

The War Council

Dana Lou Vernon

Sedately muse,
Doodle, delicate drawings.
The flame browning peace
 bursts paper into light, Wildfire,
 blow, Suzanne, blow;
Delicate ashes drift downward,
 spiraling into the conflict.
There he stands facing Dinosaur and Killer Rabbit.
His only weapons against The Memos... a camera, a pen, and
 an "A" with six pluses.
All he had wanted,
 a cup of coffee,
 that hot, sultry day.
Innocently he stepped into the Eastern Jungle,
 into the melee.
Native Poison on invisible darts
 slowly took effect.
Anti-amnesia, Truth serum,
 the antidote,
 quick in administration,
WINS...TOUCHE;
The Pen has Risen through the Flames scorching Peace.

Blow, Suzanne, Blow,
Extinguish the Fire,
End the Conflict
of Doodlers
delicately daring
destructive,
and devious.
