

Shadow's Enticement

by Shelbey Bilnoski

It's improbable, illogical, and slightly insane, but it's finished, over, nothing remains call it a lie, say it's false claims but the fire still tears you apart it's unbelievable, awful, and probably demonic but it's unavoidable, entangling, nothing can stop it close your eyes, deny it exists, but it still projects shadows in the dark it's lethal, fatal, and always triumphant it's eyes project peace, entice you to join it deceive you to come, come run right in right into the FIRE, right into this SIN it would be intelligent to persevere against it the wise would stand strong 'til the dawn but you, my soul, just couldn't stand it we embraced death face on.