Picture perfect

"Could someone please zip my dress? Do I have on enough lipstick?" These questions and more were batted around in the dressing rooms of the contestants for the 1985 Ouachitonia Beauty Pageant. After hair touch-ups and make-up applications were completed, the girls were ready to go on stage. for another look, see page 24

To wear the shirt

"Pledge!" Uh oh. The sound of the pledge master. Ohh. The sight of the pledge. This was the beginning of the longest week in a pledge's life. Depending on the attitude the week could either be fun or terrible. Any pledge would tell you that no one ever said pledge week was easy. for another look, see page 45

-Amy Caldwell

Worth remembering

Homecoming climaxed when the Tigers defeated the Harding University Bison 28 to 24.

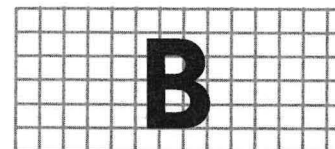

-Sherri Vinning

However, the day before the game, alumni and friends began arriving on campus. Even earlier, students and the administration busily prepared for this special celebrated week. for another look, see page 28

Academics

A Margin of Difference

-Doug Johnson

The department of Military Science had served as long as any other department on campus. Military training had been taught since 1886, making it rank with all other curriculums in importance at Ouachita. Dr. Grant perhaps expressed it best, "I support the ROTC program because our alumni believe in the program and expect us to continue it." for another look, see page 66

Admissions Outreach

The main source of outreach and recruitment for OBU was the Admissions Counseling Office. The counselors made trips to different schools in the state. From the information received from each high school, the office formed a list of prospective students. for another look, see page 65

Module Modification

It all started on January 25, 1984, in McClellan room 104. It was up to this committee to devise a workable plan for teaching humanities. Students were required to take Western Thought and Culture and three additional classes in either Literature and Humanities, Music and Humanities, or Philosophy and Dynamics. for another look, see page 80.

The "Showcase of Ouachita"

-Bryant Moxley

performed at home games with a flag line and majorettes. A pep band provided "Tiger spirit" at the weekly pep rallies and performed at out-of-town games. for another look, see page 122

Small but determined

"Determination helped us pull together and survive during hard times," said Sherrie Martin. "Even though we are a small club, our love and support for each other makes us a good one." for another look, see page 100

-Tammy Stalnaker

Campus coverage

Flenniken Memorial didn't look like much from the outside. It's 1940 facade could have passed for anything from a college frat house to a New Orleans plantation home. But, once inside you discovered it to be the hub of campus activity.

over five freshmen, Ellen Neil, Conzeda Glover, Chris Harvey, Shannon Brown and Debbie Paas and one transfer, Tippi McCullough. Instead of feeling threatened, Karen said her experience made her confident that she could make it through the season. for another look, see page 128

Winning spirit

The Tigerettes began their basketball season with a new training program under the direction of coach Virginia Honnell. Leading the team with a 13-11 record, Coach Honnell started laying the groundwork of something that was to continue for a long time — a winning spirit. for another look, see page 158

Student champions

Intramurals - the final frontier. These are the voyages of the Ouachita students - their four year mission to seek out new competition, who boldly play where no man has played before ... It was on hallowed grounds that music major went up against political science major with the intent of winning the coveted crown: the Intramural Championship T-Shirt. for another look, see page 160

the Ouachitonian staff

From the editor's desk

One more time I have to hurry up with my copy. The X's on the wall have multiplied and the book is almost finished.

This book could never have been possible without the talented, dependable staff of the 1985 Ouachitonian and my first word of thanks goes to God for them.

Thanks also to my parents and Mrs. Connie Penny for encouraging me and allowing me to be at Ouachita.

Beth, you've been a great right and left hand man.

Robin and Lori, ya'll never gave up!

The rest of the group, thanks for your hard work.

Dr. Downs and Mac, ya'll always had an answer for my questions.

Phil, you put in more hours up here than anyone else and I really appreciated your dedication to the book.

Mark, you gave me support both at home and in the office, THANKS! Thanks especially for staying up with me through all those centennial pages.

Sincerely,
Wendy Kizzar, 1985 Ouachitonian Editor
