

Research programs flourish in sciences

The chemistry department, headed by Dr. Wayne Everett was involved in various forms of research this year. Dr. Everett finished a National Institute of Health project in protein research of protein, while Dr. Joe Nix completed a three-year, $40,000 project, funded by the Department of the Interior, involving studies on the distribution of trace metals in DeGray Lake.

Dr. Everett and Dr. Nix also spoke to high schools and civic clubs for both department and University recruiting purposes. The department has two sampling boats equipped with SONAR and other equipment which are valuable research assets.

Two new members joined the chemistry department this year including Dr. Joe Jeffers as a full-time member of the department, and Jim Gilbert, a graduate assistant in chemistry.

Led by Dr. Victor Oliver, the department of biology was also involved in research this year with Mr. Richard Brown studying the growth rate of perch in DeGray Lake. Several students were selected to Beta Beta Beta, a biology honor society.

Martin Tull's work in holography was a major project in the physics department. Holography is a type of photography which uses a laser camera for making three-dimensional pictures. Also during the year, Bell Telephone Company of Little Rock presented a program on holography.

Home Ec. and math prepare for future

Preparing young adults for homemaking responsibilities was the aim last year of the home economics department. Four faculty supervisors coordinated such department activities as field trips to the Arkansas Children's Colony outside Arkadelphia and to interior decorators around the state. The foods class provided refreshments for campus teas, and the clothing class modeled for the December OBU Style Show. The department also featured a marriage class for both men and women and a special home economics course for men only.

Eight department representatives were sent to the American Home Economics Association state convention in Little Rock. Ouachita's "Miss AHEA" for the year was Anna Faye Waldrum.

In January, the department was moved from Bailey Hall to the newly acquired Home Economics House on the corner by Flippen-Perrin dorm.

Math department activities included the return of William Allen from a year's leave at Northeastern Louisiana State College. While there, Mr. Allen studied computer sciences in preparation for the possible introduction of similar training in Ouachita's academic program. Fortran programming courses proposed for the spring and fall semesters this year included algorithms, basic programming and writing of programs for computer solution of numerical and non-numerical problems.

Machines added to business training

New business machines, including three electronic calculators and one mimeographing machine, were purchased for use in the office administration department this year and aided in the teaching of marketing, management, business law, corporate finance, accounting, and other subjects in the business field. Many students received on-the-job training from part time and holiday jobs.

Mrs. Helen Frazier, assistant professor of office administration, served throughout the year as president of the Arkansas Business Education Association. In early November, the business department gave a special recognition in Mrs. Frazier's honor for her being named the Outstanding Business Teacher of the Year in Arkansas. It was the second straight year she had won the award.

In January, the entire business department was moved from Bailey Hall to the second floor of Terral-Moore so that Bailey could be torn down to make room for the construction of the new student center building.

The Phi Beta Lambda business fraternity sold cloth calendars as a moneymaking project this year and had the organizations national president on campus for a mid-November program.

Involvement stressed by departments

Emphasis on involvement led students in the psychology department to work with handicapped residents at the Arkansas Children's Colony and take field trips to the state hospital in Benton, the Veteran's Administration Hospital and the state mental hospital in Little Rock.

Faculty members provided individual counseling for students at Ouachita and Henderson as well as for Arkadelphia residents.

Other department functions included psychological and vocational testing.

Accreditation for another ten years was granted to the department of teacher education by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Using a team teaching approach, the department boosted its student teaching program to near-record levels with 38 teacher trainees in the fall and 95 in the spring. Twelve library science students also practice taught during the year.

Study was done on a new teaching method called "mini-course," instruction by use of video tape.

Social sciences add new course, tutoring

An additional teacher, a new course, a voter survey and a tutoring service were the highlights of the social sciences division last year.

The history department added Ray Granade who came to Ouachita from Florida State University. Granade directed an academic skills development program which was aimed at increasing reading speed and comprehension, correcting writing problems and aiding in listening and oral communications. The department also offered a new course in the history of Vietnam and a professional seminar which did indepth studies dealing with such topics as the Civil War and Reconstruction, Imperialism, The New Deal and Vietnam.

Lt. Gov. Bob Riley divided his time between the classroom and the state capitol while Associate Professor Jim Ranchino doubled as a teacher and a TV political commentator for KATV.

The department of sociology developed a program in social work which provided a tutoring service for under privileged children.

ROTC unit remains as required program

Now in its eighty-fourth year, Ouachita's ROTC program remains as one of the two compulsory college training units in Arkansas.

Greater student participation than in previous years marked extracurricular activities such as the drill team, Rangers, rifle team, Color Guard and Pershing Rifles. A girls' drill team was reestablished along with the formation of a student volunteer military band.

Last summer, 18 Advance Corps cadets attended ROTC camp at Fort Riley, Kansas for the first time. Previously, Fort Sill, Oklahoma had been the site for the annual trek. The change came about due to the realignment of the Fourth and Fifth U.S. Armies.

Last fall, a petition presented to the OBU administration by a group of military science students resulted in emphasis being shifted from hair length to neatness and grooming for all OBU military science students.

Although the flight program was not in effect this year, it does remain in Ouachita's ROTC program.

Lt. Col. Otis Livingston began his first full year as OBU's professor of military science, coming here from a tour as a battalion commander in Vietnam. New instructors included Cpt. Don Jordan, Cpt. Robert McCloskey and SFC James A. Robertson.

Competition stressed in physical education

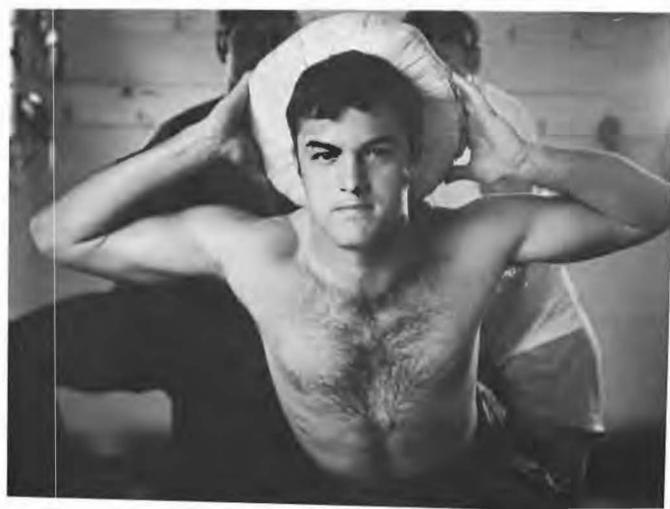

The value of competitive games, education, health and safety and the training of Christian athletes and teachers was stressed this year in the physical education department.

Possible changes in the department's activities and courses were considered by a curriculum committee composed of faculty and students.

Last spring the department established the first pocket billiards course in the state, and it remained in the curriculum this year. The department also revitalized the Physical Education Majors Club by meeting jointly with other colleges and sponsoring speakers throughout the year.

New additions to the department's staff this year included George Jones, assistant basketball coach and head baseball coach; Ron Newsome, director of intramurals and assistant football coach; and Tona Wright, volleyball and tennis coach.

New girls' drill team Marches in parades

The Girls' Drill Team, entitled "Tigress Royale," was a newly created organization on campus. As a drill team they marched in several parades in the fall. The spring semester brought more parades, local performances and attendance in out-of-state competitions.

The team was sponsored by Company N-7, Ouachita's chapter of the Pershing Rifles. Jenny Jordan served as team commander while Mrs. Larry Burton served as the advisor.

Ouachita's Men's Drill Team consists of students who enjoy drill techniques, tactics and constant practice. The group, which was formerly a part of the Pershing Rifles became more of a club which in the future hopes to involve itself in community affairs.

Once again the team made the annual trip to New Orleans and the Mardi Gras. Performances during the Christmas holidays and additional parade performances throughout the state rounded out the club's activities for the year. Drill Team commander was Bobby Hassel.

Student ROTC units represent University

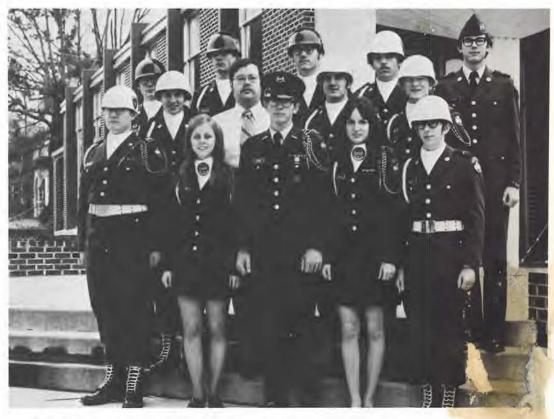

The Color Guard's primary job is to carry the Ouachita colors and the U. S. flag in parades around the state, at football and basketball games, and in other special events. The Color Guard Commander sees to it that the colors are raised each morning over the Administration Building before 8.

Pershing Rifles is a national military fraternity open to outstanding military cadets. Each company attends two conference meetings annually plus one Regimental Assembly where members compete in several military events.

The Rifle Team is open to those interested in improving their marksmanship and learning firearm safety precautions.

The Rangers is composed of those who have shown an interest in developing their leadership abilities. These men are given class work and application of radio-telephone procedures, map reading and elementary hand-to-hand combat. One of the most important aspects of Ranger training is the unconventional warfare instruction such as small unit tactics.

Singing men alter music and outfits

A more vibrant approach to church music and new outfits added to the effect of the Singing Men as they presented programs throughout the state in churches, high schools and civic meetings.

This year the group presented more high school programs than ever before, and when they were not performing, the Singing Men were telling the students a little about Ouachita. In April they toured high schools in Louisiana and Arkansas.

On campus they gave a chapel program and a spring concert entitled "Spring Spectacular."

This summer the Singing Men plan to spend a week in Houston singing in various churches.

Ouachi-Tones active in advancement drive

The Ouachi-Tones made numerous appearances throughout the state this year for the Ouachita Advancement Campaign. The group, composed of ten singers and a pianist, performed for civic clubs, conventions, churches, and high school audiences. Last summer they made a USO tour through Panama, Puerto Rico, Guantamano Bay, Cuba and islands in the Bahamas and West Indies.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Shambarger, the group presented a special chapel service in the fall, and their annual concert in the spring. They made approximately 35 appearances during the year. Members of the group were selected by Mrs. Shambarger.

Career groups seek additional knowledge

A society for student organists, Diapason is the Ouachita chapter of the American Guild of Organists. In addition to regular meetings the second Monday of every month, Diapason encourages its members to attend organ recitals in Little Rock and to present recitals of their own on campus.

A member of the National Federation of Music Clubs, the Musician's Guild seeks to promote greater interest among its student members in all aspects of music. Meeting once a month, the Guild encourages participation in the choral and instrumental organizations, attendance at all concerts and recitals and offers study courses to supplement work taken for credit. Miss Virginia Queen is faculty sponsor.

Introducing mathematical concepts beyond the range of the classroom is the aim of Sigma Gamma Sigma, a campus-wide organization of outstanding mathematics students. Requiring that members have six hours of math, SGS holds monthly meetings to provide students with the opportunity of discussing concepts and presenting ideas to improve the curriculum. New members were initiated this spring.

Requirements for membership in Gamma Sigma Epsilon, an honorary chemistry fraternity, include a 3.0 GPA in at least twelve hours of chemistry. Last spring two members, Gabriel Srouji and Neal Sumerlin, attended the national GSE convention at Mississippi State College for Women at Columbus.

Players, accountants prepare for careers

The National Collegiate Players attempt to further interest in dramatics in institutions of higher education and promote a sense of devotion and cooperation among those involved in the theater arts. OBU honor societies go beyond classroom

Alpha Chi is made up of the upper ten percent of the junior and senior classes. Four members attended the national convention at Memphis, Tennessee. Initiation of new members was held in the spring.

Sigma Tau Delta was created to promote the mastery of written expression, encourage worthwhile reading, and foster a spirit of fellowship among men and women specializing in English. Requirements for membership are 12 hours and a 2.5 average in English.

The chapter's activities included editing Ripples, the campus literary magazine, and a banquet in the spring to induct new members.

Professional groups add to core subjects

The Student National Education Association (SNEA) is composed of students who are planning to enter the teaching profession. Monthly meetings were held to discuss career opportunities and problems facing educators.

SNEA sponsored a drop-in at the beginning of the fall semester for all those interested in joining. The association was represented at the annual AEA Convention in November. A special state-wide luncheon was also held with Quachita being represented.

Phi Beta Lambda, an organization to promote an understanding of the business and industrial world, made visits to various businesses this year. They also visited the capitol to talk with Governor Dale Bumpers, heard visiting speakers, and conducted service projects throughout the community. The project for the year was selling 1972 calenders. In March, members of the organization participated in a Walk-a-thon for the March of Dimes, and attended the state Phi Beta Lambda Convention in Conway in April.

Service organizations assist worthy causes

The OBU Mental Health Club, the only recognized college mental health club in the state, had as its activities a rummage sale, fund raising for the Boy's Attention Home of Arkadelphia and the State Mental Health Association. The club also attended the state mental health convention in Little Rock.

The Collegiate Civitan Club was formed as a service organization, not only to serve the school but also the community. Among the activities of the Civitan Club were a project to help underprivileged children and to promote voter registration. The club strives to help promote good citizenship and participation in school and community activities.

AWS, AHEA active in campus programs

A fall style show, a school-wide dropin and hosting of the annual convention of the Arkansas Association of Women Students in February were three of many more AWS activities this year.

The organization also sponsored a bridal showcase style show in the spring, ran an election for the Outstanding Senior Woman, and sent delegates to the IAWS convention in Chicago.

Janie Hampton was state AWS president.

Politics, Christianity, are group objectives

Participation in the national convention of Young Democrats held in Hot Springs last year and lending assistance to the voter registration drive in Arkansas were among the significant activities of the Young Democrats chapter at Ouachita.

Speakers during the year included Gov. Dale Bumpers, Lt. Gov. Bob Riley, Congressman David Pryor, prosecuting attorney Jim Guy Tucker and Herbie Branscum, state president of the Y.D.'s. The club also sent delegates to the district meeting in New Orleans and will be represented this summer during the national convention in Miami.

College athlete's who were looking for someone to "pray and share their faith with," joined together in the fall and organized the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. This organization was opened to any athlete who was interested or had lettered in high school or college athletics. They held their meetings bi-weekly in Rockefeller Gym. Jim Hamilton served as president and Bill Vining Jr. served as vice president. Mr. Doug Dickens was their sponsor.

Religious groups emphasize activities

The Baptist Student Union's fall semester activities included a watermelon supper, a hay ride, a retreat and the state BSU convention. During the spring, the group sponsored Religious Emphasis Week, a 2day rock festival, and various mission and revival teams. They also attended the state BSU retreat at Camp Paron near Little Rock.

In spreading the Christian message through music, the New Mind Singers presented Ralph Carmicheal's musical "Natural High" as a chapel program and also sang at the State Reform School for Girls.

The Religious Drama Guild was chartered in 1970 as a Christian service organization which promotes the gospel through drama. Since its founding, the members have traveled over 50,000 miles, presenting plays to approximately 75 churches.

The Ministerial Alliance was organized to encourage Christain fellowship and knowledge of the Bible. Members heard various guest speakers in their bi-monthly meetings and sponsored Noon Day programs with the BSU.

"Doorways" is theme of yearbook

With "Doorways" as a theme, the OUA-CHITONIAN staff got together to produce a permanent record of the 1971-72 college year. Tommy Chaffin, spring editor of the 1971 OUACHITONIAN, returned to edit the 1972 yearbook.

The 1972 OUACHITONIAN featured several "new looks." Student addresses were added to the index, more color pictures and duotones were in the opening section, and the social club section was done in color.

Newspaper features format innovations

Under the leadership of editor Brenda Dierker the SIGNAL appeared as a weekly newspaper this year. The publication offered several major changes in format, including a News Brief column on the front page giving information briefs and quick previews of coming events.

A column discussing popular records was another new weekly feature, as was the syndicated cartoon, "Frankly Speaking."

OBU journalism students served as reporters for the paper, and provided feature articles, columns and technical help.

Vocal groups appear in regional concerts

The Ouachita Singers, a group of vocalists composed of music and non-music majors who are selected through audition, performed through-out the state as well as in surrounding states. The Singers performed in a Christmas concert, at the Arkansas Baptist Convention, and went on a state tour in April.

The Quachita Madrigals, a group which sings and performs 15th and 16th century music in period costume, presented a musical drama, "The Unicorn," in December. In March, the Madrigals hosted the Madrigal Festival. The festival attracted Madrigal groups from all over Arkansas.

The OBU Choir, composed of approximately 100 members, performed Vivaldi's composition "Gloris" in December and held an outdoor concert in the spring.

The OBU choir, which boasts over 100 members, is shown presenting Vivaldi's GLORIA during the Christmas concert. The choir, conducted by Ray Holcomb, was accompanied by a small orchestra.

Tiger Band performs on field and stage

The 91-member Tiger Band again played dual roles as a marching and concert unit.

During the fall, the marching band performed at all home football games and at the Southern State game at Magnolia. The concert band played for the Arkansas Baptist Convention in Little Rock.

In the spring, the concert band gave three outdoor concerts and three formal concerts, and later toured north central Arkansas for two days.

Other major activities for the year included sponsorship of the Region III high school marching contest.

Additional groups within the band included a brass quintet, a woodwind quintet, a flute ensemble, and a percussion ensemble. The band was under the direction of Mr. Marvin Lawson.

Band officers were David Henderson, president; Doug West, vice president; and Frances Eason, secretary-treasurer.

Student Senate

Student senate is a vital campus force

The student senate, composed of elected representatives of the student body, planned student activities and sponsored service and social functions.

Senate-sponsored projects this year were freshman orientation, Homecoming, Tiger Day, Twirp Week, the Freshman Mixer, Religious Emphasis Week, S.E.L.F. concerts, the Academic Banquet, football programs, Dad's Day, basketball and football radio broadcasts, Choir Day, Environmental Day, "Fast Day to Save a People", Intramural "Play" Day, the Red Cross Blood Drive, the cheerleaders and the Cheerleading Clinic, the pool and recreation rooms in the sub, movies and films, "Humanity Week", and the new Teacher-Course evaluation.

Bass

Racial understanding goal of BASS group

Now in its fourth year, BASS was created as an organization for blacks to promote mutual respect between black and white students, acknowledge the rich heritage of the black men in America and, in so doing, instill pride and dignity in that heritage.

Club activities this year included Black Emphasis Week which featured Ben Lawson and Cato Brooks as speakers, plus car washes, a talent show, a "Battle of the Choirs", an end-of-school function and participation in intramural athletics.

Circle K Service emphasized by club membership

Circle K, collegiate branch of the national Kiwanis Club, sponsored the OUA-CHITONIAN Beauty Pageant to select four beauties to be featured in the 1972 OUA-CHITONIAN. Thirty-six contestants made this year's pageant the largest in its history.

Circle K aided in the Red Cross Blood Drive and the Arkadelphia Attention Home campaign. The members also worked at the Arkadelphia Children's Colony on a "big brother" basis. Other activities were the Mo-Ark District Convention in Jonesboro, several car washes, and the collection of clothing for the needy. Major Charles Watkins served as sponsor.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia and Sigma Alpha lota are national music frater nities, Sinfonia for men and SAI for women.

Sinfonia sponsored the Arkansas High School Invitational Choir Festiva at Ouachita this year, as well as the American Music Project. Sinfonia also attended the Province workshop.

Sinfonia's sister organization, Sigma Alpha Iota, was visited by the Mir Province president, and was represented at the SAI Convention in Atlanta Georgia. SAI also attended State Day at the University of Arkansas at Fayette ville. Other activities were the American Music Program, service as Community Concert ushers, SAI Repertoire Class, and the Christmas Candle light Service. Spring pledging and the David Scott Memorial Concert were other activities. The Memorial Concert provides a scholarship for a voice major.

Rho Sigma

Rho Sigma sponsors two beauties boosts spirit, runs book exchange

Rho Sigma social fraternity, better known as the Red Shirts, enjoyed another successful year. The fall semester found the Shirts sponsoring two Ouachitonian Beauties, Donna Jo Connelly and Kathy Vining. Kathy, Red Shirt Sweetheart, was also chosen second runnerup in the Homecoming royalty. The Red Shirts once again boosted Tiger spirit with a spirit truck, several pep railies, the usual cowbells, a torchlight parade and bonfire, the hoop, spirit signs, and two 48-hour bell rings.

The Tiger Spirit Jug went to the Shirts during both the Tech and HSC football games.

Other fall activities included the get-acquainted watermelon supper at the first of the year, the Womanless Wedding, the Ouachitonian Beauty Pageant reception, intramurals, the sale of Homecoming spirit ribbons, numerous bush parties, and the annual Christmas Party. Two schoolwide functions were also featured in the fall, one for Homecoming with the "Second Nature" providing the noise. Rho Sigma also placed first in social club competition in both the Arkadelphia Attention Home and Blood Donor drives.

The Red Shirts were busy during the spring semester with Rush Week, pledging, the Book Exchange, and the Annual Mr.-Miss O.B.U. Pageant. The Shirts were never too busy, however, for bush parties, Happy Hours, victory parties, or Tiger ballgames.

Rho Sigma presented its Rab Rogers Football Award to the Outstanding football player of the OBU-HSC game between halves at the home OBU-HSC basketball game. The Spring Outing rounded out the social year as Rho Sigma continued its high scholastic average. Last year the Red Shirts won the men's social club scholastic trophy for maintaining the highest scholastic average.

The Alpha Omega Eta social club started the year with a larger membership, kicking off their activities with the year's first pep rally before the Ouachita-Bishop College football game. The club also sponsored sweetheart Veda Smith in the Ouachitonian Beauty Pageant and in the Homecoming Queen competition. Other fall activities were a freshman orientation booth during registration, intramurals, spirit signs and the Christmas Banquet, held this year in Hot Springs.

During the spring semester, the AOE's were busier than ever. Car washes, rush parties, pledging, bush parties, intramurals, and the sale of protective yearbook covers kept them on the go. The Girls' Invitational Basketball and Volleyball Tournaments were also sponsored by the AOE's. A new project appeared during the spring, the campus-wide Talent Show. Members gathered for their Spring Outing to close the year's activities.

Sigma Alpha Sigma

EAE 'goes country,' wins intramurals titles

The Sigma Alpha Sigma, better known as the "S's", sponsored a wide range of activities during the 1971-72 semesters. The club held a take-off on the Grand Ole Opry, the Grand "S" Opry, during Twirp Week. Later, during the fall semester, the "S"'s promoted the Sigma Alpha Sigma Talent Show with a raffle for a stereo. Other fall activities included pep skits, bush parties, and for a service project, the Christmas party for needy boys. SAS also sponsored the pep cannon fired for touchdowns at all home games, and awarded the Jerry Forehand Memorial Basketball Award to the outstanding senior basketball player.

The year the S's captured the volleyball and football championships in intramural competition.

Beauty contest representatives for the Sigma Alpha Sigma were Anna Fay Waldrum in the homecoming parade, and Holly Hicks in the Quachitonian Beauty Pageant.

Chi Delta

Pep stunts enliven second year activity

Chi Delta Social Club was formed December 1, 1970 to fulfill the need for another girl's social club. Six Gamma Phis, six E.E.E.'s and six independents were the charter members. Cornflower blue and yellow are the club colors, and the club flower is the daisy. The owl is their special symbol.

Activities for Chi Delta during the fall semester included the "victory machine" pep rally, spirit signs and pep stunts such as "Jump on HSC" trampoline marathon, their second place homecoming float, the nostalgic "Golden Days of Radio", the sale of "Sweet Shot" breath freshener, and the Halloween party for needy kids in cooperation with the Gamma Phis and E. E. E.'s, the Christmas Banquet at the Olde West Dinner Theater in Little Rock finished the list of fall activities.

Chi Delta's new cornflower blue blazer suits appeared in the spring. Spring activities such as rush and pledging busied the Chi Delts in their second year. At the end of the semester the second annual Spring Outing closed out a successful year.

Gamma Phi sponsors annual Sadie Hawkins

Gamma Phi was founded March 2, 1944 on the Ouachita campus. Club colors are orchid and silver, and the Indian is the club's symbol.

"Purple Power!" reigned again this year as the Gammas won the Tiger Spirit Jug during the girls' social club competition. A pep rally and countless spirit signs rounded out the Gamma's contribution to Tiger Spirit.

First semester activities for the Gamma Phi's included the annual Sadie Hawkins Day during Twirp Week. Christmas cards and a huge Christmas tree for the campus helped promote the holiday season just before the semester break. A traditional Christmas Banquet also added sparkle to the season for Gammas and their dates. A "Thank You" wiener roast at the city park was held for those who assisted the Gammas during the semester.

Rush Week and pledging filled the second semester calendar. The annual Spring Outing closed the social year for Gamma Phi.

The EEE social club was organized in 1926 and is the oldest girl's club on campus. Club colors are red and white, the flower is red rose and their mascot is Mickey Mouse.

EEE started the year with a house party in Hot Springs followed by a school-wide "Mickey Mouse Birthday Party." As a service project, the E's, Gamma Phi's and Chi Delta's jointly gave a Halloween party for Arkadelphia children. Homecoming brought a first-place float with the theme "Those Magnificent Tigers and Their Victory Machine." In addition to their two annual projects, Coolside of Yuletide and the Fumes, the E's added a powder puff football game later in the semester as a new club activity. Rush, pledging, and the Spring Outing were included in spring activities.

OBU Cheerleaders enlarge squad size

With the addition of six male cheerleaders approved by the student body, Ouachita's cheerleading squad was expanded to 15 last year. To give a greater representation to the blacks on campus, two were added to the squad. Support for all University athletic activities was provided by the cheerleaders, and weekly pep rallies were held to build and maintain the vitally important Ouachita spirit.

OUACHITA vs. BISHOP COLLEGE — In the season opener, OBU made the trip to Dallas a worthwhile affair, as they won the "Battle of the Tigers" 21-6. Johnnie Baker, David Dumond, and Ray Estes each hit paydirt to pace the Tigers' win.

OUACHITA vs. SOUTHEAST OKLAHOMA— Charles Carozza caught a touchdown pass and returned a punt 61 yards for another score as the Tigers came from behind in their home opener to whip the Savages, 20-7.

OUACHITA vs. MISSISSIPPI COLLEGE —
The Tigers shook off their first-half doldrums as they erupted for four touchdowns in the second half. The OBU defense recorded their lone shutout of the season in the 28-0 triumph over the Choctaws.

OUACHITA vs. U. of ARKANSAS at MONTI-CELLO — Before the home crowd, the Tigers rallied from an early 7-0 deficit to down the Boll Weevils, 20-7, in the initial AIC game of the season. Charles Carozza hauled in a Barry Bennett pass for one touchdown and Johnnie Baker skirted 11 yards for the other while Bruce Efrid contributed two field goals for the Tiger cause.

Tigers finish third in AIC competition

OUACHITA vs. ARKANSAS TECH — The Tigers went to Russellville to take on the Tech Wonderboys, the NAIA's no. 1 ranked team. Ouachita played tough and trailed only 7-3 after one quarter on the strength of Bruce Efird's field goal backed by touchdowns by Phil Baker in the third quarter and David Crowley and David Dumond in the fourth quarter. But a series of long gainers by Tech finally killed the Tigers hopes, however, as the Wonderboys took it 42-26.

OUACHITA vs. SOUTHERN STATE — The Mulerider's league-leading defense stopped the Bengal's offensive from the start. The Tigers were held to 100 yards during the game and were unable to threaten the Mulerider goal until late in the fourth quarter. The drive, however, was short-lived as two penalties chilled the effort and the Muleriders rumbled on to a 21-0 defeet for Quachita.

OUACHITA vs. HENDERSON - In the first few minutes, Henderson jumped to a 7-0 lead on a one-yard sneak by quarterback Lewis Pryor. The Tigers then mounted a late firsthalf drive that knotted the score when Barry Bennett hit Charles Carozza on a 14-yard pass. Johnnie Baker then returned to action and headed the Tigers to a 14-point lead in the second half on two touchdown sprints. Pryor sneaked across for his second touchdown midway through the fourth quarter for the final score of the game. But the decisive play came when Leigh Hargis caused a Reddie fumble in the closing seconds of the battle of the ravine to preserve a 21-14 decision for Ouachita.

Basketball

Tigers stay on top in AIC Competition

Returning four starters from an AIC contender the year before, the Tigers streaked through the 1971-72 campaign to wind up near or on the top of the conference standings by season's end. A brilliant start and a continuation of strong play through the year assured OBU a spot in the NAIA District 17 Tournament and a shot at the National Championships in Kansas City.

The Tigers proved themselves early as a powerhouse by reeling off 10 straight victories to open the year, highlighted by two narrow triumphs over arch-rival Henderson State College. The Southern State Muleriders brought the streak to an end in the finals of the Kiwanis Tournament, 71-70.

The loss to SSC did not hurt the Tigers' conference mark and OBU launched a nine-game AIC winning streak including victories over SSC and Arkansas AM&N before an overtime loss to Arkansas Tech ruined the chances for a perfect mark.

OBU rebounded from the setback and reached as high as eighth in the NAIA poll before the season's closer with the Wonder Boys of Tech, with Kansas City in sight.

Tigerettes are third in national rankings

The Tigerettes, coached by Miss Carolyn Moffat, ranked third nationally, and posted a 17-6 regular season record.

After winning the season opener against Dallas Baptist College, the Tigerettes followed with a five-game win streak, defeating Murray State College and J.F.K. College to close out December's competition.

In January, the Tigerettes opened with victories over Seminole Junior College and Raytown College. Seminole again fell to the OBU girls in a two-game series later in the month, and the Tigerettes picked another victory against Southern State. To end Jenuary's competition and to highlight the year, the Tigerettes played host to the girl's basketball team of the Republic of China in a two-game set, winning the first but losing the second.

In their final month of play, the Tigerettes were beaten by Wayland Baptist College in a two-game match. They followed up with victories over Murray State College and Southern State, but failed to win over Raytown College in a two-game series which ended the regular season.

Sharks win second in AIC competition

Coached by Marv Stevens, the 1971-72 Tiger Sharks finished in second place in AIC regular season competition.

Freshman Ed Leugemors led the AIC in the 200-yard breest stroke and set a Ouachita record. Other Ouachita records were set by freshman Robbie Doye in the 500 and 1000-yard free style and by freshman Mark Hedden in 200-yard backstroke. The Sharks also set a new Ouachita mark in the 400-yard free-style relay.

Track

Track team takes second in AIC

The Tigers entered the 1971 track season with high hopes and expectations and these proved to be well-based as they placed second in the AIC meet in Little Rock by edging out Southern State College by one slim point, 48-47.

Leading the competition was AM&N with 84 points. Ouachita took four first places with Steve McMichael in the pole vault, Buzz Andrews in the 440-intermediate hurdles, and Tom Jones sweeping the shot put and discus events.
