of approach to the needs of state conventions; i.e., ministers conferences by areas within a state (Illinois), participation in an all-state conference (Florida), consultations with associational missionaries (North Carolina). A committee of executive secretaries is currently studying the needs of state conventions and how the Baptist Joint Committee can work in correlation with these programs. Numerous other agencies of the Southern Baptist Convention are also working closely with the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs to interpret the Baptist movement through the channels open to each of these agencies.

Special Assignments by the Southern Baptist Convention. From time to time special matters are referred by the Convention to the Baptist Joint Committee for appropriate study and action. Problems in connection with laws regulating conduct on the Lord's Day and in relation to public tax policies have been referred to the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs. Inasmuch as these are continuing problems, the Committee continues to report developments in these areas and seeks to discern the Baptist principles that are related to them. Frequent reports are made to the constituency and guidelines are sent out in the form of staff reports, news releases, and interpretative articles.

In 1962 the Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention specifically requested the Baptist Joint Committee to communicate with every member of Congress on the question of public funds for church-related colleges. The following message was approved by the Executive Committee and was communicated by the Public Affairs Committee:

"The Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention, representing ad-interim a Convention of 10 million members in all fifty states, in regular session at Nashville, Tennessee, September 19, 1962, has received reports regarding the plans of the Congressional Joint Conference Committee for aid to higher education.

"In the opinion of the Executive Committee this proposed legislation merits more careful consideration because:

"(1) The proposed public grants to sectarian as well as to public colleges is a further erosion of an important public policy and basic Constitutional provision in American life. The fact that these are specific purpose grants does not relieve this evaluation.

"(2) The loan of public funds to private institutions with authority to give away 20 per cent of those funds as scholarships represents an inappropriate transfer of administrative functions to private or church agencies.

"We fear that this legislation involves a definite violation of the principle of separation of church and state. We request, therefore, that action on this bill be delayed until the church-state problems are eliminated."

CHRISTIAN LIFE COMMISSION
Southern Baptist Convention
Nashville, Tennessee
Foy Valentine, Executive Secretary-Treasurer

The primary task of the Christian Life Commission is to help Southern Baptists to carry into every area of life the whole gospel of Jesus Christ. The past year marked a significant acceleration of this effort through the Commission's program of Christian morality development.

Specifically, the Commission has emphasized the importance of the practical application of Christian principles in everyday life through promotion, dissemination of information, study and research, and special consultative and advisory endeavors.

With only a few exceptions, the state Baptist conventions now have Christian Life Commissions which are taking an increasingly active part in Baptist life. By counseling and advising with these state Christian Life Commissions, direction was provided for a more meaningful and united Southern Baptist witness in the areas of family life, race relations, the economic order, Christian citizenship, and Christian morality as it relates to such matters as beverage alcohol, gambling, salacious literature, juvenile delinquency, and world peace.

Highlights of the past year are as follows:

Speaking—Messages directly related to the Commission's emphasis were brought by the staff in nineteen states to such varied Southern Baptist audiences as state conventions, Brotherhood conventions, student groups, summer assemblies, WMU meetings, associational gatherings, state Christian Life conferences, and evangelism rallies. State Baptist papers carried eight of these messages in their entirety to an additional audience represented by a circulation of 427,000.

Writing—The responsibility for writing in the field of Christian social ethics has also been taken seriously. According to careful estimates, the Commission's written materials prepared last year had a total circulation of approximately 22,196,000.

Anti-Communism—During the year the Commission worked vigorously in the field of anti-communism. At the Commission's instigation, the Adult Training Union and the Young Adult Training Union lessons for November were devoted to a study of communism, a study course book on the subject was released by the Sunday School Board, a thirty-minute film and three fifteen-minute films on communism were prepared by the Sunday School Board, the Commission's Ridgecrest and Glorieta conferences were devoted to the subject of communism, the Commission filled orders for its tracts on communism from about thirty-one hundred churches and fourteen hundred WMUs, and numerous speeches were made to leadership groups on the subject.

Channeling—The Commission has sought to channel its emphasis on applied Christianity in the various denominational media. Typical of this endeavor has been Home Life magazine's carrying of reprints of messages by Dr. David R. Mace prepared for the 1961 Ridgecrest Christian Life conferences on "Christian Answers to Family Problems." These reprints reached an accumulated audience of 2,527,305.

Thirteen brief messages dealing with Christian social ethics were recorded for use on 270 radio stations where the Radio and Television Commission's program, "Master Control" now appears. That Commission estimates that these brief messages reached an accumulated audience of 118,000,000. Printed copies of the messages have been distributed and fifteen state Baptist papers have carried them in series form.

U. N. Seminar—In line with the Convention-approved program of specialized service and co-ordination in the area of world peace, the Christian Life Commission for the second time joined American Baptists and National Baptists in sponsoring a Baptist seminar on the United Nations. An observer and an alternate observer at the United Nations sought to interpret to Southern Baptists issues of special concern in the area of world peace and justice.

Literature Distribution—During the year the Christian Life Commission distributed on request about 200,000 pamphlets in the area of applied Christianity.

Southern Baptists have responded to the Christian Life Commission's work during the past year in a most encouraging manner. There is overwhelming gratitude to God for the "great door and effectual" that has opened wider to the Commission during the year as the Commission has sought to call Southern Baptists not only to believe but also to behave.

Excerpts from the REPORT OF THE EDUCATION COMMISSION TO THE
SOUTHERN BAPTIST CONVENTION

In Its One Hundred-Sixth Session at Kansas City, Missouri
May 10, 1963

Rabun L. Brantley, Executive Secretary-Treasurer

A new college sponsored by Kentucky Baptists, Kentucky Southern, opened in September, 1962, using space on the campus of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. The school is now building on its new campus in the Louisville suburbs and will move to the new campus in September.

Mobile College and Houston Baptist College will open in September, 1963, on their new campuses. Southern Baptists will then operate 73 schools: 6 seminaries and a joint operation with National Baptists of another seminary, 35 senior colleges, 19 junior colleges, 7 academies, and 5 Bible schools. Two of the junior colleges are in the process of becoming senior colleges.

The trustees of Decatur Baptist College have accepted the invitation of the Dallas Baptist College Committee to move to Dallas and become the nucleus of a new college there. Maryland Baptists, Charleston, Atlanta, and St. Louis are considering starting new colleges.

Only two senior colleges and one junior college remain un-accredited by their regional accrediting agencies. These are working toward full accreditation by the Jubilee Year of 1964.

The shortage of qualified teachers continues to be the number one problem of the administrators. The placement service is increasing its number of registrants but Ph.D.'s are in short supply and the oversupply of teachers in Bible and religion increases.

Baptist colleges now enroll about one in five of the Baptist students in college and the ratio will probably be about one in ten by 1970. The public institutions will expand more rapidly than Baptist colleges will be able to expand. This situation places upon the Baptist colleges added responsibility in recruitment. More attention will need to be given to enrolling Baptist students with leadership potentials if Baptists are not to be hampered in their progress in the Kingdom work.

Enrollment and Support.—Enrollments of total students have reached a record high for 1962-63 of 80,987 students compared to 77,143 in 1961-62.

Graduates from the 72 schools from September, 1961, to August, 1962, totaled 10,922 compared to 10,415 the preceding year.

State conventions and the Southern Baptist Convention apparently decreased gifts to the schools from $15,677,189 to $15,514,770, according to reports from the schools. Gifts from the conventions for operations amounted to $10,735,245 and for capital projects $4,779,525.

In addition, the schools received $12,749,141 in other gifts, grants, and donations. The total assets of Southern Baptist educational institutions are $392,408,610 of which $97,654,943 is for endowment.

Institutional changes.—Institutional changes for the year were: James H. Landes succeeded Evan Allard Reiff, deceased, as president of Hardin-Simmons University; Walter Pope Binns retired from the presidency of William Jewell College and was replaced by H. Guy Moore; death of Spright Dowell on February 24, 1963, president of Mercer University for 25 years and for 21 years secretary and 1 year as chairman of the Education Commission; P. Harris Anderson assumed the presidency of Bethel College; Thomas L. Neely followed M. C. Donnan as president of North Greenville Junior College; David C. Jackson succeeded D. Chester Sparks as president of Oneida Baptist Institute; and Nathan C. Brooks, Jr. resigned as president of Carver School of Missions since it merged with Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

Distributed nearly 800,000 pieces of literature through churches in 43 states and 5 foreign countries. Prepared special booklets for 13 states on schools and colleges. Orders are increasing for tracts.

FOREIGN MISSION BOARD
Southern Baptist Convention
Richmond, Virginia

“Statistical figures can never tell the story of missionary labor; they can only give a rough idea of some of the visible evidences which have come about. They can never tell the story of the deep dedication, patience, forbearance, and long-suffering which characterizes God’s servants as they meet the realities of mission ministries in many lands.”

—Baker J. Cauthen, Executive Secretary

Missionary Personnel: Many Places of Need

Appointments totaling 129 during 1962 and 47 from January to May, 1963, bring the number of foreign missionaries in active service to 1,685. Seventeen missionary associates are included in this number.

At the end of 1962, there were 790 urgent requests for new missionaries. Among the most pressing needs are those for people in field evangelism and church development, theological education, nursing, student work, and religious education.

Missionaries Serve: 53 Countries

Southern Baptists now have missionaries under appointment to 53 political entities: Argentina, Bahamas, Brazil, British Guiana, Chile, Colombia, Costa Rica, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, France, French West Indies, Gaza, Germany, Ghana, Guam, Guatemala, Honduras, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Israel, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Jordan, Kenya, Korea, Lebanon, Liberia, Macao, Malaya, Mexico, Nigeria, Northern Rhodesia, Nyasaland, Okinawa, Pakistan, Paraguay, Peru, Philippines, Portugal, Singapore, Southern Rhodesia, Spain, Switzerland (international seminary), Taiwan, Tanganyika, Thailand, Trinidad, Uganda, Uruguay, Venezuela, and Vietnam.

Southern Baptist foreign missions reached out to five additional countries in 1962, and one in early 1963.

World Evangelization: The Ultimate Goal

Mission work is carried on through a varying number of institutions on each mission field—churches, schools, hospitals, publication plants, good will centers. But all are interactive and the goal of each is evangelization. Whatever their institutional duties, all missionaries participate in work of the churches in their stations.

National pastors number 2,701. Most of the churches have Sunday schools, and many have other church-affiliated organizations. In 1962, the 3,783 churches and 6,850 chapels reported 433,379 enrolled in Sunday school, 35,509 baptisms, and 487,943 church members. (These figures include estimates for China.)

Education: Training National Leadership

Educational work not only offers opportunities for evangelism, but also trains a strong national leadership. The 1,060 Baptist schools, which enroll 169,178 students, are served by 5,656 national and 290 missionary teachers. Among the schools are 41 theological institutions with 1,394 students and 6 women's training schools with 467 students.

Buildings were dedicated for Baptist centers on San Jose, Costa Rica, March 1, 1963, and in Recife, Brazil, May 27, 1962. The Natal, Brazil, Good Will Center was opened June 3, 1962, and classes in the new Baptist high school, Mombasa, Kenya, began in January, 1963. The first diplomas were granted by Asia Baptist Graduate Seminary.

Medical Work: Unlimited Opportunity for Soul-Winning

The primary aim of missionary medicine is the healing of the whole man—both spiritually through a personal knowledge of Jesus Christ and physically through the best possible practice of medicine.

Medical mission institutions include 18 hospitals and 46 clinics and dispensaries with a total of 1,156 beds. There are 55 missionary and 82 national physicians, plus 56 missionary and 207 national nurses. They served 328,898 patients during the year, of whom 35,144 were inpatients.

During 1962, plans moved ahead for beginning medical work on Sumatra, in Indonesia. A mobile medical unit was set up in Uganda, and the Thailand government granted licenses to our first medical missionaries there. A couple joined the Christian Medical College and Hospital staff, Vellore, India.

Publications: The Printed Word

Strong churches need not only trained leaders, but also literature for evangelism and religious education. The largest mission publication centers are located in El Paso, Texas (Spanish) and in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil (Portuguese). The major plant for Chinese literature is located in Hong Kong. Several other Missions have plants of varying sizes.

Publication work was begun August 2, 1962, in Saigon, Vietnam. At Nairobi, Kenya, a new publications building was constructed.

Seventeen publishing centers produced 13,030,227 pieces of literature during 1962. These included periodicals, tracts, and books. Sixty-five missionaries and 452 nationals serve on publication staffs.

Receipts: Advance Must Continue

Total contributions of Southern Baptists for foreign missions amounted to $19,673,232.93 during 1962. Funds from the 1962 Lottie Moon Christmas Offering totaled $10,323,591.69.

The advance section of the Cooperative Program was not reached in 1962. It is our strong hope and expectation that the 1963 Convention budget will be fully reached, and that the advance section will bring strong reinforcement for sustained work. After the Convention-wide budget is reached, 75 per cent of the funds come to the Foreign Mission Board and 25 per cent to the Home Mission Board.

Home Office

There are 127 people working at the Board's home office, 3806 Monument Ave., Richmond, Va.

The Board's magazine, The Commission, reported an average circulation of 90,000 last year.

HISTORICAL COMMISSION Southern Baptist Convention Nashville, Tennessee

Since 1951 the Historical Commission has served the Southern Baptist Convention as its official agency for encouraging the preservation and use of historical materials related to Baptists. Offices and a historical library are maintained in Nashville, Tennessee, with Davis C. Woolley as Executive Secretary.

In conjunction with the Sunday School Board, the Commission has created in Nashville a research center for the study of Baptist history. Students, writers, editors, denominational workers, and local church leaders utilize the books, periodicals, annuals, minutes, manuscripts and other materials gathered by the Commission in the Dargan-Carver Library, operated jointly with the Sunday School Board.

The staff of the Commission conducts research and prepares historical studies for Convention agencies. Assistance is given to editors and writers in the preparation of lesson materials and articles relative to Baptist history. Assistance is also given to state conventions, associations, and churches in gathering historical data, writing history, and observing anniversaries.

The Commission works closely with state Baptist history agencies in serving the history needs of the churches and associations. Churches are urged to have their records microfilmed by the Commission to preserve them against loss or destruction.

Churches are encouraged to elect a history committee to promote such projects as gathering, preserving, and utilizing church records and biographical materials, writing a history, and observing anniversaries. Churches should plan to co-operate during the 1964 Baptist Jubilee Year in the promotion of Baptist Heritage Week,

April 20-24; Religious Liberty Sunday, June 21, Training Union curriculum studies in Baptist history in April and May, and a special observance by each church of its own anniversary. These projects will help Baptists to know their history and use it in achieving their world task.

5,000 Churches, Missions Reported

Southern Baptist mission forces reported approximately 5,000 missions and churches started in 1962 as a part of the Convention's effort to organize 30,000 missions and churches by 1964. C. C. Warren of Charlotte, N. C., director of the movement, reports a total of 19,117 units started since 1956. During 1963 the 30,000 Movement will emphasize missions with language groups and in 1964 with urban areas.

Relief Makes The News

The Home Mission Board, which has led Southern Baptists in responding to the needs of Latin American refugees, has helped meet another critical relief need. Winter and spring floods wrecked a number of churches in the Southern Appalachian Mountains, and the mission agency voted $5,000.00 to help restore buildings and furnishings in Kentucky, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Churches Resettle Cubans

Nearly 850 Cubans had been resettled through the efforts of Southern Baptist churches by May, 1963; and thousands have been assisted with food and clothing in Miami. Churches in Richmond, Atlanta, and other cities have responded to needs through Spanish classes, departments, and missions that these Latin friends might have the gospel in the "language of their souls."

Chaplaincy Staff Completed

With 738 Southern Baptist ministers serving as chaplains in the military, hospitals, industry, and institutions, the Division of Chaplaincy moved to meet needs in this field by rebuilding its staff. Added to the staff during 1962 were Cecil D. Etheredge, secretary of institutional and industrial chaplaincy, and Willis A. Brown, secretary of military personnel ministries.

Outstanding Chaplains Cited

George W. Cummins, director of the Division of Chaplaincy, cited two Southern Baptist chaplains for outstanding achievements. Chaplain Robert P. Taylor was named chief of the Air Force chaplains and promoted to major general. Chaplain James W. Kelly, a native of Malvern, Arkansas, senior chaplain at the Naval Academy, will become director of the chaplains division of the Department of the Navy July 1. He was selected for the rank of rear admiral.

Survey Work Emphasized

The Home Mission Board enlarged its ministry of survey and special studies with the employment of William A. Powell of Chicago and Orrin D. Morris of Jackson, Mississippi, as assistants to Leonard G. Irwin, department secretary.

New Workers In City Missions

New personnel also were employed for the City Missions Department as Harold C. Bennett became its secretary and L. W. Crews came to lead in juvenile rehabilitation work.

Missionaries Number 2,100

More than 2,100 missionaries now serve with the Home Mission Board. Most of these missionaries serve under 26 state agreements between the mission agency and the state conventions. These missionaries reported 48,700 professions of faith last year. There were also 595 student summer workers who served.

Associational Missionaries Meet

The superintendents of missions of associations gathered for a first-time, national meeting at Gulfshore Baptist Assembly in Mississippi for a study of the denomination and the association program. The 649 who attended termed this a meeting of helpfulness with an expected impact for the future. The study group method provided for individual participation and produced suggestions for improving denominational relations, especially between the association and Convention agencies.

Associational Development Ministry In Pilot Form

An Associational Development Ministry, sponsored by the Home Mission Board, incorporates the needed organization and ministries of an association. Now being tested in approximately 50 associations, the ministry provides a method for the association to check its organization against the total suggested program.

Migrant Missions Gets New Emphasis

The migrant missions ministry of the Home Mission Board changed its emphasis to a church-centered approach. Missionaries to the migrants have sold their trailers and established permanent residence from which they will serve limited areas. Instead of ministering to the migrants on a direct basis, the missionaries now serve as advisors to associations and churches who will minister to migrants coming into given church fields.

Year Of Service Reported By Church Loans

A record 385 churches were served by the Division of Church Loans for a total of $4,080,667.00 handled during the year for site and building loans and for bond purchases.

Spiritual Conquest, Now

The Division of Evangelism, which led Southern Baptists to baptize 381,510 during the year, is leading the Convention toward the climatic year of the Baptist Jubilee Advance under the theme, "Spiritual Conquest, NOW!" This theme was adopted by the mission agency for special literature for World Missions Week, the Convention program, assembly weeks, and the Evangelistic Conference in Dallas in July, 1963. New associate in the division is Newman McLarry.

414 Missionaries Appointed In Year

During 1962 the mission agency appointed 414 missionaries, according to Glendon McCullough, personnel secretary. He said there has been a significant increase in interest and applications by qualified couples and single young women. There continues to be, however, an urgent need for missionaries to Spanish, Italian, Polish, Yugoslavian, and good will center missions. Some of these urgent requests have gone unanswered for two years. Missionary nurses and young women in mission centers are a major need. McCullough also noted that some language groups appointees are being sent to language school before service.

Magazine Enters Joint Subscription Plan With Commission

Home Missions Magazine joined The Commission in making a special offer for 1963. Both magazines are being sold for two years for $3.00. The offer, secured by writing to The Commission, extends only through 1963, which is World Missions Year in the Baptist Jubilee Advance.

Home Missions Information Supports Work

Major changes in methods of informing Southern Baptists about home missions were made by the Education and Promotion Division. One change was the new Mission Study Supplement, incorporating the best of tracts and giving full-page pictures for teachers of the graded study series. Title of the series was "The Church's Ministry to Persons of Special Needs." The division also produced filmstrips, motion pictures, slides, pictures, news, and tracts, assembly and convention programs, displays, and promoted schools of missions.

NEW ORLEANS BAPTIST THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY
New Orleans, Louisiana
H. Leo Eddleman, President

World famous New Orleans in the heart of the Americas was honored in 1917 when Baptist leaders in the area at last launched a formal Bible teaching ministry. Preceded by decades of discussion and writing, the Baptist Bible Institute began with convention approval, though largely supported by Baptists in Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana. From the beginning she was a "school of providence and prayer." One out of every eleven full degree graduates has served or is now serving under a foreign mission board. During the depression when the Foreign Mission Board was unable to appoint new missionaries, the student body financed a graduate from its own ranks as a missionary to the Far East.

THREE IN ONE

The School of Theology awards the B.D., Th.M. and Th.D. degrees. Three-fourths of the student body are enrolled in this school. It is fully accredited, with 23 faculty members, and a number of tutors. It majors on the pastoral and preaching ministry to meet the needs of the people and the churches.

The School of Religious Education has 8 faculty members, one special instructor and several tutors. The degrees (M.R.E. and D.R.E.) are fully accredited by the American Association of Schools of Religious Education. Besides educational directors there is specialized training for youth workers, counselors, recreation leaders, student work, etc.

The School of Sacred Music has 9 faculty members, two contract teachers, and several tutors. It has never abandoned the concept of music "of the people, by the people, and for the people" that the joy of the Christian faith may be augmented for all through singing.

OUTSTANDING FEATURES

Faculty—able, consecrated, scholarly, 40 in all with numerous tutors and two contract teachers.

Enrollment—1962-63 stands at 841 not including summer school.

Student Expenses—include only small fees charged by all Southern Baptist seminaries. No tuition. Other costs like books, food and rent are moderate.

Church work—Over 364 students hold such positions. The number increases annually. Greater New Orleans offers unlimited opportunities for remunerative employment.

Housing—includes 303 apartments for married students, 84 units for single girls, 258 for single men and a trailer park which provides space for 35 house-trailers.

Summer School—lasts two months, classrooms air conditioned, embodies a semester's work in two courses or regular curriculum.

Extension classes and correspondence courses—available by writing Seminary Extension Department, Box 1154, Jackson, Mississippi.

Field Mission Work—required of all students. It is part of the academic program. One-half hour credit per semester is given. Last session students reported 2,500 additions by baptism, 3,521 by letter and 1,687 professions of faith during other assignments for 40 weeks. This is an average of 193 decisions per week, or enough to start two or three churches each week if they were all in the same area.

SOUTHERN BAPTIST THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Louisville, Kentucky
Duke K. McCall, President

The major thrust of training at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary is for church ministries. In addition to pastors and ministers of religious education and church music; missionaries, denominational workers, teachers for colleges and universities and church social workers also receive training for professional and graduate degrees at the seminary.

Southern Seminary is within a 250 mile radius of 6,600 Baptist churches and is adjacent to two new state Baptist conventions.

Major events during the past year include:

1. Establishing a Conference and Research Center for continuing theological education for pastors and members of church staffs, laymen Bible study conferences, special research projects and workshops.

2. Merger of Carver School of Missions and Social Work with the seminary. The merger will be fully implemented following a second and final vote of the Southern Baptist Convention in Kansas City. Carver was originally the Woman's Missionary Union Training School established 56 years ago.

3. A new church social work and advanced missions major were added to the seminary's School of Religious Education's curriculum. Arrangements have been made with the Kent School of Social Work, University of Louisville, for students to receive both a Master's of Religious Education and an accredited Master's Degree in Social Work in three years.

4. An increase of 35 in the total enrollment of regular students at the seminary. The student body consisted of 854 fully enrolled plus approximately 200 special students during the past year.

5. Cooperative Program funds for the 1962-63 seminary year were $560,770 for operating expenses. The seminary budget for the year was $1,069,135. The added amount is from gifts, trusts, bequests, endowment, auxiliary enterprises such as housing and from student fees. During the year the student body passed a resolution expressing their thanks for Cooperative Program gifts which make their seminary education possible.

6. Two teaching chairs were established during the year. Dr. Hugo H. Culpepper, associate professor of missions and a former missionary, was appointed to the William O. Carver Chair of Christian Missions. The William Walker Brooks Professorship for courses related to the Christian Church in North America was established.

7. More than 7,000 Southern Baptist Theological Seminary Alumni now serve churches, on the mission fields, and educational institutions.

SOUTHWESTERN BAPTIST THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

Fort Worth, Texas

Robert E. Naylor, President

William Fleming, President of the Board of Trustees

Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary enrolled 2,056 students during its fifty-fifth year—1,716 men and 340 women. They came from 40 states and 17 foreign countries and were graduates of 231 colleges and universities.

In the School of Theology there were 1,266 enrolled, in the School of Religious Education 643 and in the School of Church Music 147.

Sixty-six full-time faculty members and seven part-time members make up the teaching force of the seminary. The retirement of two faculty members was announced at the close of this academic year. T. B. Maston, head of the department of Christian Ethics, retires after forty-two years teaching in Southwestern. Sarle Brown, after eleven years teaching in Southwestern, retires in the School of Church Music.

William Pinson and Thomas Urrey were elected to the faculty of the School of Theology.

Special events during the year included a Kindergarten Workshop, Baptist Student Directors' Workshop, Pastors' Conference, Southwestern Religious Education Association, Conference on Church Architecture and Equipment, Church Music Workshop, Spring Lectures, Conferences on the Student Pastorate and the 14th Annual College Student Missions Conference. The latter enrolled in excess of 1,700 with 248 commitments to home and foreign missions and five professions of faith.

Apparently the decline in seminary enrollment for the past three years has been arrested at Southwestern. The great increase in new students is a new factor. Preliminary applications for enrollment and requests for materials concerning the seminary indicate a continued trend in this direction.

Project Report

1. Student Housing. Two additional buildings have been started in the J. Howard Williams Memorial Student Village, with completion expected by September.

2. Student Activities Building. The Student Activities Building is in the process of drawing by the architect, with construction expected to begin in June.

3. The Children's Building. This building for day nursery and kindergarten operation will be the next immediate project.

STEWARDSHIP COMMISSION
Southern Baptist Convention
Nashville, Tennessee
Merrill D. Moore, Executive Director

I. STEWARDSHIP DEVELOPMENT

The Forward Program of Church Finance, now called the Forward Program of Christian Stewardship, has been joined by a new stewardship development program for churches with up to three hundred members called Growth in Christian Stewardship. These two programs aid churches in developing giving congregations. More and more churches are finding that when a person gives of his possessions, he will give more of himself to the service of God.

A record number of more than 4,000 churches ordered materials in 1962. The total number of orders handled increased from 5,252 in 1961 to over 8,000 in 1962. Orders during the current year are running far ahead of 1962.

Also available this year for the first time is A Stewardship Development Program for Baptist Associations. Scores of associations have scheduled its full use this year.

Early in 1964 a program entitled Year-Round Stewardship Development will be available for churches to use in keeping Christian stewardship before the people all through the year.

II. COOPERATIVE PROGRAM

Almost 33,000 Southern Baptist churches are now ministering to world needs through the Cooperative Program. Approximately $1 million passes through this channel to mission causes every week. More than 60 per cent of this amount is used for state mission causes. The remainder goes to support the work being done by Southern Baptist Convention agencies.

The Cooperative Program helps us to see a total world missions program. It is an economical receiving and distribution method by which administrative costs are kept low. Through this means our churches are able to present a united front and to develop a unified approach.

1. We recommend that our churches focus attention upon world missions by observing October (or some other month) as Cooperative Program month. By this means our people will be informed about the mission causes and challenged to pray for them.

2. We recommend that every church in the association give prayerful consideration to increasing the per cent now going to missions through the Cooperative Program. We especially commend the 2 Plus plan by which a church gives at least 2 per cent more of the total church budget to missions through the Cooperative Program.

III. ENDOWMENT AND CAPITAL GIVING PROMOTION

The stewardship of possessions includes liberal giving which starts with the tithe, plus Christian attitudes and practices in the acquisition, handling, and final disposition of material goods. One has not completed his stewardship until he has drawn (with the help of legal counsel) a will that provides for disposition of his property after his death. He can continue to witness to the Lordship of Christ beyond his lifetime. This can also be done through a living trust or an outright capital gift during his lifetime.

1. We recommend that every church in the association observe January, 1964, as "Make Your Will Month." Helpful material may be obtained from the state foundation office and the state stewardship office.

2. We recommend that our pastors attempt to focus attention upon the work of Baptist Foundations in September, 1964.

A well-conceived and properly implemented plan for the stewardship of estate will result in the Christian's being able to do more for his loved ones and more for the kingdom.
