ARKADELPHIA, Ark. – Ouachita Baptist University's School of Fine Arts will host Chad Satchell and Shelton Wooley in their senior art exhibit, "Life in Vector," March 9-17. The exhibit will be on display in Moses-Provine Hall's Rosemary Gossett Adams Gallery. A reception will be held Tuesday, March 13, at 7 p.m.

Satchell is a senior graphic design major from Frisco, Texas, and Wooley is a senior graphic design major from Ruston, La.

"The show is based on how we, as graphic designers, see the world around us," Wooley said. "Most artists and even non-artists see the world as a complicated image of colors and objects. However, we see the world as simple shapes, or vectors."

The show features a collection of Satchell's and Wooley's best work over the past three years at Ouachita. Shirts, logos, posters, packaging, decks of cards and more are on display in the first floor of the gallery.

"Both of us have grown as designers through our time at Ouachita," Satchell said. "I think our exhibit speaks to this as the pieces in it are complete and professional, and we are able to talk about how and why we created the piece."

The exhibit can be viewed during regular Adams Gallery hours, 8 a.m.-5 p.m. Monday through Friday. For more information, contact OBU's School of Fine Arts at (870) 245-5129.
