0:17		[music]
0:35	Sam	Jesse, what is it in California that causes all that?
0:38	Jesse	All what , Sam?
0:39	Sam	All them groups.
0:40	Jesse	What groups?
0:41	Sam	Them religious groups!
0:43	Jesse	Now, Sam, there's religious groups all over the country.
0:45	Sam	No, no, Jesse. I, I mean, them really weird groups. I, I think they call them "cults."
0:50	Jesse	That's "cults."
0:51	Sam	Yeah, yeah, that's it. Now, why does California get 'em all?
0:54	Jesse	Well, I ain't real sure California does get 'em all. But, but they seem to have more in their share. What brought all this up anyway?
1:00	Sam	That, that TV show. You, you know that show Hello Today America?
1:03	Jesse	Oh, yeah.
1:04	Sam	Well, they had a lot about him this morning. Really weird stuff. I, I can't believe that.
1:08	Leon	I ain't never seen that show.
1:10	Jesse	What can't you believe?
1:12	Leon	I always watched Deputy Dawg, then. [overlap]
1:14	Sam	What did you say, Jesse?
1:15	Jesse	Oh, I forgot!

1:17	Sam	They showed this group that lives in a, in a' abandoned schoolhouse near Chico, California.
1:23	Jesse	Oh, yeah?
1:24	Sam	Well, they make their living--about 40 of them counting women and children--they make their living by folding maps for, for Texaco.
1:30	Jesse	Folding maps?
1:31	Sam	Yeah. Yeah, that's a real art. Did you ever try to refold one?
1:35	Jesse	Yeah, and it just can't be done!
1:37	Sam	That's what I say. It takes skill!
1:39	Jesse	Well, I guess they ain't really hurting nobody.
1:41	Sam	Who?
1:42	Jesse	Well, those people you're talking about.
1:44	Sam	Yeah, well, but it ain't right. It seemed like they worship globes and they believe when you die, your soul goes to Rand McNally.
1:51	Leon	Is that close to Chicago?
1:53	Jesse	That, that's really weird.
1:55	Sam	And then there's this other church that call themselves the reformed church of Saint Otis. They worship elevators!
2:01	Jesse	That, that's, that's just too silly to even talk about.
2:03	Sam	Ain't it, though? They don't believe anybody ever dies. They believe they just get stuck between floors.
2:10	Jesse	Sam, I'd rather not hear anymore.
2:12		[music]
2:34	Jesse	[door closes] Well, hey there, Mr. Buddy!
2:36	Mr. Buddy	H-hi, Jesse! What's going on?
2:38	Jesse	Well, not much work! Sam can't get his mind off them strange cults he's seen on the television this morning.
2:43	Mr. Buddy	Oh, yeah! You saw that on Hello Today America?

2:46	Sam	Yeah, this morning!
2:48	Mr. Buddy	Did he tell you about that group that worship globes?
2:50	Jesse	Now, Mr. Buddy, we done heard more than we wanted to already.
2:52	Mr. Buddy	Now, I tell you a cult that's about to drive me crazy. It's that bus that begs for money in the airports all over this country.
2:58	Sam	Airports? What's their name?
3:00	Mr. Buddy	Well, I'm not sure what their name is but I wish that whole cult would get a town of their own. Then we could all go to their airport and beg for money!
